MRS. MATTERS NOT GUILTY

PEACE FEVER GRIPS CAPITAL; WILSON TO ACT?

Indicates He Is Interested in Promoting Plan to Avoid Future Wars.

LEWIS A NEW FACTOR.

EUROPEAN WAR SUMMARY

Germans gain ground about Verdun in bloodiest battle of the war. French valiantly dispute every foot of ground.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Will the United States participate in the ultimate peace congress of the European belligerents for the purpose of aiding the movement to banish war from the world?

This question was brought to the fore today by remarks made by President Wilson to several callers and by the disclosure that the question will be considered by the delegates to the convention of the League to Enforce Peace, which will meet here tomorrow.

Although disclaiming any immediate intention of offering mediation to the warring nations of Europe on his own responsibility, the president indicated that he is deeply interested in promoting the consideration by the peace congress of any feasible plan for preventing wars in the future.

WILSON PEACE PROPOSAL.

The president has been giving serious thought to the proposal to commit the peace of the world to the keeping of a league of powers, whose military strength would be exerted to enforce compliance by all nations with international law and rules for the pacific settlement of all disputes between sovereign states.

Mr. Wilson did not disclose whether he had reached any conclusion as to the feasibility of such a plan, but it is expected that he will discuss the matter when he addresses the league Saturday night.

In discussing the subject with his advisers the president has seemed deeply impressed with the argument that the participation of the United States with European powers in a peace league would not be an "entangling alliance."

In any event there is no reason, in the opinion of the president, that the United States should not participate in the discussion of a universal peace plan by either the peace congress which will settle the European war or any other council of the great powers.

SEA FREEDOM AT STAKE.

Mr. Wilson recognizes that the United States will not participate in the peace congress of the belligerents unless it should be drawn into the war or invited to take part because of the intention to discuss a plan to prevent future wars. It has been suggested, however, that the United States would be entitled to representation in the peace negotiations because they are certain to involve the question of the freedom of the seas.

The United States has advocated a theory of the freedom of the seas substantially in accord with that for which Germany is contending and opposed to the stand of Great Britain. As a result of a resolution adopted by congress the American delegates to the second Hague conference proposed an agreement exempting private property on the high seas from capture by the naval forces of belligerents. The proposal, however, failed of adoption.

LIKES BRITISH PLANS.

The president has been favorably impressed by the professions of Great Britain that it is fighting to make future wars impossible. His policies on the Polly to Shout Votes! Votes! Votes! Votes!

BRIGHT SAYINGS DUE

It is going to be one of the fascinating features of being a suffragist—this teaching Polly to say new things. Polly has worried along with her proverbial name for some time until yesterday, when she was rechristened. Her name henceforth is "Votes."

VOTES FOR WOMEN!

"Votes" will make her official debut this afternoon at the opening of the new recruiting headquarters for the national suffrage parade on the ground floor of the Tower building. She is going to sit on a decorated perch near the door leading to Michigan avenue and, if the suffragists can make her, shriek enticing things to women who have not made up their minds about marching on June 7.

Bright Sayings of Polly.

Here are some of the things that "Votes" in her new capacity will be urged to repeat:

Votes for women.
Polly's going to march.
Polly wants a vote. Polly wants a vote.

It is said Polly, although for years a real family bird, does not swear. She is heralded as "the only bird ballyhoo for suffrage in the business."

A Lot of Sweet Things.

There will be other attractions at the opening exercises, among which are May Irwin, Grace George, marmalade, and other sweet things. In addition to the talks by the two actresses, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank and Capt. Charles W. Kayser will speak on the parade.

It was announced the slogan contest will close tomorrow night, instead of May 31. The change was necessary in order to give the banner painters time to put on the best prize winning slogans.

Among the slogans received yesterday were these:

Pure souls make strong hearts.
You are free, so are we.
Lower the woman and wreck the home.
Give us the vote or we'll get your goat.
Wouldn't you trust your mother!
Molly Pitcher was no molly-coddle.

Holding Up Lake Shore Drive.

Lake Shore drive is an unsafe place for women who do not want to march in the suffrage parade. A campaign of buttonholing all comers to get them to sign up for the grand march is being conducted by Mrs. Robert Herrick and Mrs. Tiffany Blake. Every woman from maid to millionaire is approached, and few have turned down the request to march.

NOYES GOING TO FRONT.

Poet Says That He Will Drive Ambulance if Rejected in the British Army.

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—Alfred Noyes, who is visiting in this country, has announced his intention to return to Britain and attempt to join the army. If rejected, he says he will enter the ambulance service as a driver.

WAITE BARES MURDER LUST; ADMITS CRIMES

Gave Victims Disease Bacilli—Never a Quiver as He Tells Story.

TO PROVE HIM INSANE?

New York, May 25—[Special.]—Arthur Warren Waite, as coolly as if he were discussing the weather, told the jury in the criminal branch of the Supreme court tonight how he had caused the death of Mrs. John E. Peck by bacteria, how he had poisoned and then smothered John E. Peck, and then how he had tried to kill Miss Catharine Peck, maiden sister of his father-in-law.

As he spoke hardly above a conversational tone, perfectly at his ease, the courtroom, from which women had been excluded, was still as death. Jurors, wearied by the long session, sat bolt upright or leaned forward to catch every word.

CONFESSES TO MURDERS.

The supreme moment of the man's stay on the witness stand had come a half hour after the evening session had convened. Then, in reply to the questions of Walter R. Deuel, his counsel, following his confession of attempts to destroy Miss Peck, he said in a surprised tone:

"Why, I wanted those bacteria to kill those three persons—Mr. Peck, Mrs. Peck, and Miss Peck, the maiden aunt."

Then after telling how he had tried to kill Miss Peck, who had befriended him with lavish presents, Mr. Deuel came to a question which had held every one.

"Do you remember when Mrs. Peck came to visit you?"

"Yes, yes, let me see. Really I can't remember exactly—she (Mrs. Peck) and Mrs. Waite came some time in January. I can't remember exactly when."

"Did you give her (Mrs. Peck) bacteria?"

GAVE DEATHLY BACILLI.

"Why, certainly. I got the contents of about six test tubes of the bacilli of diphtheria, pneumonia, influenza, and reduced them to one tube and gave them to her."

"How did you administer this?"

"You see I often brought the food from the kitchen to the dining room and I would slip the germs into the food or into something else."

"How often?"

"O, I only had to administer them to her once. You see, she became ill immediately. They affected her at once. She remained ill for several days, got worse, and then got better, and finally one night, Saturday if I remember right, although I won't be sure, I said that I would sit up with her. The nurse went home at 7 o'clock and Mrs. Waite retired. I was to watch and give her medicine about every fifteen minutes."

GIVES VICTIM VERONAL.

"What did you do?"

"Well, I had procured during the day some veronal tablets—about a dozen five-grain tablets—and these I powdered up. When I gave her her medicine I slipped this powder in and she took it."

"What did you do then?"

There was almost a gasp in the room as the man, shaking his head as if the questions were trivial, replied:

"Why, of course, then I went to sleep."

When he awakened early in the morning and looked his mother-in-law was dead. After that he waited until the daughter, his wife, made the discovery.

TRIES TO SHOW HIM INSANE.

Even the jurors, who had been looking wonderingly at Mr. Deuel apparently sending his client straight to the death house, suddenly realized what the object was.

Back of the state's alienists sat the alienists of the defense, Dr. Diefendorf and Dr. Karpas, industriously taking notes or making suggestions about questions. It was to afford a basis for a hypothetical question, the answer to which would be that no man who had committed such a series of crimes could be sane.

There were some further questions in which the witness said that he had not given the aged woman any poison or anything else except the bacilli and the veronal.

Admits Killing Father-in-Law.

Then came the confession about John E. Peck, and when the man told of the dozen or more ways he had attempted

STRUCK OVER HEART

Death met Billy Rossman at the plate yesterday and tagged him out as he came in with the winning tally.

Billy was only 6, but he had romped his way into the hearts of every resident within a range of several blocks of his parents' home at 3538 South Oakley avenue. His laughing, freckled face gained him a welcome everywhere. Amateur photographers sought him out for studies of the typical American boy. Among the boys he was the pride of the "Oakley Avenues," the nine on which he and his 11 year old brother, Diedrich, played.

"Oakley Avenues" at Bat.

The "Thirty-fifth Streeters" were in the field and the "Oakley Avenues" were at bat in the last inning at about dusk last evening. The game was being played in the street in front of Billy's home.

Billy was on third base and Ed Krause, aged 9, was on first. Diedrich was at bat and the score was tied.

"Now for a double steal!" cried Charlie Murphy.

Ed dug out for the brick which marked second base. Billy got his little legs into motion and hustled for the plate as the pitcher drew back his arm to throw the ball. Diedrich didn't see him coming. His eye was riveted to the ball and he was occupied with an unbounded desire to "smash her for a homer."

Swings with All His Might.

He swung the bat with all his might. The heavy piece of wood described a full circle and struck Billy full in the chest as he came on as fast as he could come. He sank to the ground without a sound and lay still. The game was over.

Dr. Ralph Brouillet of 2456 West Thirty-eighth street said the blow had been struck just above the heart.

Truck Plunges from Banked Road in California and Pins Passengers Down—Woman May Die.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 25.—[Special.]—One women is near death and twenty-two other persons were seriously injured today when an automobile truck loaded with motion picture players crashed over an embankment at Chatsworth, near this city.

Mrs. Irmagard Schoonmaker is reported to be in a critical condition at the Good Samaritan hospital. She has a fractured skull and other injuries.

Thirty-five young girls and men were aboard the truck when it plunged from the banked road into the ravine twenty-five feet below. The injured were crushed and pinned beneath the wreckage. The car turned completely over.

Lucretia Del Valle, leading woman in the Mission play, and Lianne Carrera, Anna Held's daughter, were riding in an automobile behind the truck. Both gave valuable first aid treatment to the injured.

FRANCE AND ITALY RECALL ENVOYS TO GREECE, REPORT

Action Result of Ministers' Failure to Persuade Athens to Permit Passage of Serb Troops.

BERLIN, May 25.—[By Wireless.]—It is reported from Athens, the Overseas News Agency says, that Count A. de Bosdari, the Italian minister to Greece, and J. Guillemin, the French minister, have been recalled by their governments because of the failure of their efforts to obtain permission for the transportation of Serbian troops through Greece.

ARREST FOE OF GERMANY.

Native Hollander Charged with Trying to Sell Teuton Correspondence to British.

New York, May 25.—A man giving the name of Adolph de Leeuw, 34 years old, a native of Holland, was arrested tonight. He is accused of offering to reveal to Capt. Guy Gaunt, naval attaché of the British embassy, the contents of seven letters, four of which bore the seal of the imperial German embassy at Washington.

WATCHFUL WAITING.

Steal Handcar; Pump Down Town to Tour the Loop

Policemen Jones and Connors of the Hinman street station thought they had seen all possible stunts that a pair of men out for a large evening could invent, but Anton Ketske, 2320 Kroll street, and an unknown friend showed them a new one last night.

There She Blows!

The policemen were at Robey and West Twenty-first street when a low craft bore down in the offing. It was without lights fore or aft, but the two officers could see aboard it two men alternately bobbing up and down as they tore along the Robey street car tracks.

The vehicle was a self-starting, man-propelled railroad handcar of the model of 1900. The police hailed the craft, but it sped by like a neutral merchantman ducking a German U boat.

One Mexican Escapes.

Jones fired two shots across her bow and the handcar hove to. One passenger escaped. Ketske, a Mexican, surrendered.

"We was out for a tour of the loop," he said.

Ketske was taken to the Hinman street station in the patrol wagon, with the handcar trailing as evidence.

The car had been stolen from the yards of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad.

When Ketske was asked why he wanted to tour the loop in a handcar, he said "because it was so unusual."

BABY COOES WHEN RESCUED AFTER GRANDSTAND CRASH.

Miss Alice Winship, being 1 year old, was not supposed to be interested in art, so her cab was shoved under one of the portable grandstands erected on the Winnetka commons for the Shakespearean pageant. The grandstand, on which more than 100 persons were seated, collapsed when several of the uprights sank in the soft earth. Several persons were slightly injured and Miss Alice was buried under a ton of lumber.

Spectators, informed by Mrs. David A. Winship that her baby was buried, threw off their coats and began to dig through the wooden wreckage. The carriage was found, the top crushed level with the rim of the basket body and the wheels flattened to earth.

Mrs. Winship frantically lifted the top, and little Alice laughed and held up her arms to be taken. There was not a scratch on the child. Mrs. Winship is the wife of David A. Winship, secretary of the Winship Printing company of Winnetka.

ARMOUR GIVES 'TECH' $500,000

Packer's Gift Allows School to Expand to New Needs After War.

Announcement of an addition of $500,000 to the endowment fund of the Armour Institute of Technology, a gift by J. Ogden Armour, whose father, Philip D. Armour, founded the school in 1892, was made at the commencement exercises last evening in the chapel of the institution by President Frank W. Gunsaulus.

This brings the endowment fund up to $2,000,000. The original gift of $1,500,000 represented in the buildings and equipment, was duplicated in another gift by Mr. Armour and his mother in 1908. The latest gift makes the school a $3,500,000 institution.

Permits Larger Attendance.

The gift will make possible a larger enrollment of students and will supply new equipment to meet the needs of advanced training in engineering after the war.

"The $500,000 comes at a time when we are keenly awake to what is to come in technical education as a result of the war," said Dr. Gunsaulus. "It enables us to get ourselves ready for the larger work in engineering which must come for purposes of peace and progress. Already foreign representatives have asked us to send over engineers.

Get Special Apparatus.

"The gift is for endowment and is to cover the cost of special apparatus for laboratories of chemistry, hydraulic engineering, and gas engineering. Work in all of these lines is now offered at the institute, but much more advanced work will be possible with the equipment which will be purchased."

Ninety-two men graduated with the degree of bachelor of science and a degree of doctor of science was conferred upon Prof. W. H. Shattuck, a member of the faculty.

BABY CURIOUS; LOSES LIFE.

Child Investigates Motorcycle, Pulls It Over, and Is Crushed to Death.

Baby Edith Heppney, aged 3, often wondered what made the "putter-putter" go. Yesterday when the owner of the motorcycle left it standing in the rear of her home at 6208 Langley avenue she slipped quietly out and began an inspection. In trying to climb up and grasp the horn, which evidently was the secret of the "putter-putter's" speed, she pulled the machine over. Mrs. Heppney ran out and lifted the motorcycle from the little girl's crushed body. She died while being taken to the hospital.

WHO IS CHICAGO WOMAN BUYING FAMOUS DIAMOND?

Star of Kimberly Gem Purchased by Local Unknown for $50,000, Washington Hears.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—The Star of Kimberly diamond is the center of a mystery which has been agitating Washington society all day. There is no mystery about the diamond, which is one of the largest and most beautiful "canary" diamonds in the world. The mystery centers in the purchaser, who is, according to the Washington jeweler who made the sale, "a woman prominent in society and political circles in Washington and Chicago." The price was in the neighborhood of $50,000.

WIDOW JOYOUS WHEN FREED OF BABY INTRIGUE

Two Detectives Also Acquitted—State to Press Other Charges.

LANDIS TRIAL TODAY.

Mrs. Anna Dollie Ledgerwood Matters last evening was acquitted of the charge of conspiring to defraud the relatives of her late husband, Fred Matters, by seeking to palm off a counterfeit heir on the Probate court.

The jury in Judge Thomson's court not only found Mrs. Matters innocent but also freed the two other defendants, Harry Edward and Charles T. Mellon, whose confession as read to the court was regarded as a virtual admission of guilt.

HER FIRST "HAPPY ENDING."

The verdict of the jury rung down the curtain of the second act of the court proceedings in the sensational drama of intrigue that began after Matters' death. It was the first "happy ending" that Mrs. Matters has experienced since she brought to Chicago the baby girl she contends was born to her in the Misericordia hospital in Ottawa, Canada.

The finale of the first act was a decision by Judge Horner in the Probate court that the baby was in reality the daughter of Margaret Ryan, the other "mother" who is now seeking its return in the federal courts. Mrs. Matters, accordingly, was awarded only one-third of her husband's $200,000 estate, whereas she expected to obtain control of a majority of the property.

WIDOW NEARLY HYSTERICAL.

When the verdict in Judge Thomson's court was read Mrs. Matters became almost hysterical with joy. Friends crowded around to shake the hand of the young widow who had escaped a possible $2,000 fine and five years' sentence to the penitentiary.

Her feeling became so uncontrollable that she impulsively held her hand out to Assistant State's Attorney Daniel Ramsay, who had prosecuted the case.

Ramsay, whose keen disappointment at the outcome was evident, thrust both hands in his pockets, and said:

"I don't care to shake hands with you; I didn't defend you; congratulate your own lawyer."

WILL PRESS OTHER CHARGES.

Immediately afterward Mr. Ramsay informed Judge Thomson the state's attorney's office will press against Mrs. Matters the other cases of perjury and attempting to foist a spurious heir on the Probate court. They were set for Monday.

"I am very, very grateful," exclaimed Mrs. Matters, almost on the verge of tears, as she discussed the verdict. "It was fortunate that it was I rather than a weaker woman who had to go through that experience, but the experience can only make me a bigger and better woman. I don't have any hard feelings against any one.

"All I want is my baby and my home. I understand the state is not satisfied with my vindication and wants to try me on other charges. I am not worrying—let them go ahead."

HER JEWELRY PAWNED.

Mrs. Matters said last night she has pawned her jewels and sold the tickets to pay for the litigation in which she has become involved. Since Matters died, she continued, she has lived chiefly on credit, as she has not yet received her share of the estate.

"I don't expect to have more than $5,000 of it left, anyway," she said. "My expenses in this trial alone will be about $15,000. I am going to put away enough to educate my daughter, no matter what happens."

Since the trial has been going on Mrs. Matters has received a dozen letters proposing marriage. One man, 40 years old, wrote from Minneapolis asking her to "adopt" him in case the courts awarded Irene to Margaret Ryan.

During the evening one of the jurors in the case called her on the telephone.

"As soon as I told my wife the verdict," the juror said, "she kissed me and said it was the only thing for us to do."

The jury brought in its verdict shortly before 7 o'clock, after deliberating for less than three hours. That a verdict of acquittal should be returned after the testimony that Mrs. Matters had obtained Margaret Ryan's illegitimate child through the connivance of the hospital staff came as a big surprise to many.

Foreman Utley announced it was agreed to give out no information as to what happened behind the doors of the jury room.

"We decided to let the verdict speak for itself," he said.

TELLS STORY OF BALLOTING.

From one of the jurors, who refused to allow the use of his name, the following story of the deliberations was learned:

"Naturally we took up the indictment against Mrs. Matters first. There were four ballots—the first stood nine to three for acquittal, the second ten to two, the third the same, and the fourth was unanimous.

"In the discussion we kept in mind the judge's emphasis on the fact that the indictment charged conspiracy. For that reason we did not go into the question of whether Mrs. Matters was the mother of the child.

"It was the general feeling, anyway, that Mrs. Matters had suffered enough. When we came to Edwards there was no question abuot finding him not guilty. There was considerable more discussion about Mellon because of his confession, but we interpreted the instructions of the judge to mean that we could not find one of the defendants guilty of conspiracy without including the others. For that reason he was acquitted."

Hear Jurors Applaud.

When the ballot finding Mellon not guilty had been disposed of, it was rumored there was a wait of twenty minutes before the jurors announced they had reached a verdict. Those near the jury room are said to have heard the jurors applauding when the decision was reached.

After the clerk announced the finding women, and, in some instances, men cried out approval, others looked astonished, and a few seemingly thought they had not heard correctly. Announcement of the first verdict—that in Mrs. Matters' case—created so great a clamor that the deputy sheriffs had to restore order before the clerk could proceed.

Judge Thompson's instructions to the jury were termed by Joseph R. Burres, Mrs. Matters' attorney, as "very fair." The judge on several occasions told the jury they were to free the defendants if they could "reconcile the evidence with any reasonable theory of innocence."

Anxiously Watches Jurors.

Mrs. Matters, dressed entirely in black, her hands clasped to her breast, anxiously watched the jury. Edwards sat a few feet from her, evidently the least concerned of the defendants. Mellon betrayed an expression of hopelessness. No argument had been made to the jury in his behalf, and no effort had been made to offset his confession that he knew Mrs. Matters intended to produce a spurious child in the Probate court.

While the jury was deliberating, Mrs. Matters regained much of her composure. She chatted freely with her friends and her pale features frequently relaxed into a smile.

Faces Judge Landis Today.

The third act in the Matters embroglio will occur before Judge Landis this morning, when attorneys for Margaret Ryan will seek to recover by habeas corpus proceedings the 10 months old baby whom Mrs. Matters has christened Ireane Ledgerwood Matters.

"After I get through with the court proceedings I will have practically nothing," Mrs. Matters said last night. "But even if I am reduced to my last nickel I can do infinitely more for Eleane than Margaret Ryan can, because I am its own mother."

Although Mrs. Matters said she had no ill feeling against any one, she later blamed Attorneys Burkhalter and Newfield for her troubles. These lawyers represent James Matters, brother of her late husband, who started the fight against Mrs. Matters' claim to a majority of the estate.

Many Thrills in Trial.

The present trial, which began May 1, has revealed a series of incidents centering about the life of Mrs. Matters that by turns amused, shocked, and startled those in the courtroom. Mrs. Matters did not take the stand in her own defense, and Attorney Burres offered the explanation that both his client and the baby were so ill as to make it impossible. Very few witnesses were produced by the defense, and Burres placed greatest reliance on sympathetically picturing Mrs. Matters as an inoncent woman pursued by selfish and intriguing relatives.

Fred Matters, wealthy merchant of Arcola and later a moving picture magnate in Chicago, married Mrs. Matters in the latter part of 1914, when he was about 70 years old. She was 30, and, according to Assistant State's Attorney Ramsay, "for several years before their relations had been friendly."

Matters' Death Sudden.

Matters died suddenly on the night of Jan. 3, 1915. Two wills were found leaving most of the estate to Mrs. Matters, but they were ruled out by the court on the ground that they were antenuptial agreements.

There followed two hearings in the Probate court. On the first occasion Dr. L. C. Emile Beroard, chief obstetrician at the Misericordia hospital in Ottawa, and Miss Marie des Rosiers, head nurse, testified Mrs. Matters gave birth to "Ireane" in July.

Later, at the hearing in December, these two witnesses confessed to Judge Horner they had prejured themselves. They said the child was really born to "Jessie Bryan," whose real name is Margaret Ryan. Margaret was told that her child died at birth.

Corroborated by Sisters.

This story was corroborated before Judge Thompson by Sister St. Celestine and others from the hospital. The testimony was that Mrs. Matters represented herself as broken hearted over the death of her husband, explaining that she wanted to adopt a baby boy that she might raise him to manage his father's estate and be a comfort to her in her loneliness. The mother superior, it was testified, took compassion on her and consented.

An operation was performed on Mrs. Matters, the witnesses said, at the same time that Margaret Ryan, who was 16 and unmarried, gave birth to her baby. But Mrs. Matters insists it was her own baby that she brought away from the Misericordia hospital.

KING GEORGE SIGNS CONSCRIPTION BILL; LAUDS VOLUNTEERS

LONDON, May 25.—In giving royal sanction to the military bill recently passed by parliament, King George issued the following message to the nation:

"To enable our country to organize more effectively its military resources in the present great struggle for the cause of civilization, I, having acted on the advice of my ministers, deemed it necessary to enroll every able bodied man between the ages of 18 anl 41.

"I desire to take this opportunity of expressing to my people my recognition and appreciation of the splendid patriotism and self-sacrifice they displayed in raising by voluntary enlistment since the commencement of the war no less than 5,041,000 men—an effort far surpassing that of any other nation in similar circumstances recorded in history, and one which will be a lasting source of pride to future generations.

"I am confident the magnificent spirit which has hitherto sustained my people through the trials of this terrible war will inspire them and that it will, with God's help, lead us and our allies to a victory which shall achieve the liberation of Europe."

The bill provides for general and immediate compulsion and calls to the colors all males, married or single, between the ages of 18 and 41. An army reserve for industrial work also is provided for in the bill, and the government may use as many of the conscripts as it requires to maintain industrial conditions intact. Ireland is excluded from the operation of the law.

ASQUITH URGES IRISH TO UNITE ON PEACE PROGRAM

Lloyd-George Named as Mediator to Patch Up Difficulties.

LONDON, May 25.—Premier Asquith, in his speech in the House of Commons today, on Irish affairs, devoted himself not so much to the rebellion and the manner in which the government dealt with it, as it was thought he would do, as to making an appeal for settlement of the Irish problem by agreement among the Irish leaders.

In this connection the premier announced that David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, had undertaken at the request of the cabinet to negotiate between the contending Irish parties. He asked that in the meantime the matter should not be debated in the house.

John Redmond, Sir Edward Carson and William O'Brien, the Irish leaders, agreed to this, and notwithstanding an attempt by Laurence Ginnell, Nationalist, to make a speech, the subject was dropped for the day at least.

Baron Stamfordham, private secretary to King George, was present and listened closely to Premier Asquith's speech. He departed immediately afterward and returned to the palace to report to the king. Baron Wimborne, lord lieutenant of Ireland, also was present.

Redmond for Silence.

When Premier Asquith concluded his speech Mr. Redmond said his solemn appeal for silence even on military affairs in Ireland was a severe test for him and his colleagues. He asserted things were going on in Ireland which in ordinary circumstances ought to be discussed. Nevertheless he regarded the premier's appeal as a test of the genuineness of their desire for a settlement and he could not take the responsibility of not responding to it.

Speaking for the independent Nationalists, Mr. O'Brien said he also felt he must bow to the appeal for silence, although he believed there would be profound disappointment in Ireland at the day's proceedings as a proof of the continuance of the policy of organized suppression of free speech, which was responsible for three-quarters of the struggle.

Hopes for Agreement.

Referring to the home rule bill, Mr. Asquith said: "No one, so far as I know, has ever desired or contemplated its coercive application by one set of Irishmen against another. What is now in this great and domestic emergency of paramount importance is that if it be possible—and I hope it is possible—an agreement such as we thought in vain before the war should be arrived at between those representing different interests and parties in Ireland.

"I believe, as I already said, that in Ireland itself there is a deep and genuine desire to obtain such an agreement. At the unanimous request of his colleagues, Mr. Lloyd-George has undertaken to give his time, his energy, and his power to the promotion of that result. We cannot but hope Mr. Lloyd-George's mission of peace, reconciliation, and, if possible, unity, will not only carry with it the good wishes and ardent hopes of all members in every quarter of the house but something more—the belief that such a result can and ought to be attained."

The grand jury today returned true bills against Sir Roger Casement, leader of the Sinn Fein revolt, and Daniel J. Bailey, the former British soldier who is held as his accomplice.

The action of the grand jury follows the preliminary hearing before a police magistrate at which Casement and Bailey withheld their defense and were held without bail pending the grand jury deliberations.

The judge fixed the trial of Sir Roger for June 26.

GERMANY BALKS PLANS TO FEED POLAND, REPORT.

Holland Hears Berlin Spurns British Stipulations as to Distributing Relief.

THE HAGUE, May 25, via London.—It is declared here on information from authoritative German sources that there is not the slightest chance that Germany will accept the British stipulations regarding the plan to feed the civilian population of Poland through an American commission.

It is therefore not considered likely that any relief for the Polish people will be accomplished this year, as further negotiations would result in the loss of so much time that no food could reach the country before October, when the harvests will become available.

This information is unofficial, as the German cabinet has not passed on the British proposals submitted by James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, but high German officials consider a refusal a foregone conclusion because of the unacceptable nature of the amendments suggested by the British authorities to the guarantees given by Germany under which the American relief commission expected to take over the work.

DANIELS IN ON DEAL CURBING NAVY PROGRAM

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Navy Daniels was in on the deal whereby the Democrats of the house naval affairs committee abandoned his five year building program, abandoned the construction of dreadnaughts, and reported out a measure which, if enacted into law, will make it impossible for the American navy to regain second place in ten years.

Mr. Daniels tonight came out openly in favor of the house naval program, which does not provide for the construction of any dreadnaughts. His announcement that he thought it would be wise to "wait and see" what the European war teaches was followed by a statement from a high official that Mr. Daniels knew before the naval bill was reported that his five year program could be adopted only through a coalition of the big navy Democrats and the Republicans, and that in preference to joining with the Republicans he agreed to a program of four battle cruisers and no dreadnaughts. Representative Talbott of Maryland insisted on five and got them.

Plan to Curb Debate.

Democratic house leaders prepared today a rule to close all debate on the naval appropriation bill on Friday, June 2, at 4 p. m. The bill probably will be called up next Saturday.

Republican members of the committee in a minority report today denounce the $241,000,000 naval appropriation bill reported by the majority as wholly inadequate, and urge more liberal allowances to make the United States navy second greatest in the world.

Army Bill Agreed To.

The army appropriation bill, carrying $145,000,000 and including provision for carrying out the Hay-Chamberlain reorganization bill, was agreed to today by the house military committee. The bill includes provision for a council of executive information for coördination of industries and resources in war time.

CHICAGO STORES CLOSE UP SHOP FOR BIG PARADE

Large Retail and Wholesale Concerns to Devote Day to Defense Program.

All Chicago will shut up shop on Saturday, June 3, put on a clean collar, and devote itself to the business of speaking its mind on the subject of preparedness. This became certain yesterday when it was announced that all the large department stores and wholesale dry goods establishments have decided to close during the day of the big preparedness parade.

Their action means more, possibly, than any other indication of enthusiasm the parade committee has received. It means that the entire downtown district of the second city in the United States will be abandoned by trade for twenty-four hours in favor of a demonstration of show public sentiment. It means that 20,000 more men and women have been released from work to join the ranks of the marchers. It means a direct sacrifice of thousands of dollars through the suspension of business on the most important day of the week.

Enroll All Employes.

General enrollment of all employés of the wholesale and retail dry goods interests began as soon as the merchants' decision was announced, following a meeting of representatives of many of the large concerns. All will march as one huge division, with no distinction as to the different stores. In each case the executive officers of the various establishments will march by the side of their employés.

The division will form in Franklin street north of Van Buren, march east on Van Buren street, and enter the parade at Michigan boulevard. D. F. Kelly of Mandel Brothers has been appointed chairman of a committee on arrangements which includes John H. Wood of Carson, Pirie Scott & Co., J. L. Mann of Marshall Field & Co., and E. Rosenthal of Rothschild & Co.

Women's Board Chosen.

The executive board of the newly formed "patriotic women's division" was chosen in the afternoon and will hold its first meeting at 10 o'clock this morning at the women's headquarters in the Monadnock building.

The board is composed of:

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, chairman.
Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor.
Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman.
Mrs. Philip Doane.
Mrs. Howard Elting.
Miss C. Morse Ely.
Mrs. James Keeley.
Mrs. Roy McWilliams.
Miss Helvetia Orr.
Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson.
Mrs. Charles B. Pike.
Mrs. A. A. Sprague II.
Mrs. Fred W. Upham.
Mrs. M. E. Reber, Secretary.

Arrangements also are to be perfected today for an elaborate Red Cross contingent, which will supervise first aid and medical service along the line of march.

Red Cross Division.

Five hundred women, directed by Mrs. Philip Schuyler Doane as committee chairman, will form a Red Cross division. All are enrolled as war nurses in the Red Cross reserve. Mrs. Doane will act as marshal and will have the services of a staff of captains including Miss Edith Blair, Miss Clara Cudahy, Mrs. William Hubbard, Mrs. Rensselaer Cox, Mrs. Arthur A. Small, Miss Jane Cox, and Miss Helvetia Orr.

A meeting will be held next Mnoday, May 29, at 11 a. m., in room 732 Monadnock block, to form an organization of all American Red Cross first aid classes in Chicago, its suburbs, and nearby cities, and to perfect plans for activities and participation in the preparedness parade. An officer or other representative of each class is requested to attend this meeting.

An ambulance corps, in charge of Red Cross officials and nurses, will be stationed at approximately each 1,000 feet along the line of march. Health Commissioner Robertson, Chief Healey, Dr. Hunt of the ambulance corps and the ambulance staffs of many hospitals are coöperating in the arrangements. A messenger force of about 3,000 boy scouts has volunteered for service in conjunction with the police and Red Cross units.

Mayor Goes on Foot.

Mayor Thompson will be in the parade, on foot. This was announced at a meeting of the mayor's preparedness day committee at the city hall in the afternoon. Col. August W. Miller, superintendent of streets, was appointed marshal of the city hall contingent which, headed by the aldermen, is expected to form the first division of the marchers.

Fire Marshal Thomas O'Connor said there will be at least 700 firemen in line. The first parade drill in the city hall was held at closing time in the fifth floor corridor, where seventy-five employés of the city controller's office turned out under the command of Samuel R. Wharton, a teller in the paymaster's office.

Join Judges' Division.

The judges of the Municipal court met in the afternoon and voted to march in a body. They will join the Circuit and Superior court judges, and probably those of the state Supreme court, at the head of a huge lawyers' division, the organization of which was perfected at noon at the Mid-Day club. Redmond D. Stephens is chairman of the lawyers' organization committee, and the executive committee in charge of the division includes Edgar B. Tolman, chairman; Charles S. Cutting, John S. Miller, Charles K. Offield, and Edward Maher.

Ministers of every denomination in Chicago probably will organize a marching division at a meeting to be held on Monday. Bishop Samuel Fallows said last night he would confer with the parade committee and issue a call for the conference today.

Theater Men Form.

A theatrical unit is to be organized under the direction of Harry J. Powers. Arrangements are under way for abandoning the regular matinées at many of the theaters on preparedness day. May Irwin of "33 Washington square," Rosie Quinn of "A World of Pleasure," and Charlotte Greenwood of "So Long Letty" already have signified their intention of leading delegations of marchers.

At least 500 physicians probably will form a division under the leadership of Dr. P. J. H. Farrell as marshal. A call for this organization has been issued by the Chicago Medical society.

And the prize fighters and "ex-champs" are forming a contingent. As exponents of preparedness, "Kid" Howard, himself a former champion, believes they should have a prominent position, so he peeled off his coat and tackled the job of getting the fighters in line.

Drug Clerks Will March.

Drug clerks from every part of the United States will be in the parade as the result of a decision to adjourn the National Association of Drug Clerks' convention in time to permit the members and delegates to march. The executive committee of the association has urged drug clerks throughout Chicago to enroll, and expects a delegation of several thousand.

The Chicago butter and egg board perfected its marching arrangements in the morning, as did the Illinois Life Insurance company, which promises a contingent of 1,165 officials and employés, headed by President James W. Stevens.

BIG BEND RANCH RAIDED ANEW BY MEXICAN FORCE

BULLETIN.

El Paso, Tex., May 25.—The Poole ranch, in the Big Bend country, has again been raided by Mexicans from over the border, according to advices here today. Stock was driven over the border. A raid on this ranch occurred two weeks ago.

El Paso, Tex., May 25.—Gen. Gabriel Gavira, newly constituted commander of the Mexican military zone of the border, announced today in Juarez he intended to ask Gen. J. J. Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary force, for a conference, at which would be settled details of coöperation for chasing down the bandits of Chihuahua.

Such a conference, Gen. Gavira intimated, would be necessary because of the new Carranza troop dispositions along the Mexico Northwestern railroad.

Will Be in Close Contact.

Gen. Trevino has dispatched a cavalry brigade of 1,000 men to reinforce Gen. Gavira, and these will be distributed along the railroad as far south as Temosachic. At Casas Grandes and other points the Mexicans will be in close contact with the Americans, and, Gen. Gavira said, it would obviate complications and promote a more efficient campaign against the bandits if he and Gen. Pershing possessed complete understanding as to the tactics to be pursued.

Gen. Gavira announced the surrender today of Gen. Ynez Salazar, whose attempt to start a fresh revolution in Mexico met with failure. Salazar, now at Guzman, is awaiting the arrival of Col. Samuel Gonzales, Carranza commander at Casas Grandes, with a written promise of amnesty.

COURT MARTIAL FOR MILITIA.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—One hundred and sixteen Texas national guardsmen who have failed to respond to the call for service on the Mexican border will be tried by court martial by order of President Wilson. The offense for which they will be tried may be punished by fines or imprisonment, as the court may direct, with the approval of the president.

Secretary Baker announced today that the guardsmen would be tried promptly under the Dick law, reversing a previous decision to delay action in order to deal with the cases under the new Hay-Chamberlain army reorganization bill.

DEFENSE SENTIMENT SHOWN BY POLL OF BUSINESS MEN.

National Chamber of Commerce Finds Merchants Almost a Unit for Advanced Preparedness Step.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—Advanced preparedness steps, including universal military training, a building program that would restore the nation to second place among the world's naval powers, and an army increase that would meet the recommendations of the general staff, have been indorsed by overwhelming majorities in a referendum just completed among commercial organizations throughout the country holding membership in the chamber of commerce of the United States.

On the broad question of "general preparedness" 970 organizations voted favorably and only 8 negatively. The vote for universal military training was 889 to 56. The navy increases proposed in the query submitted were indorsed, 962 to 10, and the army increases, 946 to 21.

WAITE BARES MURDER LUST; ADMITS CRIMES

Gave Victims Disease Bacilli; Never a Quiver as He Tells Sordid Story.

After the funeral of Mrs. Peck he had returned to New York. Then his wife and her father came on to visit him.

"Did you administer the germs to Mr. Peck?"

"O, yes," was the matter of course reply.

"What did you give him?"

"Why," was the smiling answer, "I gave him large doses of about everything I had—diphtheria, pneumonia, typhoid, influenza."

"How did they affect him?"

"Not at all."

Proved Hard to Kill.

"Did you try anything else?"

"Yes, O, yes," I got some tubercular sputum and procured a nasal spray, into which I put it. I induced Mr. Peck to use that, but it did not work."

"How long did you keep this method up?"

"O, quite a few days, giving bigger and stronger doses all the time. I even tried another scheme. I got a lot of calomel, one-half and one grain tablets, which I administered to him in order to weaken him so that he would not resist the germs, but it failed. I even gave him a half bottle of these tablets. They produced the bowel complaint, but the man recovered every time."

"Did you try anything else?"

The man actually grinned. "O, yes, I tried many things. I would get him to go out and expose himself to drafts in the hope he would take cold. I would open his windows and dampen his sheets with water. That did not make any difference. Once I got some hydrochloric acid and put it on the radiator in his room, hoping the gas would affect him. It failed.

Janitor Foils Gas Plot.

"I tried to fix it so that he would go out in an automobile with me. My idea was to stall at the top of a steep hill, get out and then start her down with him in the back seat. I could not do that. I turned [illegible] gas one night, but the janitor or superintendent detected it and came up and awakened me."

"When did you give him the arsenic?"

"O, I don't recall, really, I do not. It was on Thursday or Friday. I can't recall when he took it all."

He rubbed his hands together nervously for the first time, and then added:

"You know, Mr. Peck did not die from arsenic poisoning."

Mr. Deuel paid no attention to this but harked back to the arsenic, and the witness told of getting the ninety grains from Timmermann, the druggist, through Dr. Muller. He believed he gave Mr. Peck three or four grains the first day, the day after he got the poison. It affected the man only temporarily. Then he gave him more and more up to Saturday by which time the entire ninety grains had been used up. The last dose was that Saturday night.

"How did you give this?"

"O, in his food, of course."

The food, he said, was rice pudding, soup, hot milk, eggnog, anything that it would go into without detection. He was not so clear about Saturday's events until the evening. Then he recalled that he had announced that he would go on watch that night and give his wife a chance to sleep and rest. He had the couch moved just outside Mr. Peck's bedroom door.

"What did you do then?" asked the lawyer calmly.

Uses Chloroform on Peck.

"I lay down and rested for an hour after my wife had retired and then I got up. Mr. Peck was groaning with pain. I went to him and saw that he suffered."

"What did you do?" repeated Mr. Deuel.

"You see, my wife had a lot of bottles of medicine boxes and things like any woman and among them a small vial of chloroform."

"I got this," said the witness, nodding towards the jury," and got a rag or a handkerchief. I went in to Mr. Peck, who was in pain, and said, 'Here, father, is some ether and ammonia which will relieve your pain.' Dr. Moore had told us to use something like that. I saturated the cloth slightly and placed it at his nostrils. He breathed it in and said, if I remember, 'All right, Arthur, that is better.'" The man stopped.

"Go on," commanded Mr. Deuel.

"I put a little more on the rag and then a little more," he continued wearily. "At last the man fell asleep and I continued to put on more until he was unconscious."

"What then?"

Smothered His Father-in-Law.

"I went out to the couch and got a pillow, which I placed over Mr. Peck's face, and held it there until—until he died."

The rest of the story has been told by the wife on the stand Wednesday and by Dr. Moore. It told of his going into his wife's room, where he broke the news, and of the telephoning to the doctor. While waiting for Dr. Moore to come he lay down at the side of his wife and went to sleep. After it was all over that morning he slept while the undertaker's men were in the house. He told of the Grand Rapids trip, the curiosity about the autopsy, his return to New York, the encounter with Mrs. Horton, and finally about his deals with the undertaking men. One thing he said positively was that he had not made the first suggestion about inserting arsenic in the embalming fluid.

Won Aunt's Confidence.

Waite on the stand for the evening session continued an afternoon narrative of steady, persistent stealing even when it came to Miss Catharine Peck, who had proven a most gracious friend. She gave him the large diamond ring which he later gave to Clara Louise Peck as an engagement ring, saying he had bought it out of his savings. She gave him a ten carat diamond as "a keepsake, we will say," which he promptly had cut down to three carats and later gave to Mrs. Horton.

He won her confidence completely, he said in a matter of fact tone. She opened up her safe deposit vaults to him and brought forth securities worth many thousands which she gave to him to be transformed into securities paying a higher rate of interest.

There was nothing she had that he could not have.

"Did you steal anything from her?" asked Mr. Deuel.

Stole Two $1,000 Bonds.

"Yes, several times," was the matter of fact reply.

Once he stole two $1,000 bonds from her. She missed them and began to make inquiries.

"What did you do about that?"

"O, I slipped them down back of a trunk in her room at the Park Avenue hotel. Nothing more was said."

"Did you take anything else?"

"Yes," was the smiling response. "She had her rings off one day. One of them was a ring set with three large diamonds. I pried one stone out and got away with it. She never knew what became of it." He said that he took money and other things at every chance from his benefactress. Sometimes it was only a few pennies and at other times. "I really can't remember the details," he said.

In Love with Wife—Don't Know.

Waite then was questioned about his visit to Grand Rapids in 1914. During that visit Miss Peck, whom he had known before, sent him an invitation to a reception. He had gone there and called frequently after that.

"Were you in love with her?" asked his counsel. That was the one time during the day that the witness faltered. He hesitated, his face worked convulsively for an intsant, and he answered:

"I don't know."

"When did the idea occur to you to marry her?"

"When I came back to Grand Rapids."

Aimed to Make Her Love Him.

He proposed to her on New Year's night. She said she did not know whether she loved him.

"What did you do then?"

"I made up my mind that I would make her love me."

"O, you knew she was wealthy?"

"That was one of the reasons why I wanted to love her," was the calm reply. "I had always known of the Peck wealth."

"Did you steal anything while you were on that trip?"

Takes Up Horton Angle.

Mr. Deuel dropped this phase of the case for the time being and asked about Mrs. Horton.

Waite said he first heard Mrs. Horton sing at the Strand theater and fell in love with her voice. He heard her many times and when he came back from Grand Rapids after the Christmas holidays he looked her up, found her at the Academy of Music, and formed an acquaintanceship with her.

Soon he was taking her out in his automobile and a little later they began the study of languages together. This was as Mrs. Horton told on the stand. Finally they got the room at the Plaza and by that time they were spending nearly every hour of the day together.

"Did you love her?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes."

"Did she reciprocate?"

"I think she did," was the answer.

A moment later the witness caused something of a surprise in the room when in reply to a question concerning his relations with Mr. and Mrs. Peck his voice broke and his lip trembled as he said: "Mr. Peck was a splendid man, one of the best men that ever lived."

Mr. Deuel returned to Miss Peck then and ushered on the murder phase of the confession.

"Did you ever put ground glass in Miss Peck's food?"

"Yes," was the casual reply, "in some marmalade that she kept in her room at the hotel."

"When was that?"

"Early in the summer before we were married."

"Did you put any germ cultures in a can of fish you gave her?"

"Yes."

"What was your idea?"

"So that she would eat it," was the answer, as if in surprise.

Later he said that he had figured it out if Miss Peck died before her brother her money would go to them and so come down to his wife. If she died afterwards the money would come direct.

Wife Near; No Sign.

When Waite took the stand at the opening of the afternoon session his wife sat only a few feet away from him, but if he was aware of it he gave no sign. She tilted her hat first so that he could not have seen her had he tried. Later she turned her head around in amazement at the bald, frank recital she heard.

Waite told his life history. He had gone first to school at Cannonsburg until he was about 14. His accent was very English. He had worked on his father's farm and had always endeavored to escape any toil.

"Wasn't it satisfactory?" asked Mr. Deuel.

The defendant laughed. "They say not," he replied.

Once he said he had been given some corn to plant which he had hidden under a flat stone because he wanted to go fishing. Yes, he said calmly, he had always lied, cheated, and shirked at school.

Cheated When a Boy.

When he went to Grand Rapids to live he did the same—stole examination papers, looked at other scholars' work, peeped in books, and studied rarely.

He worked during vacations and stole at every place he worked. The first summer he went to work for a hardware man and took a small amount of money. He was discharged. Then he went to a grocery store.

"How about that?" asked Mr. Deuel.

"Same thing," was the bored reply. "I can't say how much."

Later he said: "O, possibly $100."

Stole at College.

Then he went to a commission house, was caught stealing, and discharged. After that to another commission house. Same result. He was discharged in all instances, but never received anything worse than a reprimand. About that time he was ready for the school of dentistry at Ann Arbor.

"Did you steal and cheat there throughout your course?"

"I did," was the calm answer.

He took instruments, materials, and appropriated the plate another man had made, handing it in as his laboratory work. He was caught.

"Did you steal any money that first year?"

"I took money on three occasions, if I remember rightly," was the answer.

Tells of $1,000 Theft.

The first time was when he took $1,000 from the trunk of a fellow student and fraternity man named Beckwith.

"Beckwith had received the money from an uncle and kept it in his trunk. I went up there and got it."

Beckwith, it seemed, traced the money to Waite. Waite was forced to give it back. He said that he had taken it as a warning to the man not to be so careless. He took other small amounts from fraternity brothers, $10 from Beckwith again, and also books, materials and anything else he could lay his hand on. He was finally expelled from the fraternity, but was reinstated a year later.

He went to work for a man on Mackinac island his second summer and was caught stealing. He got away with about $700. The man he robbed heard about a secret fund of his and got it. He went to Canada to make his fortune just before going to school.

He supported himself with a reserve fund of $100 and playing pool. He had cheated playing pool.

Works in South Africa.

He had been graduated in 1909 and just previous to that had signed a contract with a firm of dentists to work for them in South Africa. It was necessary for him first to procure a British license, so he left this country in the autumn of 1909 and went to a school in Scotland at Glasgow, where he had to pass the necessary examinations. With the certificates and diploma he had from Ann Arbor he would have been compelled to remain there six months, but he avoided that.

"How did you do that?" asked Mr. Deuel.

"I altered the papers from the school to conform to the requirements," was the cool reply. Then he said it was only necessary for him to pass an examination.

"How did you do this?"

"I became a private pupil of the examiner, who passed me after I had paid his fee."

Stole While on Road.

Thereafter he went to Capetown, where he went first to work in the main office of the firm at Capetown. He remained there one year, after which he went on the road, traveling from town to town for them for three years. His fifth year was spent in charge of a permanent branch of the firm at Durban, Natal.

"Did you do any stealing at Capetown?" he was asked.

"No; that was the main office and I couldn't."

"How about when you went on the road?"

Got Good Salary to Start.

He explained that he went out first for $150 a month and 5 per cent commission. This was increased until he received $250 a month and 9 per cent commission, as well as traveling expenses. The firm had given him a bonus for getting through Scotland so quickly, and in his last year he was making about $500 a month clear.

"What did you make the second year?" asked Mr. Deuel.

"I really wouldn't like to specify," was the answer. "I assume it was something like £100 ($500)." He succeeded in getting away with about $1,500 his third year and $2,000 his fourth, all in addition to his salary and expenses.

"How did you do that?"

"I would not turn in all the money I took in."

When he got in charge of the office at Durham he took all kinds of materials, instruments, and as much money as he could get away with. He did not give the amount.

GERMANS CRUSH ON; NEW VERDUN DEFENSES FALL

Retake Haudremont Quarries and Trenches on Either Side of Douaumont.

BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER.

LONDON, May 25.—Further French defenses at Verdun crumpled today under the hammering of German blows. With Fort Douaumont again firmly gripped, the Germans turned their attention to the trenches on either side. They were recaptured, as were the quarries at Haudremont.

West of the Meuse the struggle has grown in intensity. Their hold on the Douaumont ridge regained, the Germans have again concentrated on the reduction of Dead Man hill and hill 304. The French made three attempts today to recapture Cumieres. Berlin says all the attacks failed.

Cumieres is important because it links the German lines east and west of the Meuse. In German hands it also helps prevent the flanking fire on troops operating on the east bank, which is the larger objective, also, in the capture of Dead Man hill and hill 304. Once these are taken, and with a wedge already driven in at Douaumont, the Germans can resume their frontal assaults on the main line of the fortress.

Advance Below Cumieres.

The Germans already have advanced south of Cumieres and are now striving to rout the French from the Caurettes wood. If they succeed the noose will be pulled so much tighter about Dead Man hill. It would place the Germans almost in the rear of the height. Evacuation by the French would then be almost necessary. Indeed, military opinion in Paris is generally agreed that evacuation of Dead Man hill and Hill 304 cannot be much longer delayed.

If the French withdraw from these hills the Germans will be able to advance the attack west of the river to the same stage as at Douaumont. The Charnay ridge, on which is situated Fort Bourrus, will be their objective, while by working to the southwest through Avocourt they will seek to flank this line and cut the only railway still serving Verdun.

The British official statement on the western campaign reads:

> Last night and today (Thursday) there was considerable mining activity in the Loos salient, in which we had the advantage.
> The artillery of both sides was active at many points, principally near Gommecourt, Arras, the Vimy Ridge, Hulluch, and Wytschaete. Our fire was sparticularly effective at Fricourt and Beaurains.

French War Report.

> On the right bank, after a violent bombardment, the Germans delivered at about 5 o'clock a series of offensive actions betwen the Haudromont wood and the Thiaumont farm.
> All of these attacks were repulsed with heavy losses, except at one point, where enemy groups occupied a section of trenches.
> In the region of Douaumont the artillery actions continue violently on both sides. The fire of one of our long range guns caused a fire in a German supply depot at Heudicourt, northeast of St. Mihiel.
> In an aerial fight one of our pilots brought down a Fokker, which fell within the enemy lines to the north of Vaux.
> In the region of Etain one of our squadrons gave battle to a group of German aeroplanes. Two of the enemy machines, seriously hit, were compelled to make a landing.

German War Report.

BERLIN, May 25, by wireless to Sayville.—The repulse of three counter attacks by the French on the village of Cumieres, to the west of the Meuse on the Verdun front, was announced by the war office today. The capture of additional French trenches southwest and south of Fort Douaumont and the recapture of the Haudremont quarry by the Germans are also reported.

> West of the Meuse three enemy counter attacks against the village of Cumieres failed.
> To the east of the Meuse our regiments, taking advantage of the successes of the day before yesterday, advanced further and captured enemy trenches southwest and south of Fort Douaumont. We recaptured the quarry south of the Haudremont farm.
> In the Caillette wood the enemy attacked our positions during the whole day without attaining the least success. The enemy suffered heavy sanguinary losses. In addition we captured more than 850 prisoners and fourteen machine guns.
> An enemy biplane was shot down near St. Souplet and another over Herbebois.

Big German Victory.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, May 25.—The success of two Lancashire battalions in gaining a footing on the Vimy Ridge on May 15, following the explosion of mines, resulted in a formidable operation by the Germans. The British success was a matter of local initiative, which turned out perfectly. After six days of concentration and other preparation, the Germans followed a prolonged bombardment with a heavy attack, forcing the retirement of the British to their second line trenches along 1,500 yards of front.

From a point on the front nearby the correspondent was able today to see the crest of the now uneven line, outlined against the horizon, with the mine torn earth still being kneaded by shells, which was the scene of these sensational operations. This line commands the plain of Lens and was the object of a vigorous allied drive during the battle of Loos. Visible also were the famous labyrinth and the ruins of Neuville-St. Vaast, which the French won in their offensive last spring.

With the guns steadily pounding as the fighting continued the glasses revealed an occasional man coming out of the dugouts during the lulls, but otherwise the scene was lifeless.

Where Battle Is Raging Around Verdun.

2—Berlin reports capture of Cumieres further menaces French hold on Caurettes wood, just south of village, which is now being attacked from three sides.

3—Paris reports French made some progress east of Cumieres and west of the Meuse in hand grenade fighting.

4—Night French official report states Germans, after a violent bombardment, delivered at 5 o'clock Thursday a series of actions between Haudremont wood and Thiamont farm. All attacks repulsed with heavy losses except at one point, where Germans occupied a section of trenches.

Berlin on same action announced further advance southwest and south of Fort Douaumont and the capture of quarry south of Haudremont farm.

5—Paris reports violent artillery actions on both sides continue in region of Douaumont.

6—Berlin announces repulse of all day attacks by French in Caillette wood, southeast of Fort Douaumont, in which 850 prisoners and fourteen machine guns were taken.

RUSS ADVANCE CHECKED NEAR KHANIKIN, IS CLAIM.

Turks Also Say Foe Lost 200 Men in Encounter on the Persian Frontier.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 25.—The Russian force that has been advancing in the vicinity of Khanikin, northeast of Bagdad, has been checked by the Turks. The operations are described as follows:

> Russian forces, whose advance from the direction of Kasr-I-Shirin on Khanikin was reported, were compelled to cease their advance in the vicinity of the frontier.
> In a fight with Russian detachments observed on the Persian frontier, just north of Sulamanieh, we caused them to lose 200 men.

Russian Communication.

PETROGRAD, May 25.—The Russian official statement tonight says:

> Our troops operating in the region of Kermanshah and Kasr-I-Shirin have effected a junction with the British forces on the Tigris below Kut-el-Amara. On May 22 our Cossacks reached the quarters of the British commanding general.

PETROGRAD, May 25.—The official communication from general headquarters, issued today, reads:

> In the region west of Dalen island the Germans, after a violent bombardment, took the offensive and drove back our advance guard post, seizing one of our advanced trenches. By a counter attack we dislodged the enemy, who retired to his own trenches. We suffered no losses.
> We repulsed by our fire an enemy attempt to advance towards Karpilovka, ten versts north of the Olyka station, and to cut our wire entanglements.

BRITISH LINER U-BOAT VICTIM, LLOYD'S REPORTS

Washington Sunk by Submarine—Teuton Divers Busy in the Mediterranean.

LONDON, May 25.—The British steamship Washington, of 5,080 tons gross, has been sunk by a submarine, according to an announcement made today at Lloyd's shipping agency.

[On its last eastern trip across the Atlantic the Washington left Newport News April 12 and Norfolk two days later, bound for Genoa, where it arrived May 8.]

German Submarines Active.

Reports received here by shipping companies indicate that submarines have been busy recently in the Mediterranean, where a considerable number of ships, both belligerent and neutral, have been sunk.

With the exception of two cases, according to the reports, the attacking submarines displayed at the time a large Austrian flag. Warning was given in each instance, but a number of sailors were either killed by explosions or drowned by the overturning of lifeboats. On two occasions, the submarine, according to the advices, showed a German flag.

Among the neutrals affected by this submarine activity Greeks and Norwegians were the greatest sufferers.

Swedish Ship Fights.

BERLIN, May 25, by wireless to Sayville.—"The Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant reported on April 25 that the Dutch steamship Soerakarta had witnessed the destruction of a German submarine by a British trawler at a point between the Irish coast and the Shetland islands," the Overseas News agency says.

"It is stated on competent authority that the Soerakarta, when off the Irish coast on the evening of April 25, was stopped by a German submarine, which signaled it with a flag. Nearby was another steamship which flew the Swedish flag. The submarine signaled this ship to stop, and when it ignored the signal fired a shot acros its bow. The steamship with the Swedish flag then opened fire on the submarine with a cannon which had been mounted near the funnel.

"The German submarine submerged for protection, but was grazed by a shot. It was not damaged seriously."

Aroused by Sea Losses.

ATHENS, May 25.—Public opinion in Greece has been greatly excited by the news that Teuton submarines have torpedoed the Greek steamships Adamantios Korais and Anastasios Coroneos, and the Greek ship Istros.

Austrians Lose Battle.

ROME, May 25.—An Austrian aeroplane and an Austrian gunboat have been destroyed in a battle with an Italian gunboat in the upper Adriatic. The crew of the Austrian craft were taken prisoner.

"Have a Cherry?"

"Not How Cheap Can We Make It —But How Good"

THAT'S the standard by which Martha Washington Candies have always been made—and the business which has been built up on that policy is proof that the policy is right.

In these days when cost experts are working night and day to shave every possible cent—when standards of quality are constantly being lowered in the scramble for dollars—it is rather unique to find an exception, and a prosperous one.

It has never been our ambition to make cheap candy—the competition is too great. It has been our aim—our determination—to see how good we could make it, and the demand for quality—that has been satisfied for years by Martha Washington Candies—is a limitless one. It supports an industry the growth of which has surpassed the expectations of its originators—and it is still only in its infancy.

"Not How Cheap Can We Make It, But How Good."

There is a world of meaning in those words, which has penetrated the length and breadth of the country, wherever quality candies are in demand, and instilled into the mind of every pure candy lover the determination to buy only those made in accordance with that principle—Martha Washington Candies.

AUSTRIANS TAKE 25,000 CAPTIVES ON ITALY FRONT

Advance Eight Miles Below Border, Where Rome Claims They Are Checked.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN PRESS HEADQUARTERS, May 25, via London.—The heaviest fighting on the Austro-Italian front has shifted to the eastward and now is taking place between the Astico and the Assa valley, which territory already is half occupied by the Austro-Hungarian Graz corps. Campologno, which was reported captured on Tuesday, is one of the main industrial post defenses of Asiago (about ten miles south of the border), toward which the Austrians are heading.

The invaders are said now to be eight miles into Italy. King Victor's losses in the eleven days' fighting are heavy and the Austrians have taken 25,000 prisoners.

Austrians Take High Peak.

The high, rocky wall to the east of the Assa valley is still held by the Italians, dominating the road below, but the Austrians already have taken the first peak of this ridge—Mont Kempelin, 2,310 meters high—by attacks from the west and the Sugana valley.

The troops operating in the Sugana valley are developing the heights from Salubio to Borgo. The crown prince's army, in the center, is battering down the defense along the approach to Arsiero. The right wing is held up by the stubborn Italian resistance between the Etsch and the Leno valley, but it is continuing its fierce attacks on the Italian defenders.

Italian Official Report.

ROME, May 25 (via London, May 26, 12:28 a. m.)—The official communication from general headquarters issued today reads:

> From Stelvio to Garda there was an exchange of artillery and rifle fire of the greatest intensity in the zone of Cividale and Tonale. In Lagarina valley, after an intense night bombardment against our positions at Coni Zugna, the enemy made two attacks in the direction of Serravalle and Col di Buole, which were vigorously repulsed. This repulse was followed up by our troops, who reoccupied the height of Darmesan, southeast of Col di Buole.
> During the day there were lively artillery duels. We made a full hit on an enemy gun of medium caliber which was being transported toward Pozzacchio.
> Between Val Arsa and Posina, enemy infantry attacks were repulsed. Between Posina and the Astico, the enemy unmasked his heavy artillery along the Monte Maggio-Toraro line, but our guns replied effectively.
> On the remainder of the front to the sea there has been intermittent artillery activity. Our guns caused an explosion in a munitions depot behind Monte San Michele.

U. S. MINCES NO WORDS IN PROTEST TO ALLIES.

Right Not Conceded Even to Inspect First Class Mails Upon the High Seas.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—Vigorous language, equalling almost that employed in the last communication to Germany on the submarine issue, is understood to characterize the notes delivered to the British and French embassies here yesterday protesting against interference with neutral mails.

Outlines of these communications have been cabled to London and Paris by the embassies, and the full text will be forwarded by mail. This is taken to mean that replies will be framed only upon mature consideration.

The United States does not concede the right to even inspect first class mails in transit on the high seas, assuming that these do not include anything more than correspondence and are not made the vehicle for supply of contraband to the belligerents.

GALLIENI IN BAD SHAPE.

PARIS, May 25.—The condition of Gen. Gallieni, former minister of war, has suddenly grown worse and grave anxiety is felt as to his chances of recovery.

[Gen. Gallieni resigned as minister of war on March 16 on account of ill health. He underwent a second operation for kidney trouble on May 18 and was then reported to be rapidly recovering.]

VOTE NOW 3,873 FOR UNIVERSAL ARMY TRAINING

Letters Accompanying Ballots Show Interest in "The Tribune" Poll.

BY CAPT. HENRY J. REILLY.

The seventh and eighth days of THE TRIBUNE ballot on universal military training brought in 641 votes, making a total of 3,873.

The requests for blank ballots are becoming more numerous. As has been the case on most days, several individuals sent in lists of signatures attached to one ballot. For each of a number of days some person, name unknown, of the Chicago and Alton railroad has sent in a number of ballots.

That the interest is being maintained is shown by the fact that while the second day's ballot was quite a little under that of the first day, the number received each day since has been about the same. Interest is also indicated by the large number of letters received, probably one-fourth of the ballots being accompanied by letters strongly approving on every conceivable ground. The letters are from all classes of society, all political parties, men and women; from all professions, business and trades, and from naturalized and native born citizens of every blood.

A Typical Letter.

A typical letter illustrating the interest felt is that of "D. E. S.," who writes: "I am married and the father of three young children, two of whom are boys.

"I am now, and always have been, for adequate military and naval preparedness, but this is the first time in my life that any respectable number of the people of this country have ever been awake on this subject. I saw young men of the highest type volunteer for service in the Spanish war, who later died unprofitably and unnecessarily, not from any conflict with the enemy, but who were murdered by the asinine stupidity of the people whose battles they went out to fight without training, equipment, organization, supplies—practically without anything that they should have had. They were taken and their lives were sacrificed by the folly of the American people.

"That is what will happen again if we ever have a military conflict, and the disasters will be immeasurably greater. My military training was confined to a short service in the national guard as it existed in Iowa in the early '90s, but I learned enough in that short service and under the extremely inefficient training to be able to realize the hopelessness and helplessness of the United States if it is ever confronted by a real war.

His Patriotism Ebbs.

"I confess that my patriotism has been at a very low ebb. I have two small boys growing up, and I cannot conceive of my being willing that they should enlist in the military service of their country under present conditions. A country and a people which will not afford the man who stakes his life and his health in its service an opportunity to be prepared for such service, and which will not take the pains to furnish the necessary arms, equipment, and supplies, or to provide the necessary organization to make his service and his sacrifice efficient and worth while, is not worth the sacrifice."

FORMER REGULAR SOLDIERS SAILORS AND MARINES NOTICE

Those of you who desire to participate in the Preparedness parade are invited to send names, address and telephone numbers to National Defense department of "The Tribune."

New British Income Tax.

LONDON, May 25.—Reginald McKenna, chancellor of the exchequer, has given notice that on Monday next he will move in the house of commons that an additional income tax of 2 shillings the pound be charged on the income from securities which the treasury is willing to purchase. The object of this is to compel the sale to the government of American securities hitherto withheld by the owners.

ITCHING TORTURE STOPS

It is unnecessary for you to suffer with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar skin troubles. A little zemo, gotten at any drug store for 25 cents, or $1 for extra large bottle, and promptly applied will usually give instant relief from itching torture. It cleanses and soothes the skin and heals quickly and effectively most skin diseases.

Zemo is a wonderful disappearing liquid and does not smart the most delicate skin. It is not greasy, is easily applied and costs little. Get it today and save all further distress.—Advertisement.

G.O.P. GLAD HAND EXTENDED TO ALL IN RIVAL CAMPS

Five Presidential Booms Started in a Single Day on Candidates' Row.

Kind words for every active candidate but Col. Roosevelt, silence as to Justice Hughes, the glad hand and camp-meeting greetings all the way round as rival scouts crossed trails.

This was the first real day of the Republican national convention season and the impression it left as five presidential booms were unveiled along Candidates' row at the Congress yesterday.

Claims and cross claims signalized the opening of headquarters. Each candidate of the fifteen or sixteen will have 200 votes on the first ballot, if yesterday's percentage of claims is maintained when the voting begins.

None Has Commanding Lead.

Expert politicians, after all reports were in, took off a trial balance. It was unanimous that no symptom is located of a determining lead for any candidate, Roosevelt and Hughes included, and that the fight is anybody's at this moment.

If there was a Roosevelt boom it couldn't be located in the hotel lobbies. The only man heard to make the prediction that the colonel would be the Republican nominee was Frank H. Funk, Progressive member of the Illinois public utilities commission, slated for the chairmanship of the Illinois delegation at the Auditorium convention.

"Roosevelt will be the Republican nominee," he said.

All declined to discuss the case of Justice Hughes. Apparently the early birds are waiting for something more definite and official from somebody who can talk with authority before they commit themselves as to the justice.

Weeks Boom Arrives.

George H. Moses, minister to Greece during the Taft administration and delegate at large from New Hampshire, brought the Weeks boom to town and opened the Massachusetts senator's headquarters.

"Senator Weeks will have more than 100 votes on the first ballot, from twenty-seven states," Mr. Moses said. "He is not in the favorite son class. He comes from all the people. As to New England, Senator Weeks will have more strength from the New England states than James G. Blaine had when he was a candidate and more strength than Thomas B. Reed had, and both were from the state of Maine. One is foolish to predict past the first ballot in this convention. We believe Senator Weeks' chances are of the best."

No statement came from the Elihu Root headquarters, which were opened by Charles M. Pepper of New York. Former Congressman John W. Dwight and a retinue of assistant managers, scouts, and politicians get in this morning. He will do the talking for Mr. Root, Mr. Pepper said.

George W. Mooney and A. N. Rodway of Cleveland took possession of the headquarters of Theodore E. Burton. No formal statement is to be made for the Ohio candidate until today. A general claim of anywhere from 100 to 150 votes on the first ballot was satisfactory to the Burton spokesmen.

Trolley Crashes Into Truck.

The front vestibule was partly wrecked and the passengers were thrown into excitement yesterday when a Cottage Grove avenue car crashed into a truck loaded with structural iron. No one was injured.

29 ROOSEVELT VOTES HANG ON CONTEST RULING

Issue Clearcut in Rows Over Louisiana and Georgia Delegates.

Twenty-nine votes for Col. Roosevelt in the Republican national convention depend on the decision of the national committee on the contests from Georgia and Louisiana. There may be others in the list of fifty-three contests announced yesterday as the official filings by Secretary James B. Reynolds.

But as to these twenty-nine, it is a case of Roosevelt against the field, and almost an identical repetition of the 1912 contests in the same two states.

As in 1912, the national committee, beginning operations next Thursday, will sit on the contests and prepare the temporary roll. The cases undoubtedly will be reopened by the credentials committee.

If the Roosevelt delegations are seated the colonel can add twenty-nine to his column on the first roll call for the presidency. If the anti-Roosevelt delegates win the first ballot will show the twenty-nine scattered among seven or eight different candidates, barring only T. R.

Seventeen of the contested seats hail from Georgia. Field managers along Candidates' row are almost unanimous in the opinion that the merits of the case are favorable to the pro-Roosevelt crowd. The technical point involved is over the legality of the call for the state convention.

In Louisiana, with twelve delegates, the anti-Roosevelt contingent is held generally to have the safest foundation. It is the regularly recurring scrap between the Lily Whites and the Black and Tans that has been fought out at every national convention since 1880.

The complete list of contested seats, as announced by Secretary Reynolds, when he closed the files last night, follows:

Alabama	7	South Carolina	3
Georgia	17	Virginia	1
Louisiana	12	Texas	4
Mississippi	1	Dist. of Columbia	2
Missouri	2
Oklahoma	4	Total	53

"It is the smallest list of contested seats, in point of totals, that has been presented to a Republican national convention in twenty-four years," Secretary Reynolds said. "Of the [illegible] delegates 610 have been elected by direct primaries and their credentials are above reproach or criticism."

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

A VOTE FOR AMERICAN YOUTH.

The board of education is to be congratulated upon its unanimous vote establishing military training in the high schools. It is an act of patriotic public service which expresses not only the will of an overwhelming majority of the parents of high school pupils, as disclosed in THE TRIBUNE poll, taken some months ago, but, we believe, the sentiment of a corresponding proportion of the community.

It comes, moreover, at a moment when the eyes of the nation are on Chicago and when much doubt has been voiced in other sections as to the willingness of the middle west to bear its share of the responsibility for national defense. Such significant action taken unanimously by so responsible and representative a body will give encouragement to all sections and will greatly strengthen the cause of national defense.

There ought to be no doubts of the loyal citizenship of the middle west. The records of the people of this section in every war the country has engaged in since the west was settled provide eloquent testimony to the spirit of devoted Americanism which animates our people. The period of immigration has not altered that. Our foreign born citizens, in spite of some few theoretical anti-militarists, are not ready to shirk their duty as Americans. The natural, though irrelevant, partisanisms aroused by the European war should not be misinterpreted. The Americanism of the middle west is well founded; in our opinion is more thorough going than that of any other section.

The benefit of training to Chicago's youth and to the community will soon be apparent. In time, and we trust it will be soon, our local high school plan will be absorbed in a national democratic system of universal training, such as the republics of France and Switzerland and the commonwealths of Australia and New Zealand require of their citizens. Meanwhile Chicago should demonstrate its progressiveness and public spirit by developing a system of which we may be proud. The summer gives us an opportunity to develop plans to be put into effect at the opening of the schools in the fall. One feature should be insisted upon and means for meeting it with the aid of the government should be arranged without postponement. That is provision for uniforming and providing with arms the pupils of the third and fourth years of the course.

Attention may be called at this time to the fact that this training will offer excellent preparation for any boy who wishes to go to West Point or Annapolis, and graduates with good records will undoubtedly be given preference for the congressional appointments to those schools.

The poll being taken at this time by THE TRIBUNE on the question of universal training is more comprehensive than the earlier poll, which covered only parents of high school pupils. But the returns thus far show the same overwhelming sentiment in favor of universal compulsory training. It may be taken for granted, therefore, that the high school plan will be inaugurated under very favorable circumstances and will soon show the most gratifying results.

The Chicago board of education has done a fine thing for the youth of the city and, by its example, for the nation.

OUR SHARE.

The Federal Council of Churches is asking all congregations in the United States to appoint this coming Sunday as a day for providing relief to European war sufferers.

Probably Americans think they have given much. There have been relief societies formed, relief sales, relief entertainments. Certain groups in the United States have been generous. But the United States has displayed a greater willingness to talk than to give.

We, the wealthiest country in the world, growing rich out of the war, have contributed only 7 cents per capita to Belgium. New Zealand, a British colony, besides bearing its own war burdens, has given over a dollar and a quarter per capita to Belgium.

Our contributions to the other suffering countries, Poland, Serbia, northern France, Armenia, have been in about the same proportion. We have not done our share. City people have been reached in a measure, but country people have not been reached.

The United States can spare some of its wealth to help the children of Europe grow up healthy.

THE HYPHENATES.

In the utterances of violent American partisans of the entente allies like Owen Wister and Booth Tarkington, there seem to be two unconscious assumptions. The first is that the only form of hyphenation that is inimical to America is German-Americanism; the other is that hyphenation is a new or newly discovered fact of our national life.

Both assumptions are the result not of American thinking but of war partisanism. Hyphenated Americanism is not new and it is not confined to partisans of the central powers in this war. The Slavs are as highly self-conscious and as well organized in this country as the Germans and Austrians. We have a British Empire association. We have Irish, Italian, and Scandinavian societies. The foreign born vote is one of the outstanding factors of politics and cultural societies keep alive the traditions, languages, and sentiments of many continental peoples. The Jews brought about the abrogation of an important and profitable treaty with Russia. A certain faction of the Irish-Americans would have our policy governed not by American interest but by their hatred of England.

This condition is deplorable, but it is a natural result of immigration from all countries, and the war has only aggravated it superficially. What we have now to concern ourselves with is to prevent partisanism from becoming chronic, and men who think pro-Britishism is American and pro-Germanism treason are not helping but hurting the cause of true Americanism.

Now, so far as America is concerned, if a German-American prefers German interests to British, Russian, or French he has not revealed himself as un-American. If a British-American prefers British interests to German, or a Slavic-American Russian interests to Austrian he has not proved himself un-American. It is when he carries his partisanism into American affairs, when the British-American is hostile to German-Americans because they are of German blood and sympathy, or the German-American is hostile to Slavic or British or French Americans because of their blood and sympathy that they show their hyphenation to be un-American and obnoxious to the basic ideal of America, which is not to make itself a new Britain, a new Germany, or a new Poland, much less a new Europe containing the old rancors, but a new nation whose doors are open to all peoples ready to be and capable of being American.

Nothing could be more mistaken, more harmful to America than to cherish and inflame interracial distinctions and hostilities on our soil. The war will leave its spiritual scars. We cannot help that. We can resolve that it shall not turn Americans against each other or shut the door of American fellowship upon any class or strain.

SPECULATING WITH OUR MONEY.

When it becomes known precisely what the so-called flood control bill really means the country will be either disgusted or indignant—disgusted, even if it is not passed, that congress deigned to consider it; indignant, if it is passed, against legislators who heed land speculators and local landholders more than justice and national interest.

The house of representatives has passed the bill. It is pending before the senate. It is the duty of every clear sighted citizen to see that the senate does not pass it.

If the flood control bill passes, this is what will happen:

The government will spend $45,000,000 or more on levees. (Engineers assert that the total amount will have to be $200,000,000 eventually.)

Sixteen million acres of the richest land in the world will be reclaimed.

The sixteen million acres, owned by private persons and syndicates of land speculators, will suddenly be worth a billion and a half or two billion dollars—well over $100 an acre, at any rate.

These syndicates will not put on overalls and raise cotton crops; they will sell the land. They will not sell it at the price they paid for it but at the price which $45,000,000 of the people's money has made it worth.

Colonists who settle on this land will not receive the advantage of the increased value, but they will pay interest on the increased valuation. They will pay to the syndicates and present owners all the land is worth. It is probable even that many will find they have paid too much. Unless, in fact, the government takes care to regulate the speculation in this land, it is safe to prophesy that many of the colonists will be bankrupt in ten years.

Precisely this sort of thing has happened before. Irrigation projects in the west are being deserted now because the colonists were forced to pay the speculative price of the improved land. All their capital, in many cases, went into land. There was no money left for working, for implements, and for stock.

By passing the flood control bill the United States will make itself party to a doubtful land speculation—a speculation where the winnings, if there are any, will go to private persons and syndicates and the losses, if there are any, will be borne by the government. The gain will not be spread about the south. It will be concentrated in the hands of a few people who may be southerners and who may be northerners.

But even if the bill empowered the government to enforce a just distribution of the land it would not be a good bill. It is not at all certain that levees which are proposed will permanently reclaim the lands. The Mississippi river has been overflowing its banks for hundreds of years. It has overflowed because the channel of the river was too small to carry all the water to the gulf. Building levees means making the channel smaller. The amount of water remains the same. It is entirely within probability that a system of levees built without reference to control of the water at the sources will make the Mississippi rage the more. Levees may be overflowed and washed away.

In any event, if the senate passes the flood control bill it will be making the United States, at its expense, a party to a discreditable land speculation which is disguised as flood control, and flood control of an unscientific and doubtful kind.

SAVE DAYLIGHT.

Cleveland plays more tennis and plays more baseball since it turned its clocks an hour ahead. According to statistics compiled by the Cleveland chamber of commerce, the daily average of people who play baseball in the afternoons has increased by 2,000 and that of tennis 1,000 since Cleveland adopted eastern time.

Kansas City plans to turn its clocks an hour ahead. An ordinance to that effect has been passed by one of the city legislative bodies and has been reported favorably to the upper house.

A bill has been introduced into the house of representatives to set the clocks an hour ahead in the District of Columbia, in all territories, and in insular possessions.

Detroit set its clocks ahead an hour some time ago, and Detroit has been well pleased.

If Chicago should set its clocks an hour ahead it would mean more daylight to work in and more to play in. It would mean smaller gas and electric light bills. It would mean more out of doors and better health.

HUMANITY AND MEXICO.

[From the Peoria Transcript.]

American men, women, and children have been murdered on both sides of the Rio Grande, and the raids probably will continue until the Mexican government is headed by a strong man. And this is the price paid for what? For the president's unsupported theory on "humanity" as applied to Mexico. And even his theory has no basis in fact. As explained by former Secretary of State Knox, Huerta had been provisional president of Mexico three days before Madero was shot. On Feb. 19, 1913, Madero resigned as president of Mexico, and Piero Lascurian, secretary of state, became president automatically. Lascurian immediately resigned, and Huerta, secretary of war, became president, he being next in rank. This all took place on Feb. 19, and Madero was not shot until Feb. 22.

President Wilson's passion for free elections, constitutionalism, and the restitution of Mexican lands to the peons are all at variance with the facts of Mexico. Diaz ruled with an iron hand. He shot down what he couldn't control. That's the formula for law and order in a country of 15,000,000 people, mostly savages.

"Humanity," unrelated to facts, is the cruelest kind of inhumanity. It breeds contempt, encourages disorder, and creates the suspicion we are cowards.

Situation Wanted—Nursemaid, where honest effort will be appreciated; will not be expected to stoke the furnace or wash the auto.

CONCERNING history, which is one of the sixty-seven things in which Mr. Ford is not interested, George Macaulay Trevelyan once admitted that it has no practical utility, like physical science; a knowledge of history will not help a man to make a fordcar. Nor can history deduce causal laws of general application; you can't isolate an event like the taking of Dead Man's Hill, and deduce from it a law of general application; an historical event cannot be isolated from its circumstances.

HISTORY'S only purpose is educative. Its effect, says Mr. Trevelyan, is to train the mind of the citizen into a state in which he is capable of taking a just view of political problems. But it "cannot prophesy the future; it cannot supply a set of invariably applicable laws for the guidance of politicians; it cannot show, by the deductions of historical analogy, which side is in the right in any quarrel of our own day. It can do a thing less and yet greater than all these. It can mould the mind itself into the capability of understanding great affairs and sympathizing with great men. The information given by history is valueless in itself, unless it produce a new state of mind."

BLUE-EYED MARY.

Come, tell me, blue-ey'd stranger,
Say, whither dost thou roam?
O'er this wide world a ranger,
Hast thou no friends or home?

They call me blue-ey'd Mary,
When friends and fortune smil'd.
But ah! how fortunes vary,
I now am sorrow's child.

Come here, I'll buy thy flowers,
And ease thy hapless lot,
Still wet with waning showers,
I'll buy forget-me-not.

Kind sir, then take these posies,
They're fading like my youth,
But never, like these rosies,
Shall wither Mary's truth.

Look up, thou poor forsaken,
I'll give thee house and home,
And if I'm not mistaken,
Thou'lt never wish to roam.

Once more I'm happy Mary,
Once more has fortune smil'd.
Who ne'er from virtue vary
May yet be fortune's child.

Mrs. Burford Jeankins is still selling cream that good ropey kind that tastes like honeyed sweetness, and she has not raised the price either still sells it at the same price she did six or seven years ago, twenty cents the pint and it is really about the best cream one ever tasted. SEEN IN A MOVIE THEATER.

THE house was dark. A young girl and her escort were leaving. They had reached the back of the auditorium and were making their way toward the door. The girl stopped and leaned against the wall. She murmured that she was about to faint, and then crumpled up and slid to the floor. A physician entered the theater in time to hear the young lady say that she was about to faint. He helped to ease her to the floor. He straightened out her body so that the vessels of her neck were not pinched. Presently the young lady's pulse began to beat at the wrist. About this time the escort wanted to get a cup of water. But what was the use? The young lady was beginning to become conscious. He then wanted to get a glass of whisky. But what good could that do? The color began to appear in the young lady's face. She opened her eyes and looked around in semi-consciousness.

And at this time things began to happen. Some one had gotten word to the head usher. He came running up. Without stopping to make any inquiries or observations he grabbed the young lady in his arms and, throwing her head over his shoulder, he carried her out somewhere, presumably to the ladies' retiring room. The position in which the young lady was carried was against the man's right side with her head bent on her chest hanging over his right shoulder. I judge that his theory was that he would get her out of the auditorium in order to prevent a gathering mob and perhaps a panic. As it was, not over six persons saw the fainting and were aware of what subsequently happened.

And now let us see what harm might have resulted from the foolish act of the foolish man. When the heart fails to pump enough blood to the brain fainting results. The only treatment needed for fainting is to permit the patient to lie flat in a comfortable position for a few minutes. If some one has some ammonia or smelling salts a whiff helps.

When this man lifted the girl into an upright position and threw her head over his shoulder, he did just exactly the worst thing he could have done. She had a right to faint again. Had she fainted, his act would have been the cause.

Suppose instead of a young girl in her late teens she had been a somewhat older woman with heart disease. The act of the usher could easily have killed her by causing her heart to stop beating. Suppose again, instead of a faint, the case had been one of apoplexy, the act of the usher would probably have caused death. In apoplexy blood is spurting into the brain from a broken artery. Manhandling the patient is likely to increase the outpour of blood.

So far as the usher knew the young lady might have been suffering from either of these conditions. He rushed up in the dark, said nothing to anybody, grabbed the girl, threw her over his shoulder, and went out with her. Perhaps theater owners might prevent damage suits by having their head ushers join an American Red Cross class in first aid.

PURIFYING WATER.

L. B. writes: "I have read with much interest your article on typhoid. I expect to spend the summer in a village on the coast with my family of children and adults. Will you kindly answer through your "How to Keep Well" column [1] How can one chlorinate the water for drinking? [2] How to effectively pasteurize the milk?"

REPLY.

1. Use about ten parts of hypochlorite of lime to one million parts of water. That would be ten pounds to a million pints or 125,000 gallons. To chlorinate a barrel of water of, say, thirty gallons add twenty grains of the hypochlorite. Have your druggist put up a solution of hypochlorite in which one tablespoonful holds twenty grains. There is another method for hunters and campers, but that you are not interested in.

2. Set the bottle filled with milk but with the cap lifted at one side in a pot of water. The botttle should not sit squarely on the bottom of the pot. Put a spoon or something similar beneath the bottle. Heat the water to 180. If you have no thermometer heat until the surface of the bottle is covered with air bubbles and bubbles begin to form in the milk at the glass. Turn off the gas. Leave the milk in the hot water for twenty minutes. The water should be at least 160 at the end of the time. Remove the milk bottle from the water. Allow tap water to run on it to cool it. Place in the icebox.

SHINGLES.

W. E. S. writes: "1. What is the disease they call shingles, and what causes shingles? 2. Do people get them on their face or body? 3. How long do they last? 4. Give description of disease. 5. Are they dangerous?"

REPLY.

1. Another name for it is herpes.
2. Herpes frequently appears on the face. Herpes following the course of a nerve along a rib is called shingles.
3. Several weeks.
4. Acute pain. Multiple ulcers extending like a band along a rib.
5. No.

INQUIRY IS SUFFICIENT.

G. H. W. writes: "We have a great many laws about drinking cups and various other things relating to health. Now, I have not heard of any laws or anything in any of your articles relating to the filthy, dangerous habit of card players spitting on their fingers when they deal the cards and thereby spreading the dirty, nasty disease they have to their neighbors. Can't you give them h— in your paper?

REPLY.

Your letter is about as strong as the postal laws will allow. I cannot improve on it.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Company.]

PRINCESS LEONILLE SAYN-WITTGENSTEIN, the matriarch of the now mediatized dynasty of Sayn-Wittgenstein, which until the end of the eighteenth century exercised petty sovereign sway in Germany and which still retains many of its old time sovereign rights and prerogatives, has just celebrated her hundredth birthday at Lausanne, on the shores of Lake Geneva, in full enjoyment of mental and physical health, being still wonderfully alert and vigorous in spite of her age. She is indeed the only centenarian who for the last century or more has ever found a place in the pages of the Almanach de Gotha.

Born as a Princess Bariatinska, she was a girl of 10 and living with her father, a great dignitary of the Russian court, in the Winter palace at Petrograd when the great Decembrist insurrection took place in 1825 against Emperor Nicholas I. The vast plaza in front of the palace was thronged with insurgents and military mutineers, clamoring for his death, in order that his more popular elder brother, Grand Duke Constantine, might take his place on the throne. Nicholas knew that he could not rely on any of his troops, whose loyalty was wavering. It was only by a coup de théâtre that he could save the situation.

This coup was his sudden appearance, without a single attendant, in the midst of the crowd, which he dominated by his gigantic stature. Taking advantage of the profound silence caused by his dramatic advent upon the scene, he, in a voice the metallic tones of which could be heard far and wide, ordered the crowd to its knees. In a moment they had obeyed, instinctively, and the insurrection was at an end. Princess Leonille Sayn-Wittgenstein is the solitary survivor of this historic spectacle, which she witnessed from the windows of the Winter palace along with Czarina Alexandra, née Princess Charlotte of Prussia and sister of the late Emperor William of Germany, and who was so overwhelmed with anxiety for her husband that she had a stroke of paralysis, which affected her facial muscles for the remainder of her life.

This Decembrist insurrection of 1825 at Petrograd was not the only one that the aged princess has witnessed. She was in Paris, as a 14 year old girl, when the revolution of July broke out in 1830 which drove King Charles X. and his infant grandson, Henry V., afterwards known as the Comte de Chambord, into exile and resulted in the accession to the throne of the Duke of Orleans as King Louis Philippe. She was in Paris again when, eighteen years later, the revolution broke out and the republic was proclaimed, and, proceeding to Berlin, was a witness a few weeks later of the scene when Frederick William IV. of Prussia and his queen were obliged by the mob to stand on the balcony of their palace, the king bareheaded, in token of respect for the dead bodies of the insurgents as they were carried past in a never ending procession, killed by the bullets of his royal troops.

In 1870 the princess was at Coblenz, staying with her intimate friend, Empress Augusta, who, yearning above everything else for the restoration of peace, asked her if there was not one person whom she knew in France who would have the power, the prestige, and the authority to initiate in behalf of that nation negotiations for peace with Emperor William and Prince Bismarck at Versailles. The princess mentioned the famous Mgr. Dupanloup, bishop of Orleans.

Empress Augusta was delighted and obtained an intimation from Emperor William and from Bismarck at Versailles that they would welcome any steps that the bishop might take in the direction of peace and that he would be most acceptable as a negotiator.

Princess Sayn-Wittgenstein left Coblenz, accompanied to the railroad station by Empress Augusta and provided with all sorts of safe conducts, in order personally to urge the bishop of Orleans, then at Tours, to undertake the mission. But by the time the princess had reached Orleans she received a telegram from the empress stating that the bishop would no longer be acceptable as an emissary of peace, in view of the fact that a few days previously he had issued a pastoral letter inciting the members of his diocese, and indeed all patriotic Frenchmen, to resist to the very last the Prussians, whom he compared to the Huns—a designation that has stuck to them ever since—and likening old Emperor William to Attila, who in ancient days was known as the scourge of God.

For the last twenty-five or thirty years the princess has made her home at her beautiful place at Ouchy, near Lausanne, on the shores of Lake Geneva, where her villa, in the midst of its extensive grounds, has long been a bourne of crowned heads and imperial personages, few of them ever visiting Switzerland without calling on her. One of her oldest friends, who until the beginning of the war was a yearly guest under her roof at Ouchy, was the aged and English born Dowager Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, now 94, who is the only surviving granddaughter of King George III. of England.

The Austrian government has just been obliged to adjourn sine die and virtually to abandon the trial for high treason of Dr. Kramarzh, leader of the Young Czech party and perhaps the most popular and influential of Bohemian patriots and home rulers. The trial was brought to a sensational close through the sterling honesty and chivalry of Prince Thun, who, although a Bohemian Nationalist, nevertheless has been all along opposed to the Young Czechs and who, both as stadthalter of the kingdom of Bohemia and as prime minister, treated them with a considerable amount of severity.

It seems that the principal charge of high treason against Dr. Kramarzh was based on the copy of a letter seized among his papers which had been addressed by him to Prince Thun, when the latter was stadthalter of Bohemia, and in which he had assailed the prince's administration. The doctor would undoubtedly have been convicted, and probably shot, since he has always been an object of particular animosity to the authorities at Vienna.

But at the last moment Prince Thun suddenly and unexpectedly made his appearance in court, demanded to be shown the copy of the letter on which the charge of treason was founded, and its translation, and then, to the consternation of the state attorneys, produced the original of the letter, which he had preserved, and called attention to the fact that it was entirely different from the copy and that forgeries had been interpolated in the copy by the prosecution and reproduced in the translation, which entirely altered its sense and that transformed it from a perfectly innocent, though somewhat discourteous and brutally frank document into a highly treasonable communication. Thereupon, expressing his contempt for the dishonest methods of the government attorneys and of the judges, he announced that he intended to submit the entire shameful affair to the emperor in person. That ended the trial, then and there, and I understand that Dr. Kramarzh has been restored to liberty.

ASSESSMENT NOT EXCESSIVE.

Chicago, May 22.—[To the Friend of the People.]—We have just received notice of assessment for paving the alley between Washtenaw and Fairfield avenues from North avenue to Le Moyne street, assessed at $54.95 per lot of twenty-five feet. Is this amount not very excessive, as owners on both streets ought to share the expense? Further, why is it that a large tea company has only received an assessment of $15, they incidentally being in back of the movement? This alley is in no worse condition than the same alley in the block further south, which they do not intend to pave. Why this irregularity? D. F.

The assessment of $54.95 for a twenty-five foot lot is not excessive, in view of existing conditions. The cost of paving that portion of the half of the alley opposite each lot cannot be assessed solely against that lot in each case, as the two lots which lie along the alley at the north end thereof do not front on the alley, only their sides being adjacent thereto. Accordingly, only 30 per cent of the cost of paving the alley along the sides of these lots can be assessed against the lots, the balance of the cost being divided pro rata among the other property in the blocks. Four lots fronting on North avenue, but not abutting on the alley, are assessed only $15 each because of access through a small passageway at the rear end of the lots. As these lots do not have direct frontage on the alley to be paved they cannot be assessed at the frontage rate.

The alley between Lemoyne street, Hirsch street, Fairfield and Washtenaw avenues will not be paved until 1917, as the proceedings are not as far advanced as those for the paving of the alley between North avenue and Lemoyne street. EDWARD J. GLACKIN, Superintendent of Special Assessments.

OPENING CRYSTAL STREET.

Chicago, May 21.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly advise me if the alley between Robey and Lincoln streets, just north of Division street, is to be extended to Lincoln street in connection with the extension of Crystal street.

M. KAPLAN,
1914 West Division street.

The opening of Crystal street, from Robey to Lincoln streets, has proceeded to the point where the assessment has been confirmed and the money is in collection for payment of land taken. No proceedings have been started to open the east and west alley in the same block.

M. J. FAHERTY,

WIDENING SEVENTY-FIRST STREET.

Chicago, May 21.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I would like to know what is being done about the widening of Seventy-first street. E. W. MARTIN, 7049 Kimbark avenue.

The proposed widening of Seventy-first street from Cottage Grove avenue to Woodlawn avenue—the present street being 38 feet in width—is receiving attention at the hands of the board of local improvements. It is impossible to widen the street by condemning any of the land of the Oakwoods cemetery, lying to the north, and in order to widen to the south it will be necessary to condemn several buildings of considerable value. At the present time we are studying the problem to determine whether or not the benefits to property because of the widening will equal or exceed the award which must be paid for property taken or damaged.

C. D. HILL, Engineer,
Board of Local Improvements.

MAY HAVE DIVORCE SET ASIDE.

Chicago, May 17.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a man resident of Illinois go out of the state after abandoning wife and minor children and get a divorce without notifying me? 2. Will it be legal in Illinois? 3. How long a residence is required for divorce in Kansas? ADA.

1. To secure a divorce, there would be notice sent to your last address by mail and published in a Kansas paper. If such was not done, the divorce may be set aside.

2. If the wife was not at fault, the divorce is invalid in any event.

3. One year is required. The wife should have the Kansas decree set aside. She might also sue the husband for nonsupport.

CAN RECOVER DAMAGES TO PROPERTY.

Chicago, May 19.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—My neighbor has two vacant lots adjoining my building. They are about three feet below grade. I hear that his intention is to fill the lots with earth to the level of the grade. Could I compel him to put a retaining wall on the line to prevent the ground from falling or washing with rain onto my lot? Kindly advise me what steps I can take? F. N. J.

You can recover any damages that you sustain by his changing the drainage or causing earth to wash onto your lot.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

DOUBTS SECURITY LEAGUE'S HONESTY.

Hudson, Mich., May 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Having spent the winter in Washington and attended all the sessions of the National Security league, I had a chance to analyze the people behind the movement as to character and vocation. I find that they are men who in their own communities never have been known as prominent in the development of that which would be best for their respected communities, have never concerned themselves in the welfare or never been allied with uplifting or upbuilding of a nation or a community. I cannot help but believe that the movement is created and sustained by men who are anxious for an opportunity to enrich themselves during this war spasm.

THE TRIBUNE'S continued disapproval of anything and everything that President Wilson does has become so ridiculous as to have lost its force.

Senator William Alden Smith made a campaign based upon the abuse of President Wilson, and you know what the great peace advocate, Henry Ford, did to him.

I do not believe that you can stampede nor abuse the thinking public into creating a pork barrel at least fifty times larger than the one you spent so much time in berating.

If you will advocate "preparedness without profit," you might lose a great number of your noisy followers, but you would gain the respect of the best thinking people and the best citizens of every community. EDWARD FRENSDORF.

HEADED THE RIGHT WAY.

Barry, Ill., May 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I believe every one here desires better military preparedness and practically every one is in favor of universal military training. R. H. MAIN.

ALTRUISM AND FARM VALUES.

Chicago, May 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—You have criticized the president for his altruism in taking a stand against Germany for drowning American men, women, and children on the high seas, yet in your "Mexico and False Altruism" you assert that the New York World's argument against intervention in Mexico is in fact a strong one in favor of it, because it would result in advancing the value of farm and ranch property in that country. If it is altruism to save noncombatant lives on the high seas from the incredible barbarity of a so-called civilized power, what is it when you advocate spending the lives of American soldiers and American money to advance the value of real estate of Mexicans? Of what concern is the value of their real estate to this country? S.

NAVY LEAGUE RETURNS THANKS.

Chicago, May 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I want to express to you the gratitude that those of us who are interested in the progress of the Navy League in the middle west feel over the generous contribution of the amount of Ford's advertising bill to our work. The stand which THE TRIBUNE has taken in the matter cannot but be a source of the deepest gratification to all those who are earnestly working for the cause of national defense.

FRANCE WANTED WAR.

Chicago, May 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your editorial on "Foreign Policy" you incline to the view that "this war was brought on by the German autocracy deliberately and criminally." In reading a book entitled "How Diplomats Make War," by a British statesman, recently published, I find on page 206 the following quotation from the Nouvelle Revue, "one of the most prominent Paris reviews," which had been read in parliament in July, 1911: "We intend to have war. After forty years of a heavily armed peace we can at least utter this opinion, without the serious readers of a French review shaking in their shoes. . . . France is ready to strike and to conquer as she was not ready forty years ago, and as she will not be in four or five years to come, owing to the annual divergent rates of the birth rate in each country. . . We, the attacking party, will have arranged with England that its fleet . . . will have followed . . the remains of the whole German navy into German waters."

In hundreds of pages of this illuminating book there follows quotation after quotation from the leading statesmen and journals of the entente countries some ten years before the war, full of hostility and warlike preparations against Germany.

Germany, indeed, was "beset on every side and locked in with a ring of steel," as you say, but the ring of steel was not of its forging.

Will the American public mind never learn to discriminate between actualities and nightmares? Can even you who have been distinguished above all other newspapers by far-seeing and fair-minded editorials, can even you take seriously the panic mongering lunacy of a plot to attack America, laid by a nation which was no less "beset on every side and locked in with a ring of steel" before the war than she is now?

WOMEN SET TIME LIMIT ON WILSON; THEN LOOK OUT!

Threat to Use Suffrage Power in "Free" States Hurled at Democrats.

The Woman's party, to be organized June 5, 6, and 7 at the Blackstone theater by the Congressional Union for Woman's Suffrage, will give President Wilson and the present Democratic party until Sept. 1 to get busy and submit the constitutional amendment for suffrage to the states.

If there is nothing doing and the judiciary committee of the house fails to act affirmatively by that time, look out for the women voters in the twelve "free" states and what they will do to the Democratic electoral tickets in those commonwealths.

View of Woman Leader.

This is the political situation as it looks to the women who are in the lead of the Woman's party movement as it was outlined yesterday by Miss Doris Stevens, national chairman of organization of the Congressional union.

The Woman's party convention will open at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Monday, June 5, and continue until June 7, the day on which the Republican and Progressive national conventions assemble. It will perfect a party organization and name an executive committee to sit in judgment upon President Wilson and congress in plenty of time to get action at the polls in November, leaders say.

No Pink Tea Affair.

"The Blackstone theater will be the absolute center of political interest that night in Chicago," suggested Miss Stevens, and she knows who one of the most conspicuous speakers is to be.

"Get it out of your head that this convention is to be a pink tea or a sewing circle session," Miss Stevens said. "The biggest politics involved in the national situation is developing around this convention, and what these women will do is being watched by every 'big' politician, Republican and Democrat, who is playing the national and congressional game."

Here Is Her Plan.

"What's it all about and what are you trying to do?" Miss Stevens was asked.

"Simply this and nothing more: We believe that the quickest and most practical political route to full suffrage is by submission by congress to the states of the constitutional amendment carrying full suffrage. We have a pledged majority of the judiciary committee of the house, but the Democratic leaders will not permit the committee to meet for a vote. We know that President Wilson and the Democratic organization can force this vote, and we are holding the majority party responsible.

"Now, in twelve states, including Illinois, the women vote for president. The women who go into this party break all partisan ties. They agree to go as a unit when the time comes. We believe that we hold the balance of power in the coming election. We expect to dictate where ninety-one electoral votes will be recorded."

MILWAUKEE ELECTRIC LEGAL BILL MOUNTS TO $390,000.

Law Firms Finally Tell Judge Landis Amounts They Expect for Sale and Reorganization Services.

After a week of hesitation attorneys representing the various interests in the sale and reorganization of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railroad yesterday stepped forward in Judge Landis' court and told the fees which they expect to receive for their services. The total from six of them amounts to $390,000, in addition to $30,000 already paid.

Judge Landis asked for a statement. The list follows:

Isaac Mayer of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt, $25,000 for services rendered prior to 1908 and another $25,000 since that time.

Frank McCulloch, $50,000 in addition to $30,000 already received.

John P. Wilson, $35,000.

E. S. Osler of Toronto, Canada, $50,000.

Lessing Rosenthal, $65,000. [His firm has already received $10,000.]

Jacob Newman, $150,000.

The firm of Miller, Mack & Fairchild of Milwaukee has a claim of $50,000, W. W. Curley of Chicago $25,000, and Bloodgood, Kemper & Bloodgood, Milwaukee, about $50,000.

Judge Landis said he would dispose of the case next Wednesday.

THE CONVENTION VORTEX

Notes on Things Being Done and Those Doing Them in the Big Campaign Game.

L. C. Disney of Oklahoma, one of the delegates for Roosevelt, gave out the story that Fairbanks is about to quit in the colonel's favor and that the ticket will be Roosevelt and Fairbanks. The story was abruptly and thoroughly denied at the swarming Indiana headquarters.

H. L. Remmel of Little Rock, the successor of Gen. Powell Clayton on the national committee from Arkansas, got to town with information that the Arkansas delegation is peaceably inclined and ready to vote for any candidate who can show he can win.

Herbert S. Hadley, Roosevelt floor leader in 1912, was defeated for the chairmanship of the Missouri delegation in caucus at St. Louis Tuesday by a vote of 21 to 7. Otto Stifel, millionaire brewer and a backer of the old Federal Baseball league, is chairman. At that, Mr. Hadley may get a dozen votes from his state on the first ballot for president.

Mayor Thompson's committee that is arranging entertainment for the delegates and alternates was in session last night at the Hotel La Salle. The complete program will be announced tomorrow.

Ex-Senator James A. Hemenway, one of the Indiana big four, stayed a few hours at Fairbanks headquarters and disappeared with the word that he would be back Sunday. He had a hurry call east.

A president will be nominated at a mock Republican national convention at the Chicago Hebrew institute, 1258 West Taylor street, June 5. One thousand delegates will participate.

Tickets of admission to the Auditorium theater for the four days of the Progressive convention numbering 17,680, four for every seat, were delivered to Moose headquarters under police guard. They were immediately placed in safety deposit vaults to insure against ticket scalpers getting hold of them.

This salutation to delegates to the Republican and Progressive national conventions was adopted at a banquet of the "States societies," an auxiliary of the mayor's convention entertainment committee, at the Hotel La Salle last night.

The committee is composed of Chicagoans who were formerly residents of other states. They will meet all delegates to the convention at railroad and steamship stations, escort them to hotels, and thereafter provide them with entertainment.

There were more than 350 men and women, from every state in the union, at the banquet.

SHERMAN CHIEFS FOR CONVENTION BATTLE PICKED

Mayor Heads a Committee Named by Brundage to Direct Senator's Contest.

Organization of the Sherman convention forces was perfected yesterday with the naming of E. J. Brundage of the general executive committee to direct the battle for Illinois' favorite son. The committee is composed of Mayor William Hale Thompson, chairman; Charles G. Dawes, Nelson Lampert, E. S. Conway, Morton D. Hull, Fred W. Upham, W. B. Austin, and Edward Clifford.

"This committee," said Mr. Brundage, "typifies the general harmony movement behind Senator Sherman. All factions are united on Sherman, whose stock is going up by leaps every day. This feeling that Sherman can unite the party and bring back into it the Progressives is spreading throughout the country. It is particularly noticeable in the middle west, where the senator is better known."

Shanahan Committee Busy.

Representative David E. Shanahan, who heads the committee named to meet the delegates from other states as they arrive in Chicago, had his committee together at the Union League club. It was arranged to have all Illinois Sherman delegates come to Chicago not later than Sunday before the convention.

They will be put up at the headquarters at the Congress hotel, where final instructions will be given to every man who has the Sherman idea in his heart. The qualifications of Senator Sherman for the presidency will be presented to every delegate.

See Eastern Men Out of It.

Local Sherman boosters look to see eastern candidates eliminated in the early balloting. On the assumption that neither Roosevelt nor Hughes will be nominated—the only assumption that makes the Sherman people sure of their ground—it is their opinion that in the final showdown the contest will be between candidates west of the Allegheny mountains.

"That's what makes Sherman the strong candidate he is today," said Walter Rosenfield of Rock Island, Sherman's down-state manager. "Chicago will see the greatest demonstration ever accorded a candidate when we get going convention week, and I sincerely believe that Lawrence Y. Sherman will be the nominee."

The Encyclopaedia Britannica has an amazing history. Outside of the English Bible and Shakespeare it has been the most widely sold work ever published in any language.

No other work, in any language, has been continually published for a century and a half. On no other work have such enormous sums been spent for editorial preparation and for articles. No other work in the world's history has ever enlisted the services of so many famous men.

Of no other work of reference have more than a million sets with a total of more than twenty million volumes been sold.

The eleven editions have been read and used, it is safe to say, by more than 100 million people; and possibly two or three times this number.

This is history. Still more astonishing has been the success of the latest edition. Although the original outlay for the latest edition (a million and a half of dollars) was such that the price per set ranged from $125 to $250, more than 75,000 copies have already been sold; that is

The Huge Outlay Involved

(The eleven editions which have appeared at regular intervals throughout the last 148 years have cost more to produce than any other ten works (of reference or anything else) in any language and more than any twenty other works published in English

The English Dictionary of National Biography has now reached its seventieth volume. The German Encyclopaedia of Ersch and Gruber, begun more than a century ago and still incomplete, has passed its 99th volume. The New English Dictionary, still incomplete, has cost a huge sum, though largely a labor of love. The Century Dictionary, the greatest work of its kind yet published in America, has cost to date more than a million dollars; and there are other large works of reference in French, German, Spanish and Russian.

And the Encyclopaedia Britannica has cost more than the ten largest of these together.)

the public has already paid $14,000,000

A Long Sweep of Time

The beginnings of the Encyclopaedia Britannica go back to a world which would seem to us very strange—a time when there were few stage coaches even in England and very few in America; when the first modest steam engines of Watt were beginning to make England the great coal-producing country of the earth, and her industrial empire was being founded upon the discovery of a way to smelt iron with this same coal.

George III was King and the greater Pitt—Lord Chatham—was Prime Minister. George Washington, Jefferson, John Adams, were then little known leaders of the English Colonies which sparsely settled the eastern shore of America. The only American of European fame was Benjamin Franklin.

Link-boys with torches still lighted the gentry through the murky streets of London. A candle was the most brilliant light that any king in Europe could boast. Most people in the Colonies wore homespun clothes. Terrible epidemics were frequent; sanitation was almost unknown and highway robberies abounded in all the countries of Europe.

A voyage to America required from six to ten weeks, or more; shipwrecks were many and a great number died en route from scurvy and other diseases.

The Golden Age

The Encyclopaedia Britannica, in its 148 years of existence, has seen and chronicled almost all the great inventions and discoveries which have made the modern world what it is. It was born two years after Watt took out his first patents for the steam engine, and while the spinning jenny and power loom were being perfected. Its successive editions have described the rise of England's great manufacturing industry and then that of Europe and America; the first locomotives of Stevenson; the first steamboats of Fulton; the first steamships to cross the Atlantic; the building of the Great Eastern; the laying of the first Atlantic cable; Whitney's invention of the cotton gin; Elias Howe's sewing machine; McCormick's reapers and mowers; Sir Humphry Davy's electric light and Faraday's momentous discovery of machine-made electricity; the first dynamos; the first electric motors; Morse's telegraph; Bell's telephone; the development of the modern piano and the mechanical piano-player; the phonograph and its wonders; the wireless telegraph and wireless telephone; the motor car; the aeroplane; the multiplex printing machines which grind out newspapers at the rate of 100,000 an hour—in brief, all the modern marvels of human ingenuity which have banished famine from civilized lands and made this the richest and most interesting period of human history.

The Britannica's Part

The Encyclopaedia Britannica has chronicled all this progress, been contemporaneous with it. But it has been more than that; it has deeply contributed to this progress. We know that far back it was the reading of articles on Electricity and Chemistry in the Fourth Edition of the Britannica which turned the mind of Faraday to scientific research. It was the articles of Thomas Thomson in the Third Edition which made known the ideas of John Dalton which were the foundation of modern chemistry. The ideas of Malthus and of James Mill and many other great thinkers first found popular exposition in the Britannica. All the notable men of science, scholars, and men of letters from the days of Sir Walter Scott and Playfair, Thos. Young and Lord Jeffrey down to the present time have been contributors to the successive editions. And many of its longer articles have subsequently been published in book form.

Many of the most brilliant writers the English race has produced, Lord Macaulay, DeQuincey, Huxley, Matthew Arnold, the poet Swinburne, Lord Morley, Lord Bryce, Robert Louis Stevenson, and Sir Leslie Stephen have contributed notable articles.

The Britannica has been and still remains not merely a vast repository of knowledge, but it has a distinguished place in English literature as well. And never was this true in a higher degree than in the new Eleventh Edition, which has brought together contributions of more than 1500 of the best-informed minds now living. Yet with all its erudition, its scholarship, its brilliant literary style the Britannica is none the less first and foremost a practical work for everyday use by the busy men and women of to-day.

LETTER BOOMING T. R. SENT EVERY G. O. P. DELEGATE

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—George Von L. Meyer, chairman of the national Roosevelt Republican committee, sent a letter today to every delegate to the Republican national convention urging him to vote for the nomination of Col. Roosevelt.

He declared that all of the Republican candidates, whether outspoken or silent, were seeking to impress the country and the party with the idea that if chosen they would follow ways blazed by the colonel. Mr. Meyer thinks that there is food for thought for every delegate in the fact.

"The Roosevelt republican committee," said Mr. Meyer, "is rapidly completing its organization in the states and finds everywhere enthusiasm and support even beyond its expectation. The committee's membership has more than doubled in the last three or four days.

"The committee has already been assured of support for Mr. Roosevelt from many delegates not heretofore classed as Roosevelt men."

Meyer Raps Wilson.

Mr. Meyer's letter to the delegates says:

"For three years weakness and irresolution have characterized our government. The Democratic administration has failed to protect the lives of our citizens on the high seas or to hold accountable their destroyers. Disorder and rapine on the Mexican border were ignored until they culminated in actual invasion of our country; then met with an insufficient and ill equipped, though gallant military force, so inadequate and ill supplied as to risk humiliation and disaster. Belligerent nations, convinced of the administration's timidity and heedless of its verbal protests, have openly disregarded international law and our rights as neutrals.

Roosevelt Man of Hour.

"In its emergency our country turn to the Republican party for restoration and guidance. It will accept Republican leadership if real leadership is offered, but will turn away again from mere opportunists.

"Theodore Roosevelt, without official title, without a vestige of official power, is by common consent in this supreme hour the spokesman of our Americanism.

Hughes Men Confident.

For Hughes	225
For Roosevelt	125
Uncertain or for favorite sons	435

The tabulation was made by those who participated in the preliminary conference with G. O. P. State Chairman Tanner, held yesterday to lay the plans for a big pro-Hughes demonstration.

CROOKS ARE COMING

But So Are Detectives of Other Cities, Who Will Help Make Chicago Safe in Convention Week.

With the coming of delegates and visitors from all over the country to attend the Republican convention there has been the usual influx of pickpockets and confidence men.

In a roundup begun yesterday by a squad formed for that purpose, four alleged pickpockets were arrested. A fifth was captured by his intended victim after a struggle on a car on Wabash avenue.

One hundred detectives from other cities who are acquainted with the pickpockets in their communities will arrive in Chicago to assist the police here.

DENEEN OFFERS TEMPTING BAIT

Dangles State's Attorney Nomination to Brundage Men for Mayor's Scalp.

An "inside" report on the dickering between the Deneen, Thompson, and Brundage factions on the country chairmanship deadlock became available yesterday. It shows that the bone of contention is the candidate for state's attorney on the Republican ticket this fall and that the Deneen forces have dangled this bait before the Brundage men in the effort to leave the city hall out in the cold.

Three Proposals to Deneen.

Three propositions were put up to the Deneen men by the Brundage forces, the last of which contemplated taking the city hall forces into the deal.

As soon as this was considered by the Deneen men they broached the subject of the county ticket. They went so far as to offer Brundage the state's attorneyship for one of his men if he would help do up the city hall.

Hebel's Name Offered.

Oscar Hebel, who is Brundage's man for some big job, was slated as acceptable by the Deneen men. They said they would agree to Hebel for state's attorney, provided the Thompson people were kicked out in the breaking of the county chairmanship deadlock. This was turned down.

A tentative understanding has been reached by the Brundage and Thompson forces that Deneen cannot have the big prosecuting job but that he shall be declared in on the other places on the slate.

HURRY UP CALL TO OYSTER BAY FOR T. R. CHIEFS

Formal announcement by Col. Theodore Roosevelt that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for president is expected to be made at Oyster Bay tomorrow.

A hurry up call was received at Chicago headquarters of the Roosevelt Nonpartisan league yesterday requesting that a Chicago delegation be sent on the next train to participate in the meeting at the Roosevelt home Saturday at which he will be formally asked to become a Republican candidate.

The Chicagoans will have to take fast trains this morning to make connections, and up to a late hour last night managers were scurrying about getting together a body of Roosevelt boosters to make the trip.

Repetition of 1912.

The Saturday meeting with Roosevelt is expected to duplicate the developments at the time the seven governors in 1912 waited on Col. Roosevelt and informed him that the country was behind him and wanted him to run against Taft for the nomination.

In reply to the seven governors Col. Roosevelt formally threw his hat into the ring and the scrap was on.

Something like this, it is anticipated, will occur at Oyster Bay tomorrow, and following the colonel's clearly announced intention to become a candidate, he will leave for his third invasion of the middle west within the last month.

Goes to Kansas City.

He will go to Kansas City to make the Memorial day address and will be in Chicago for a few hours on Monday. The local rooters are planning for a noisy demonstration.

BRYAN BOOMING FOLK FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Insistance on Having Voice in Slate Making May Stir Up Democrats at St. Louis.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Just as the Democratic leaders were sitting back content with the prospect that the party convention at St. Louis would be staged with no untoward incident, up bobs a vice presidential boom that is said to have the O. K. of William Jennings Bryan.

It is reported that Mr. Bryan will go to St. Louis with a demand that the Bryan following in the Democratic party be given representation on the ticket in Joseph W. Folk of Missouri.

It now is reported that Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, is the administration choice for vice president. Friends of Vice President Marshall learned about this, and showing their teeth declared that there would be trouble if Mr. Marshall were thrown into the discard.

If Mr. Folk should persist in his candidacy, and Mr. Bryan should go the limit for him, there would doubtless be staged at St. Louis one of those rare old rough and tumbles for which Democratic conventions are famous.

POLITICAL NOTES BY WIRE.

MILWAUKEE—Eleven delegates, comprising the Philipp faction of Wisconsin's quota to the Republican convention, announced their first vote would be for Justice Hughes.

PORTLAND, ORE.—R. E. Williams, Republican national committeeman, left for Chicago to try to have Oregon's five Progressive convention delegates seated as alternates in the Republican convention.

BURLINGTON, Vt.—Vermont Democrats elected eight delegates to St. Louis and indorsed the Wilson administration.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Vice President Marshall says it doesn't make any difference whom the Republicans nominate.

NEGROES QUERY JUDICIAL RACERS ON PENDING SUIT

Want All Candidates to Give Views on Film Case Now Before Court.

Every candidate for a judicial office at the election of June 5 has been sent a letter by an organization of Negroes called the "Nonpartisan Progressive Voters' league of Chicago," in wh'ch the candidates are asked to state their opinions on a number of subjects. One of them is the moving picture film "The Birth of a Nation," the disposal of which is now pending in the courts.

Here's the Letter.

The letter reads:

"Esteemed Sir: Owing to the short time intervening between this and election day, June 5 next, the committee appointed by our association will perhaps be unable to call upon you in person, hence this letter.

"Heretofore and since the organization of the Nonpartisan Progressive Voters' league we have submitted to each candidate for judicial honors three quest'ons:

"First, do you, as a citizen, believe in the letter and the spirit of the civil rights act of the state of Illinois?

"Second, would you, in the event of your election, consider the application of a colored person for a position of court bailiff, master in chancery, or court stenographer upon the same basis and no other than that of any other applicant, and without regard to color?

On "Birth of a Nation."

"Third, do you believe that the public exhibition of picture films and plays such as 'The Birth of a Nation' is beneficial to the community?

"If you will answer these questions over your own signature the committee which meets next Saturday will be pleased to consider your answers and your indorsement for election at the June election; or if you prefer and will write the undersigned a committee will gladly call upon you, designating place, date, and hour."

The letter was signed by Beauregard F. Moseley, president, and Charles B. Travis, secretary.

CATHOLICS PASS LIE TO MITCHEL IN CHARITY ROW

New York Priests Deny Mayor's Charges in Inquiry on Telephone Tapping.

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—The Catholic priests whom Mayor Mitchel charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and wreck his administration as it applied especially to the charities department entered their case into the records of the Thompson committee today. They made general denial of the mayor's conspiracy allegations.

They retorted by charging to his charities commissioner, working with other influences, an effort to secularize the charitable institutions in general, Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish alike.

It appeared from the testimony of the Rev. Joseph P. Dineen, secretary to Auxiliary Bishop Hayes of the New York archdiocese, that one of the tapped telephone conversations, which the mayor said took place between Father Dineen and Dr. D. C. Potter actually occurred between Father Dineen and Mgr. John J. Dunn, chancellor of the archdiocese.

Charge "Charity Trust" Plan.

It had been maintained by the administration that only three telephone wires were tapped by the police commissioner's order in connection with the charities investigation—those of the Rev. William B. Farrel, Dr. D. C. Potter, and his son, Dean Potter.

Mgr. Dunn declared that "the only conspiracy thus far developed is the one in which he (the mayor) figured so prominently, and in whose interest he labored so untiringly and lawlessly." He asserted that it was an "open secret that a charity trust supported by the Rockefeller interests, the Sage Foundation, and others has only one aim, the secularizing of all charitable institutions, which the church will not stand for."

Mgr. Dunn admitted mention of "one hundred"—not dollars, though that was the implication—in a conversation with Dr. Potter. He added that he mentioned it as an "inspiration to seize an opportunity"—as "bait," which "they grabbed as fish would rise to bait."

Offer of Bribe Is Denied.

Father Farrell denied the conversation in which it appeared he had promised to pay $50 to Dr. Potter to get the latter out of the jurisdiction of the Strong commission. He admitted authorship of the alleged criminally libelous pamphlets in the charities controversy. He said he let up in his attack on the mayor on the latter's promise to "protect" the charitable institutions and did not renew it until he found that "the mayor lied."

As far as the alleged conspiracy with Mgr. Dunn was concerned, he said, he did not know the monsignor until March 12, when they met at the Strong hearing.

The Rev. Dr. James Higgins, supervisor of Catholic charities of Brooklyn, whose name figured in the mayor's recital of the tapped telephone conversations, denied the essentials of the conversations attributed to him and charged that the mayor was lying.

Dr. Potter denied trying to evade service of a subpoena of the Strong commission.

ALD. MURRAY ON WARPATH.

Starts Investigation of Use of His Name in Alleged Collection of $100 License "Fee."

Ald. Carl T. Murray has begun an investigation of the use of his name in the alleged collection to $100 said to have been paid for services in bringing about the restoration of a saloon license. William S. Dolatkoski of 1260 West Madison street, charged he paid that sum to Fred Bruder, a West Madison street politician for the alderman. Ald. Murray said he had sent word for Bruder to come and see him so he could find out "what he has to say for himself." He said his name had been used in at least one previous case of the sort.

WOMEN'S CLUBS FACE A SPLIT ON DEFENSE ISSUE

BY ANNIE HINRICHSEN.

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—The issue of preparedness may disrupt the General Federation of Women's Clubs. A statement made today by Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the federation, was construed by many of the delegates as the official expression of the administration's attitude.

In dismissing the delegates at the afternoon session Mrs. Pennybacker, referring to the reports of foreign clubs, said, "We, as women, must work for a universal peace, harmony, and sisterhood." The auditorium echoed with cheers.

The discussion that took place later in the headquarters of the various states indicated that a declaration for peace would be immediately followed by open war. The peace and preparedness advocates have been officially silent, and the conservative leaders are trying to eliminate discussion of the subject.

Any Action May Cause Split.

An attempt to place the federation on record as favoring peace at any price or adequate preparedness would result, it is said, in the withdrawal of many clubs.

In her annual address tomorrow Mrs. Pennybacker will urge the women of the United States to take the first step in a struggle for internationalism by calling a great congress of the women of the Americas for 1920. She will recommend, she said tonight, that "under proper conditions the United States government be asked to help finance such a congress."

The coördination of the efforts of the women of North and South America in behalf of world peace, Mrs. Pennybacker believes, will go far toward accomplishing that end. In line with this idea Mrs. Pennybacker at today's session approved the report of the executive committee recommending affiliation of the federation with the National Council of Women.

Keen Fight for Presidency.

Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, candidate for president of the federation, is chairman of the peace committee of the federation. Her supporters have used her position as a campaign asset and the followers of Mrs. Sneath, her opponent, are using it as an argument against Mrs. Cowles' election.

"The committee is a peace committee in name only," said a conservative leader, who is for peace in the federation and preparedness in the government. "It was organized long before we thought of war and was merely a section of the education department."

There were no new developments today in the race for president. The rumors continue to name Mrs. George Bass of Chicago as the dark horse candidate. The supporters of Mrs. Cowles are confident of victory. Mrs. Sneath's campaign managers are saying little.

It was officially announced tonight that Illinois has the largest delegation, while New York is second.

Many Women Kept from Hall.

Five thousand club women were refused admittance to the Seventh regiment armory this morning when the general federation met for the first business session of the convention. At 8 o'clock women were standing in line before the one available entrance. When the meeting adjourned at noon the women coming out met those who were trying to get in.

State presidents, prominent federation officials and delegates were kept in the corridor outside. There were seats in the convention hall for all delegates, but the one entrance used was too narrow to admit the crowds.

Half of the seats were vacant at the afternoon session, while scores of women patrolled the block in which the armory stands. Only delegates and alternates were allowed to enter.

The meeting tomorrow morning will be held in Carnegie hall. The clubwomen who have been able to get into the armory say that speeches cannot be heard in all parts of the room.

PEACE FEVER GRIPS CAPITAL

Wilson Interested in Promoting Plan to Avoid Future Wars.

LEWIS A NEW FACTOR.

issues arising from the war have been favorable to the allies, and many persons are convinced that he sympathizes quite as deeply with the British cause as does his mentor, Col. House.

The president is being subjected to great pressure to invoke mediation on his own responsibility for the political capital to be gained by such a move on the eve of his campaign for reëlection. Former Secretary of State Bryan has urged Mr. Wilson to take this step for the confessed purpose of gaining the votes of the pacifists in the Republican and Progressive parties.

For this reason it is interesting to note that one caller on the president carried away the impression that Mr. Wilson is likely to propose mediation within the near future. The president intimated his conviction that the triumph of either the allies or the Teutonic powers would not be likely to promote the best interest of the whole world and would be only the harbinger of another great war. He is inclined to the belief that if the war ends in a deadlock, all the belligerents will be ready to enter upon some plan for preserving the peace of the world.

Inasmuch as the status of the war now partakes of the nature of a deadlock, the president, following out this line of reasoning, might conclude within the near future that the time is ripe to press for peace.

Taft on the Job.

Former President Taft arrived tonight to preside over the sessions of the Leaue to Enforce Peace. The platform of the league follows:

"It is desirable for the United States to join a league of nations binding the signatories to the following:

"First—All justiciable questions arising between the signatory powers not settled by negotiations shall, subject to the limitations of treaties, be submitted to a judicial tribunal for hearing and judgment, both upon the merits and upon any issue as to its jurisdiction of the question.

"Second—All other questions arising between the signatories and not settled by negotiation shall be submitted to a council of conciliation for hearing, consideration, and recommendation.

"Third—The signatory powers shall jointly use forthwith both their economic and military forces against any one of their number that goes to war, or commits acts of hostility, against another of the signatories before any question arising shall be submitted as provided in the foregoing.

"Fourth—Conferences between the signatory powers shall be held from time to time to formulate and codify rules of international law, which unless some signatory shall signify its dissent within a stated period shall thereafter govern in the decisions of the judicial tribunal mentioned in article 1."

With the mediation fever gripping the capital, Senator Lewis introduced in the senate a resolution requesting the president, unless incompatible with the public interest, to suggest to warring nations of Europe that the United States undertake mediation.

The resolution, which will lie on the table for discussion later, would authorize the president to propose that the belligerents declare a truce and that each of them select a neutral country as its representative on a board of arbitration thus created; each selected neutral would name one member of the board over which the president or his representative would preside as referee.

AS BERLIN SEES IT.

BERLIN, May 25.—A wireless dispatch from the United States giving the substance of President Wilson's speech at Charlotte, N. C., in which he referred to the possibility of American mediation in the war, is given the place of honor in the morning papers.

Though definitely stated nowhere, there is little doubt that Germany is willing to consider a tender of good offices to inaugurate peace negotiations.

There is equally little doubt that the great masses of the people, aside from the professional hotspurs in the newspaper offices, would willingly see America in the rôle of peace intermediary.

OLD AMUSEMENT LAW UNCHANGED IN M. E. CHURCH

Negro Delegates Oppose Modification—Union Seminary Defeats Its Foes.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 25.—The Methodist general conference refused today, by a vote of 435 to 360, to remove from the discipline of the church the clause which provides the penalty of expulsion for church members who play cards, dance, and attend the theater.

Before the vote was taken a rule was adopted cutting off all debate except brief statements by Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse, who favored elimination of the clause, and Frank Neff of Tulsa, Okla., who spoke for the majority report advising that no change be made.

Wanted Warning Only.

Dr. Day proposed the substitution of a warning which he characterized as the "strongest pronouncement the Methodist Episcopal church has ever made to the world on this question." Mr. Neff insisted that removal of the prohibition was equivalent to weakening the position of the church.

The foreign and colored delegates voted almost solidly against any change, while the principal support came from the cities.

More stringent regulations regarding the remarriage by Methodist ministers of divorced persons are provided in a report submitted by the committee on the state of the church.

Against Divorce Marriages.

The church has never recognized any cause for divorce except adultery, and has always forbidden remarriage in any case where a divorced wife or husband is living. By the proposed change a minister who performs such a marriage is guilty of maladministration and is to be held answerable to his conference.

The total abstinence by Methodist church members from the use of tobacco is urged in another report.

Polygamy and the social evil are condemned by the committee on temperance and public morals. "Parents and others charged with care of the young ought to give careful consideration to the proper education of our youth to the end that there may be health of body, purity of mind, and righteousness of life," the report concludes.

UNION SEMINARY WINS.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 25.—[Special.]—Backers of the Union and Auburn (N. Y.) seminaries won another victory today in the Presbyterian general assembly.

The expected clash on the floor over efforts to take endowments estimated at $6,000,000 from the Union seminary for distribution among poorer seminaries and attempts to bring about a reversal of the decision of the assembly at its Rochester sessions last year with regard to assembly jurisdiction over faculties, was avoided.

This was accomplished by a resolution put through ordering the appointment of a committee of seven to investigate the entire situation. These appointments will be made by the moderator, who is friendly to New York.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Recessed at 5:05 p. m. to 11 a. m. Friday.

HOUSE.

Met at 11 a. m.

Adopted joint resolution making minimum sped of fleet submarines authorized last year nineteen knots per hour instead of twenty knots, because of contract difficulties.

Republican members of naval committee submitted minority report attacking pending naval bill as inadequate and favoring two dreadnaughts and six battle cruisers.

Adjourned at 5:59 p. m. to 11 a. m. Friday.

FEDERAL OFFICIAL ACCUSED OF LOBBYING AGAINST BILL

Assistant of Postmaster General Burleson Summoned to Answer Charges Before Senate Committee

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—The senate postoffice committee today requested Postmaster General Burleson to direct Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Blakeslee to appear before it Saturday to explain the department's propaganda against the postoffice appropriation bill pending in the senate.

During the last few days congressmen and senators have received floods of letters and telegrams urging them to abandon the recommendations of the senate committee and to support the postmaster general and his assistants with respect to railway mail pay and the rural carriers' service.

The committee today came into possession of a letter sent out by Postmaster Springsteen of Indianapolis on May 19 at the direction of Mr. Blakeslee, urging postmasters throughout Indiana to see that congress is bombarded with protests against the senate bill and in favor of Mr. Burleson. Without waiting for a resolution of inquiry the committee summoned Mr. Blakeslee. If the request is refused, Senator Bankhead served notice, he would get an order from the senate not only for the fourth assistant but for the postmaster general himself.

FAVORS REGAINING LANDS.

House Passes Bill to Restore Holdings Valued at $30,000,000 to Federal Government.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—The Oregon and California land grant bill, designed to restore to the federal government about 3,200,000 acres of land valued at about $30,000,000, passed the house without substantial amendment today by a vote of 186 to 6. It now goes to the senate.

Hurt in Bleacher Collapse.

Appleton, Wis., May 25.—While the high school chorus was rehearsing at the armory last night for a music festival, two sections of the bleacher seats collapsed. Several persons were injured.

FAVOR $3 A DAY MINIMUM WAGE FOR ALL WORK IN U. S.

House Committee Reports Bill Giving Government Employes That Sum as Starter.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Three dollars a day is the lowest wage that should be paid for any kind of labor in the United States, according to the house committee on labor.

At the present time more than 120,000 government employés receive less than $3 a day. To give them a wage of at least that amount the committee today reported to the house the Nolan bill providing for a minimum wage of $3 a day for all government departments.

The bill was introduced in the house by Mr. Nolan at the suggestion of the American Federation of Labor, of which he is a former official.

GLORIA'S ROMANCE

supported by HENRY KOLKER
A Motion Picture Novel By Mr. & Mrs.
RUPERT HUGHES

"Gloria stared at the problem and felt herself slipping back into childhood at a breakneck speed. She had no more idea of what it all meant than a new born babe. She could see that foolish a+b, but she could not see why any one should want to know what would happen if you did such a foolish thing as to multiply it by itself."

The noted authors, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hughes, have written for you an intensely interesting story. This remarkable motion picture novel will appeal to every-one—man, woman or child. You'll like its sweet sentiment—its romantic charm—its cheerful beauty. It's a page of life—the life of Gloria Stafford, the youthful, vivacious daughter of a bank president. The motion picture version of Gloria's Romance is now being shown at leading theatres everywhere.

See Billie Burke—beautiful, dashing, charming "Billie"—portray the role of Gloria. See her in exquisitely patterned gowns—the creations of such famous modistes as Lucile, Henri Bendel and Balcom. See her interpret, in vivid pictures, the chapters of this wonderful novel. As you see this picture-story unfolded, you'll hear the soft strains of especially synchronized music. Gloria's Romance is George Kleine's greatest cinematographic achievement. It strikes a new note in artistic picture-play entertainment. See it—TODAY.

TWO MORE DEAD OF BICHLORIDE, ONE DAY'S TOLL

Women Succumb to Poison Which Brings Tortures Before End.

Two other victims of bichloride of mercury were taken from ward 60 at the county hospital to the morgue yesterday. The death on Wednesday of Margaret Brownson, who was known as "Josephine Young," makes the toll for this agency for self-destruction three in two days.

MISS KATE DORSEY of 4146 North Laramie avenue.

MRS. PEARL KELLEY of 2800 South State street.

Miss Dorsey is the woman found on Wednesday evening in Union park, lying on the grass, with the empty poison vial and a letter addressed to her employer beside her.

Miss Dorsey lived with her sister, Mrs. Harry G. Boston, and was employed for ten years as a clerk in Hubert Kaulen's bakery at 136 South Halsted street.

To "Frighten Her Husband."

Mrs. Pearl Kelley swallowed poison May 16 "to frighten her husband." William Kelley, the husband, drove her to the hospital in an automobile. He professed to know no reason why his wife should wish to frighten him, and Mrs. Kelley refused to give attendants any other reason for her act.

Attendants and nurses at the hospital confess complete mystification as to the cause which leads so many women to select for suicidal purposes bichloride of mercury, one of the slowest and most painful of all poisons.

One attendant who has seen many women die of mercury poisoning tried to catalogue the reasons for its preference by female suicides.

Why Poison Is Selected.

He listed them as follows:

A neurasthenic worship of pain as a purging for the soul before death.

Desire to take poison which will make death inevitable and yet permit the suicide to linger awhile, read the newspaper line, "fight for life, etc.," and bask in the pity of all beholders.

The availability of the poison. Its wide use making it easily procurable, without arousing suspicion.

Mrs. Brownson, mother of Margaret Brownson, former Chicago court stenographer, who died as "Josephine Young," made arrangements for the burial of her daughter in Chicago.

DENY CARDUI WINE REVELS.

Witnesses Say Dr. William Kay's Stories of Patent Medicine Orgies Are False.

An array of witnesses was produced in Judge Carpenter's court yesterday by the Chattanooga Medicine company for the purpose of impeaching the testimony of Dr. William Kay of Maplesville, Ala., who several weeks ago took the stand as a witness for the American Medical association in its defense of the libel suit brought against it by the makers of Wine of Cardui.

William D. Dowdle of Hillsport, Ala., was the first called. He denied the story told by Dr. Kay that he drinks Wine of Cardui and once got drunk on it.

Fred James of Maplesville also denied that he drinks it and said he had never told Dr. Kay that he drank Wine of Cardui.

Blue-White, Weight ½ CARAT, $39

Realizing for some time past that the Diamond Market is shaping itself for another advance in prices, we propose to give the public the benefit of our knowledge. The point we want to impress is this: Diamonds will increase in value within the next three months and will go on increasing from year to year. No other commodity has stood the test of centuries like Diamonds, which proves the intrinsic value must be there. We recommend purchasing the finer grades, as they are becoming very scarce and have doubled in value the last few years. We have paid customers of ours a good profit for Diamonds bought a few years ago from us that they were compelled to dispose of.

MAYOR CLOSES OLD TAVERN

Inn Opened in '37 for Loggers and Trappers Called Sunday Violator.

ON OLD RIDGE ROAD.

In 1837—the year Chicago was incorporated—a tavern was opened in the territory that later became Rogers Park. For seventy-nine years its business was uninterrupted. Yesterday Mayor Thompson revoked the license of the present owner, Nic Karthauser.

In Chicago's village days logging teams traveled up the north shore. They used the Green Bay road—now Clark street—except in the spring, when the district now known as Edgewater was swampy. The drivers then sought the high land to the west, the route known as the Ridge road. It was there that John Dender built his tavern for the refreshment of lumberjacks, trappers, and, some say, Indians.

Until the enforcement of the Sunday closing law the records show no black mark against the saloon, but in a report dated last Sunday, Capt. W. W. Cudmore reported that a detective saw four men drinking beer out of large steins in a room attached to the barroom and in another room he saw two men and two women get up from a table, go out the same side door and drive away in an automobile. This, the captain said, is the third violation of its kind.

"The license was revoked for selling near-beer," said a man who answered the telephone at the saloon. "It was spite-work—that's all."

Mayor Thompson also revoked the license of the West Chicago Club house, 121 Throop street. Notice was served on owners of three saloons in the Englewood district to show cause this morning why their licenses should not be revoked.

ELM STREET HOME ROBBED.

A robber equipped with duplicate keys entered the home of Lewis B. Walton, 8 East Elm street, in the absence of the family yesterday and made way with rings, diamonds, watches, and laces worth $400.

HERBERT UPDIKE COMES TO ANNUL MARRIAGE; SUED

Nellye De Ansonne's Other Husband Wants $25,000 for Alienation.

As Herbert Updike, the younger of the two brothers who figured in a conspiracy to kill their parents in Oak Park last winter, stepped into Judge Kersten's court yesterday to testify at the hearing of his suit to annul his marriage to Nellye De Ansonne, a cabaret singer, he was served with papers in a suit for $25,000 damages for alleged alienation of the singer's affections filed by her waiter husband, Louis Hinks.

Comes from Ranch.

Young Updike, who has been in seclusion with his brother on a western ranch, accepted service and then stepped to the witness stand. He testified that he married the singer in Crown Point on Jan. 8 last and that he left her on Jan. 14. Although young Updike was aware that the singer had a daughter, he testified he did not know she had another husband at the time of his marriage until a few days after he left her.

A clerk of the marriage license bureau produced a certificate issued to the woman and Hinks in September, 1914. Attorney Fred Owens next stated he had looked up the court records and could find no record of Hinks and the singer ever having been divorced.

Singer's Conversation Told.

N. B. Updike, a cousin of the plaintiff, was the next witness. He told of a conversation he had with the singer after her separation from Herbert. She practically admitted then, he said, that she had another husband and that her marriage was a bigamous one. He said he "warned her to be careful or she'd get into trouble."

The court then inquired for Hinks and finding he was not present ordered an attachment to be issued to have him appear at 10 o'clock this morning.

MERRIAM IS CATABOLIC!

Robertson Classifies Him at Last, Thank Goodness, Although Doctor Flunks in Latin.

Health Commissioner Robertson at the council tuberculosis inquiry yesterday took a flyer in Greek derivatives. He said they were of Latin origin, but the Century dictionary traces them differently.

"You're one of the greatest catabolic forces in the community," he shot at Ald. C. E. Merriam.

"Well, just what does it mean?" said Mr. Merriam.

"If you knew your Latin you'd know," replied the commissioner, and spelled the word. "It means 'tearing down'—the opposite of metabolic, which means 'building up.'"

"Ho, hum," retorted the alderman, "when I was in high school 'catabolic' was of Greek derivation, but maybe it's immigrated."

[The Century says that "catabolic" relates in physiology to "that phase of metabolism which consists of a downward series of changes in which complex bodies are broken down with the setting free of energy into simpler and simpler waste bodies." It also says explicitly that the word having the opposite meaning is "anabolic" and not "metabolic," as Dr. Robertson alleged.]

Dr. Robertson, a few moments later, said he had given all the testimony he was going to give and left.

MAYOR ORDERS POLICE GRAFT CHARGE INQUIRY.

Mayor Thompson yesterday directed the civil service commission to investigate the charges made against policemen in the annual report of the Committee of Fifteen.

Acting upon his instructions, President Percy B. Coffin, for the commission, wrote a letter to Samuel P. Thrasher, superintendent for the anti-vice organization, asking him to appear before it at noon today and present his evidence.

President Coffin said Mayor Thompson had not seen a copy of the report of the Committee of Fifteen, but acted entirely upon what he had read in the newspapers.

"I suppose I've got to go," said Mr. Thrasher after the text of the letter had been read to him over the telephone.

Although Mr. Thrasher refused to disclose the nature of the evidence, it was reported to be proof that bribes were accepted by four policemen.

Brother-in-Law Says Signature Is Not His, but Name Has Been Used Since 1910.

Keeping one "dummy" on the city pay roll netted Daniel F. Keena $3,608.57, according to evidence obtained yesterday by the civil service commission.

Keena is the missing foreman of the Fourth district for the water pipe extension bureau accused by Timekeeper Herbert L. Scriba of being the brains of the pay roll padding scheme that the commission says may have cost the city $50,000 or $75,000. A warrant for Keena's arrest was taken out yesterday and a telegram sent to Montgomery, Ala.

The profitable "dummy" uncovered by the commission was Keena's brother-in-law, William J. O'Brien, who testified he quit the city's service in 1910. He said he thought his name had been dropped from the pay roll, but investigators found it present for every year except 1916.

"Those signatures aren't mine," he testified when shown identification slips bearing what purported to be his signature. "I've never received a cent from the city since I quit more than five years ago. Keena never said anything to me about it, though he is married to my sister. I got a postcard from him in West Baden a couple of weeks ago. That's the last I heard of him."

Another bit of evidence uncovered was proof that James Byrnes, a saloonkeeper, who previously admitted permitting Scriba to use his name on the pay roll "for a friend who needed work," accepted $10 from Scriba in return for the favor.

SEVEN HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Seven persons were injured yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a street car at West Sixty-third and South Wood streets. Mrs. Mary Hamilton, 1311 West Sixty-seventh street, was severely injured. Others in the car whose injuries were less grave are John D. Goggin, 1215 West Sixty-seventh street, a chauffeur; his wife, Agnes, and son, Thomas, 4 years old; Jennie Liston, 3 years old, an adopted child; and Thomas and James Russell, twins, 12 years old, 6225 South Marshfield avenue.

A woman, believed to be Mary Mada, 50 years old, was seriously hurt when struck by an automobile driven by J. Maloney, 204 South Austin avenue, at South Kildare avenue and West Twelfth street.

The Man of a Thousand Tales

Most everybody adult has seen Maurice Barrymore, or at least has read of him. He is described by Frederick Donaghey, super-press agent, as "the man of a thousand tales."

It appears Maurice was a great story teller, but that in all of his stories he never left a sting. On the other hand, that w. k. actor and raconteur, Wilton Lackaye, seldom fails to bite the victim of his bon mots.

Mr. Donaghey, who is probably our cleverest Vox Popist, has a whole page in the Sunday Tribune about these two famous men, both of whom he has called brother. If you have ever read any of Donaghey's contributions to B. L. T., the golf columns of The Tribune, or "The Voice of the People," you will need no further advice. If not, get acquainted with Donaghey's peculiar humor by reading the story entitled "The Wit Matchers," in the color section

SCHOOL KIDS MAY GET 2 HOLIDAYS TO SEE COUNTRY

Children Should Be Taught to Love Flowers and Trees, Loeb Thinks.

Two more holidays for Chicago school children are in the making. Jens Jensen, president of the Friends of Our Native Landscape, is the promoter of them. He is aided and abetted by Jacob M. Loeb, president of the board of education.

The holidays are to be entirely different from the present ones. On two days of the year, according to the plans, the 350,000 school children will be taken out of the school rooms and transported to the country. Some will go north to the lake shore and the ravines. Others will go west along the Desplaines river, south along the ridge, and east possibly as far as the sand dunes of Indiana. Following are excerpts from the letter which Mr. Jensen wrote to Mr. Loeb, which is responsible for the movement:

Mr. Jensen's Letter.

"The most valuable instructions I received in my boyhood days was from from the spring pilgrimages led by my father to the bluffs of the Baltic, and the outings to nearby woods led by my teacher. They have remained fresh in my mind and made life broader and more beautiful, and when I think back to my childhood days and compare them with the average boys and girls in our great city I feel very keenly the great disadvantages and the barrenness of their environs in which they are growing up.

May and October.

"Set aside two holidays, one about the middle of May and one about the middle of October—the time of year when the out of doors are in a festive mood—for two annual pilgrimages led by the teachers. The forest preserves of Cook county are now a reality. The Desplaines woods are carpeted with millions of flowers and fringed with garlands of our native plum, crabapple, and hawthorn. Giant elms tell their story dating back hundreds of years. Is there any book to excel this?

"The parents of the children should be invited to partake in the pilgrimages."

GOMPERS COMES TO TAKE A HAND IN LABOR UNREST

Federation President Will Seek to Bring Settlements of Several Strikes.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, arrived in Chicago yesterday.

One of the chief reasons for his visit at this time is his desire to bring about peace in connection with the numerous strikes now affecting various lines of industry in Chicago. He will lend his counsel to this end, and it is believed he will do much toward restoring industrial tranquillity.

"I hope to be of assistance to the union leaders of Chicago in effecting settlements of several of the strikes now in progress," he said at the Hotel Morrison. "For one thing, I shall confer with the officers of the freight handlers' union in connection with the demands presented by the union to the railroads. It is my earnest desire that an honorable adjustment may be effected without a strike. I also intend looking into the strike of express company workers and may address them at a meeting."

Looks Over Secession Move.

Two other reasons for Mr. Gompers' visit are to see what can be done with regard to the secession movement of the International Brick Makers' union from the American Federation of Labor, and to participate in conferences of union leaders with regard to anti-trust and anti-injunction legislation. These conferences are to start on Sunday and representatives of labor organizations throughout the state are to take part.

It is possible Mr. Gompers will address a meeting of express company strikers to be held tonight in Musicians' hall, 175 West Washington street. He will, however, be the chief speaker at a massmeeting of freight handlers to be held Sunday afternoon in the West Side auditorium at Taylor street and Racine avenue.

Last night Mr. Gompers went to the University of Chicago, where he spoke before students in Prof. Hoxie's class of economics and sociology.

Deny Return to Work.

Leaders of the express company employés' strike denied that any of the strikers had returned to work or that there was a disposition on the part of members of the newly organized Railway Express Drivers' union to go back to their jobs.

"All the companies together haven't fifty wagons in operation at present," said one union leader. "This is not really a strike, but a lockout. It began with the discharge of 100 men because they belonged to the union."

The New Reo-"Six"

The "Gold Standard" of Value in Sixes

$1250

Do You Realize— Decoration Day Is Almost Here?

AND YOU HAVEN'T that Reo Six yet!

OF COURSE YOU'LL WANT to go for a good long ride Decoration Day—looks as if the weather will be ideal, and the roads the past week or so have been at their best.

WE THOUGHT FOR YOU—anticipated, as the result of past experience, the tremendous Decoration Day demand. And we got the factory to give us just a little advantage on our quota of the popular Reo Six for this occasion.

THEY'LL BE HERE, we feel certain, and for just this once we can promise immediate delivery of a limited number of Reo Sixes.

OF COURSE THERE WON'T be enough to go round—never has been, of Reos—and those who leave it 'till the very last minute will surely be disappointed.

BUT THERE ARE THREE DAYS YET and now that you've seen them all; tried them all; heard all that could be said (in truth and otherwise) about them, and have selected a Reo Six for yours, why delay another minute?

THE TOURING SEASON opens Decoration Day—and every day out of doors you get is just one day more added to your life—that at least.

TO GET 100 PER CENT pleasure out of motoring one must have a car that is absolutely dependable—that goes without saying.

ALL OTHER QUALITIES—all "talking points" pale to insignificance beside that great quality "dependability."

NO MATTER HOW "quick on the trigger." No matter how "great" as a racing car; no matter how spectacular a performer on the pavements—these are secondary when on tour.

THEN, THE ONE QUALITY YOU MOST VALUE is dependability, "Not the getaway—but the stay there"—as one Reo enthusiast expressed it.

STAYING QUALITIES—day-in-and-day-out performance with a never-a-break—never-a-quaver in the beautiful rhythm of that wonderful motor.

AND GASOLINE ECONOMY—need we tell you that Reo cars always have used less gasoline than racing cars? You know it.

SO IF YOU HADN'T actually decided on a Reo we'd say this to you:

IF YOU'D ENJOY the coming season's touring to the utmost; if you covet the pleasure of closing each day's drive with a smile of satisfaction; if in a word, you'd know all the joy of motoring, then surely you can't afford to take a chance—a Reo for yours.

AND A REO SIX OF COURSE—if the party and the luggage call for more than a five passenger car.

A SIX IS THE ACME of motoring quality—that has now been proved beyond question. Watch the trend—it is, from all directions, towards Sixes when the need is for a big luxurious touring car.

AND THE NEW REO SIX has earned the title "the Gold Standard of Values in Sixes"—is so recognized throughout motordom.

SERVICE?—WE REO FOLK do not talk so much about "service afterward" as some. Don't need to! Reo service is "built into the car."

BUT IF YOU EVER DO need service on tour—an adjustment or replacement part—you'll appreciate as never before the advantage of owning a Reo.

THERE ARE MORE THAN 1500 Reo distributors located at as many points throughout this country—and every one is a Reo enthusiast. A Reo fanatic almost—for verily, Reo is their religion.

AND YOU'LL FIND you can obtain better service, quicker service, and at less cost than you have ever known.

SO ON ALL COUNTS—unless you are one of the foolish few who seek novelty at the sacrifice of all else—a Reo. And a Reo Six if you'd have the sweetest running, roomiest, sturdiest and most dependable thing on wheels.

BUT; WE WARN YOU the number that can be accommodated with immediate delivery of Reo Sixes is limited.

ONLY THOSE WHO CAN decide at once—today—and place their orders—now—can hope to get a Reo Six and have it for Decoration Day.

Daintily Tinted, Most Daintily Fashioned—

Girls' New Summer Frocks At $3.95 and $5

Always fresh and charming are little girl frocks of soft, striped voiles.

And these are so unusual, we believe, that even at a higher pricing mothers would be keenly interested.

At $3.95—Corded Striped Voile Frocks

For "Little" Girls of 6 to 14 Years

Tiny tinted stripings in shades of green, pink, and blue make these frocks irresistibly lovely. The box-pleated blouse has long embroidered tabs applied yoke-fashion.

At $5—Rainbow Striped Voile Frocks

For "Big" Girls, 12, 14 and 16 Years

Rather in the harmonious blending of colorings than in their hues, do these stripes suggest their name. The peplum blouse and full pleated skirt are splendid for "big" girls.

—Sketched at the right, $5

Important Reductions In Girls' Frocks

Beautiful white frocks and smart colored gingham frocks, a bit mussed and soiled from handling, have been reduced much below their former prices.

MME. KELLOGG FOND OF FAMILY, FISHER ASSERTS

Provided Well for Them and Then for Friends, He Says, Upholding Will.

REVIEWS HER LIFE HISTORY.

Attempts of Mrs. Lois Kellogg to break the will and codicil of her mother, Mme. Sarah H. Kellogg, the energetically autocratic Prairie avenue dowager, have been "but pin pricks which have left the essential facts untouched," according to Walter L. Fisher, counsel for the heirs combating the daughter's efforts. Mr. Fisher yesterday delivered his opening argument in Judge Windes' court and the case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

In an argument which lasted less than an hour, Mr. Fisher reviewed Mme. Kellogg's life and friendships, paid his respects to Mrs. Kellogg and her counsel, John S. Miller, summarized the evidence, and announced that there was nothing upon which the jury could base a verdict setting aside the will and codicil. The will, he said, which was made in 1906 before Mme. Kellogg's stroke of paralysis, had not even been attacked by Mr. Miller's evidence.

Fond of Her Family.

Mr. Fisher emphasized especially the relations between Mme. Kellogg and those about her, paying particular attention to Mrs. Kellogg and her daughter, Lady Lois. The evidence showed, he said that Mme. Kellogg was very fond of both her daughter and her granddaughter and that the will and codicil left the great bulk of the $500,000 estate in trust to Mrs. Kellogg, from whom it would go to Lady Lois. Only $20,000 of the estate, he said, had been given outright to Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Cobb, and $90,000 had been placed in trust for the benefit of relatives for whom she entertained the deepest affection. On the death of these relatives, Mr. Fisher pointed out, these trusts will revert to the main estate.

"Mme. Kellogg herself explained why she put the estate in trust," Mr. Fisher said. "She told the nurses, as they have told you, that her daughter had been spoiled by having too much money when young. This daughter already had received $165,000 from her father and brother by their wills.

Protected Lady Lois.

"Mme. Kellogg said that she did what she did more especially to protect her granddaughter, Lady Lois. We have heard much about the differences between Lady Lois and her grandmother, and much has been made of these differences. Mme. Kellogg was old fashioned, and quite naturally she didn't approve of certain things which modern girls do in certain circles of society. There is nothing remarkable in that.

"Mme. Kellogg recalled the jealousy and suspicion of Mrs. Kellogg for Miss Bertha Belden and Miss Frances Lund, relatives, and Mme. Kellogg closest friends. So Mme. Kellogg gave the power of attorney to Victor Elting, an attorney. Then Mrs. Kellogg suddenly questions her mother's mental competency.

Daughter of a Farmer.

"Mme. Kellogg was born the daughter of a farmer of limited means in Fulton, N.Y. The farmer had a sister, Mrs. Lund, who was married to a man of great means in Utica. As a girl, Mme. Kellogg lived with her aunt as a member of the family.

"Mme. Kellogg told her nurses that she never could repay what this aunt had done for her. Mme. Kellogg, a young bride, comes to Chicago, the wife of Charles P. Kellogg. At the same time, the daughter of the aunt marries and comes to Chicago the wife of a man named Belden. Both families live in the same house. Mme. Kellogg has a daughter. Mrs. Belden has a daughter, Bertha. Back in 1895, Mme. Kellogg gives little Bertha an allowance of ten or fifteen dollars a month. This is the same Bertha who is a beneficiary under this will and codicil."

Grace George
in "The Liars" by Henry Arthur Jones
at the Garrick

MISS GEORGE'S husband and entrepeneur, Mr. W. A. Brady, is so astute a showman that for being the generalissimo of the World Fillum incorporation his recompense is $100,000 per annum. Therefore it is presumption on my part to think that if in her current engagement at the Garrick Miss George had presented "The Liars" first, "Major Barbara" second, and "The New York Idea" third, there would have been a happier and more prosperous disposition of her repertory. "The Liars" fared very well last evening at the hands of the cast and of the audience. Efficiently acted in every rôle, the comedy, produced nineteen years ago, glided serenely into more modern channels, and until the trite last act one might have believed that he was in the presence of a drama of today.

It is the kind of comedy wherein a familiar social episode is illustrated by the plausible narrative of a playmaker who has the knack of doing improbable things with an air of probability. The pleasant people of its personnel (in whose place we spectators usually put ourselves) observe a deportment that we, too, in case we should be indiscreet, would like to imitate. The wrong things, as well as the otherwise, are said in the right way, and though balanced, rhythmic, and occasionally brilliant, they assume an almost human aspect. The conversation is composed of what Mr. Ade years ago termed "carriage thoughts," and it is arranged so adroitly as to seem nearly spontaneous.

Until I went to see "The Liars" last evening I knew nothing about it, save that when it was produced in London in 1897, Mr. George Bernard Shaw, the critic of the Saturday Review, was asked by Sir Charles Wyndham if he would accept an invitation to attend it. He replied that he would. Whereupon he was not invited, and he was forced to consider it favorably from Mr. Henry Arthur Jones' manuscript. Certain hoary patriarchs who were on earth at the time of its first American presentation, assured me between the acts last evening that Miss George and her associates play it fully as well as it was played by Mr. Drew in Mr. Ernest Lawford's rôle; by Mr. Arthur Byron in Mr. McRae's part; and by Miss Isabel Irving in the character acted by Miss George herself.

This is that of Lady Jessica Nepean, the irresolute and flirtatious, but comparatively chaste, consort of a glum and early-to-bed islander named Gilbert. Suppers at the Savoy mean nothing in his drab life; his idea of excitement for Lady Jessica is tea on the terrace, with feeding the swans as an occasional domestic orgy. So she encounters somewhere in Mayfair the eminent African hero, Edward Falkner (Mr. McRea), from whose brawny hands the savages eat with aboriginal awe. She toys with this more or less primitive person and she puts herself, in a manner of speaking, into his blood. He caresses her in the course of a rendezvous, but all he gets from the embrace is rice powder on his dinner coat.

This lugubrious assignation causes all the trouble and all the fun in "The Liars." Lady Jessica's human endeavors and those of her friends to cleanse her of any carnal aspirations in the matter are admirably set forth by Mr. Jones, Miss George, and her assistants. Mr. McRae is a most noble lover, audible, though inarticulate and forgetful of his lines. As the pious raisonneur Mr. Lawford has the time of his life. He is volcanic in his emission of virtuous axioms, the substance of which is that one may not abscond with the wife of one's friend and still live in peace and tranquillity. Mr. Lawford frequently skims over the thin ice of Mr. Jones' rhetoric and if there was time I should say the same about other actors in the cast. You will adore Mr. McRae, when at the crisis he confronts the man he has tried to wrong with no chance of doing so whatever. It is the sure-fire hoakum of the drama, but Mr. McRae puts it over with unusual dexterity.

Miss George as Lady Jessica sounds the shallows of that cheating person accurately, I think, and then there are several other players whose work deserves a word of encomium. But I must content myself with a belated tribute to Miss Mary North, who, in a wisp of a rôle, is admirably true, as she has been in the other dramas of Miss George's repertory without much public notice.

HEIRS OF P. D. ARMOUR JR. ASSUME TITLE TO LANDS.

Both Philip D. of Chicago and Lester Armour of New York Are Now of Age.

The grantors are J. Ogden Armour, Mrs. May L. Valentine, and P. Anderson Valentine of New York City, trustees under the will. The transfers are in accordance with the provisions of the will, the boys having arrived at the age of 21.

The property includes 1.18 acres at the northeast corner of Sixty-seventh street and Prairie avenue; five acres at the northwest corner of Sixty-seventh street and Prairie avenue, and over three acres at the northeast corner of Sixty-eighth street and Calumet avenue. The property is reported to be valued at between $50,000 and $60,000.

"Both the boys," said Mrs. J. Ogden Armour last night, "are of age now. Lester Armour was 21 in March. They will be deeded certain holdings from time to time from now on."

UNCLE AND NIECE MARRIED.

After being married ten years Magnus Otteson of 3838 North Irving avenue and his wife, Mrs. Dora Otteson, are seeking an annulment of their marriage. They are uncle and niece and are prohibited by law from marrying. There are no children.

FATHER FINDS CURE TOO LATE

Dr. Bayard Holmes' Son Dies of Dementia Precox as Secret Is Discovered.

Ten years ago Ralph Loring Holmes, son of Dr. Bayard Holmes, eminent Chicago surgeon, was overcome with dementia precox while a medical student at Northwestern university. The disease is a mental ailment which sends to the asylums of the United States every year great numbers of victims, largely youths between the ages of 17 and 20 years.

The catastrophe to his son decided Dr. Holmes. On that day he concluded to give up surgery and devote the remainder of his life to the study of dementia precox. It was his hope that eventually he would discover a cure for the malady which robbed so many promising youths of the country of their mental faculties.

Then, a short time ago, Dr. Holmes, who had written several treatises on this disease and had delivered many lectures upon it at universities and medical schools made an important discovery. He found the basis of the disease was physical. But his discovery came too late to save his son. On Tuesday the son died in the Lakeside hospital, following a minor operation. He was 29 years old. During the whole of the last ten years he had been mentally deranged. To use Mrs. Holmes' words:

"He had been practically dead ten years."

The Holmes family live at 843 East Fortieth street.

NO "OTHER WOMAN"

Celeste Youker Pictured as Fine, Clean; a Shining Girl Wholly Outside the Case.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Shining clear among all the clouds of mystery that surround the death of Marion Lambert is a white light of girlhood that has no right to be dimmed by the black clouds of accusations or tarnished by the tales of youthful indiscretion which are told of Will Orpet and Marion Lambert. That white light is the heart of Celeste Youker.

"The Other Woman" she has been called. In this drama of moral wreckage a part has been forced upon her. She must stand in the limelight of public opinion for everyone to censure or to condone.

A Picture of Will Orpet.

When I saw Will Orpet for the first time in the courtroom last week it seemed to me I had never seen any one less like the descriptions of him. He had been pictured a man of the world, a rah-rah college boy, educated beyond his class, breaking the hearts of his parents and straining their resources by the mad sacrifices which are made to make gentlemen of sons.

I thought his face would be lined with dissipation, his mouth heavy, his walk the swagger of a bully. Men had said they hoped he would not be allowed to go free to wreck other girls' lives as he had wrecked Marion Lambert's.

Then I saw him, saw his clean, unlined face, his boyish slimness, his half diffident walk, his shyness, and the utter devotion of his mother, and as he stood talking to her, scarcely taller than her shoulder, I realized with a shock that whatever he had done he was not a sin hardened sophisticated man, that the tragedy which was blotting his life was a tragedy of the first days of youth, and no man's madness.

A Visit to Miss Youker.

With that memory in my heart I went to see Celeste Youker. Would she, too, be only a child in this incongruous tale of passion? Or did she deserve that damning epithet of "the other woman"?

After an hour or two with her I have come away with the most definite assurance that she has nothing whatever to do with the case and that the intrusion is bitterly unkind.

She is not engaged to Will Orpet. She does not correspond with him. The little bundle of letters which she wrote to him during the year of their friendship are just the boy and girl letters of two who have been very good friends through the first spring of youth. And, most of all, she never even heard the name of Marion Lambert until she heard of her death.

She is fragile, softly brown eyed, and simple with the dignity of a little girl woman who has earned her right to hold her head high among her fellow women. She radiates sincerity, which is as rare as it is beautiful. She has a half quizzical look, and before she answers she weighs her words as this horrible ordeal has probably made her learn to weigh them. When she speaks it is with the conviction of a woman who has something worth while to say.

Not Like a School Ma'am.

Her little friend, Dorothy Mason sat beside her, a wonderful young child of the out of doors, and said "Celeste doesn't look much like an old school ma'am, does she?" And truly she didn't. She looked like a girl just come into her woman's inheritance, lovely of heart, sincere, and courteous with the gentlewomanliness which is born in a girl. She has done nothing in her quiet life that deserves the pain of these last few months.

Mrs. Youker asked me not to say anything about her.

"I always like to be present when Celeste talks, but I really have nothing to do with it," she said as I was leaving.

I shouldn't have mentioned her if it had been possible not to. Looking at her, feeling the warm welcome of her gentle smile, the beauty of her unexpressed faith that all would be right with the world, and hearing her talk with a keen and quick understanding which makes talking with her a real pleasure, I could not give a picture of Celeste Youker which left her out. With a mother like that a girl could be nothing less than Miss Youker is.

I went to question her as to the truth of various statements, and she quietly answered my questions and courteously told me everything she felt she could.

I came away bitterly sorry that she had been forced into this terrible thing but certain of two things:

That she is too fine and clean ever to be called again "the other woman" and that the quiet dignity of what is obviously her inheritance will never leave her.

HAT MAN GIVES HIGH CREDIT TO "TRIBUNE" ADVERTISING.

"Jack" Newmark Tells Convention That Biggest Space in Biggest Paper Is Necessary to Success.

TRIBUNE advertising was given credit for his spectacular rise by Hatter "Jack" Newmark in a talk to Illinois hat men at the Great Northern hotel yesterday. Mr. Newmark has just celebrated the opening of his third loop store by running his third full page ad in THE TRIBUNE in three years.

"Emerson said that if a hermit in the woods made a better mouse trap than any one else the world would beat a path to his door," said Mr. Newmark. "That sounds good, but it isn't true.

"My experience is that to keep the world beating a path through my doors I not only need to have the best hats and the best stores and the best locations and the best salesmen but I also have to buy the biggest possible space in the biggest newspaper in this metropolis to all the people what I have for them."

WITNESS SAYS ORPET FORCED BOTTLE ON GIRL

SURPRISE FOR THE DEFENSE.

BY WALTER NOBLE BURNS.

David James of Lake Forest, a deaf-mute, is expected to swear on the witness stand that he saw Will Orpet place a bottle to the lips of Marion Lambert at the foot of the thre oakse in Helm's woods last February.

This is believed to be the secret that has inspired State's Attorney Ralph J. Dady with confidence—a confidence with which he fairly bristles—that he will convict the University of Wisconsin undergraduate of murder in Judge Charles H. Donnelly's court at Waukegan.

Since the tragic day when the pretty Lake Forest high school girl was found dead of cyanide of potassium in the woods Mr. Dady has done everything in his power to make the public think James had nothing of importance to tell.

With James' story before the jury the case against Orpet no longer will rest wholly on circumstantial evidence. The deaf-mute will throw the weight of eye-witness evidence into the scales against the handsome youth who has admitted the sweetheart he had discarded died at his feet in the snow.

James' story was told in detail for the first time yesterday, through his brother-in-law, Alex Kelly, a prosperous road builder and paving contractor of Lake Forest, in whose Brushwood road home the deaf-mute lives.

The Ways of a Fox.

James had told a story on the day Marion Lambert's body was found. He told it by pantomime and fragmentary writing on scraps of paper. It was not understood and was discredited by almost every one except Mr. Dady.

James was not called at the coroner's inquest. Mr. Dady was careful to have it understood his story was a wild yarn utterly unworthy of credence.

In the meantime Mr. Dady was quietly at work upon an under the surface investigation of James' story. He held many interviews with the deaf mute. He called him secretly to Waukegan, where, with his two legal associates in the Orpet trial, State's Attorney David Joslyn of McHenry county and Assistant State's Attorney Eugene Runyard of Lake county, he was closeted with him for hours.

James' last visit to Mr. Dady's office in Waukegan was made May 17. Mr. Dady's last interview with him was held last Sunday in Mr. Kelly's home in Lake Forest. At the Sunday interview Mr. Dady brought a man from Zion City who was thoroughly conversant with the sign language of deaf mutes.

Mr. Dady took James to Helm's woods. James pointed out the exact spot from which he claimed to have seen Orpet place a bottle to Marion Lambert's lips Then he led the state's attorney without hesitation straight to the Three Oaks as the spot where this occured.

His Original Story.

James' original story was that while driving along Jessamine avenue, between Sacred Heart convent and Helm's woods, he had seen a man press a bottle to the lips of a woman at the edge of the forest along Sheridan road. Mis Lambert died 200 feet east of Sheridan road, in the heart of the woods. As cyanide of potassium, of which she died, is instantly fatal, she could not possibly have drunk the poison at the edge of the woods and dropped dead 200 feet away.

The footprints of Orpet and the girl in the deep, newly fallen snow showed that Orpet had not carried the girl.

This story, which was not the one James told, ,but the construction placed on it by those who did not understand him, was, of course, impossible. His real story—the one he will tell on the witness stand through an interpreter or by written answers to questions—is one that convinces the lawyers for the state.

Here's His New Story.

Here is the first complete version of James' story as told through Mr. Kelly

"I was hauling a load of ice from a box car on a siding in Lake Forest to the icehouse on the Cyrus H. McCormick estate near the lake on Jessamine avenue. As I crossed the tracks of the Chicago and Milwaukee electric line at Sacred Heart station, I saw Marion Lambert on the platform, apparently waiting for a car to take her to the Deerfield High school in Highland Park.

At the northwest corner edge of Helm's woods I saw a boy with his face partly muffled beneath his turned up overcoat collar standing behind an oak tree. I did not know who he was. I had no personal acquaintance with Will Orpet. I knew Marion Lambert well. She was a frequent visitor to my sister's home where I live. She and my sister's daughter were of the same age and great friends.

The Tryst in the Woods.

"I saw Orpet beckon to her. Marion hesitated. I kept looking back and she apparently did not wish me to see her join the boy. It was not until I was crossing the bridge over Sacred Heart ravine that she tripped across the road and entered the woods.

"I drove my team past the entrance to the McCormick estate and up a hill east of Sheridan road. From there I could see the boy and girl wandering, deep in conversation, through the woods. As I passed over the brow of the hill I lost sight of them.

"I delivered my load of ice and started back to Lake Forest. As I topped the hill again I saw deep in the woods Orpet and Marion standing at the foot of three trees. The woods were bare of leaves. The snow made a white background against which the figures of the couple stood out sharply.

"I saw the boy catch the girl about the shoulders with one hand and press a bottle to her lips with the other. A bright glint of sunlight on the bottle made it clear to me. I thought the couple were having a social drink of liquor, and, clucking up my horses, trotted briskly back to town."

A careful investigation was made of Helm woods yesterday to test the credibility of James' story.

From the hill the line of vision runs across a cleared space south of an old unfenced apple orchard. West of Sheridan road there is a space of about three acres at the edge of Helm's woods bare of trees. The distance from the margin of the woods beyond this cleared space to the three oaks is about 100 yards. The distance from the top of the knoll to the three oaks is about 750 yards.

All Entirely Possible.

The three oaks are about midway between the electric car line to the west and Sheridan road to the east of the woods. It was possible in the present leafy condition of the trees to stand on the railway track and see persons in automobiles passing along Sheridan road on the other side of the woods. By one familiar with that region from childhood, it was said that in winter it is possible to recognize persons on the opposite side of the woods.

Lawyers for the defense, in attempting to pick flaws in James' narrative, may submit that at a distance of 750 yards he could not have distinguished a bottle in Orpet's hands. This will be met with the contention that a ray of sunshine glittered brightly on the glass.

Frankland Tells Tale.

Wilson Frankland, engineer at Sacred Heart academy, it developed during the day, guided E. O. Orpet, father of the defendant, to the scene of Miss Lambert's death on the afternoon of the discovery of her body.

"Mr. Orpet asked me to take him to the spot," Frankland said. "As we stood at the foot of the three oaks he asked me if any poison was found on the girl. I told him I did not know.

"I had been the third person to reach the body. It had been found by Frank Lambert, the girl's father, and William Marshall, a professional golfer. While Mr. Lambert remained with the dead girl in the woods, Mr. Marshall came to the academy and telephoned for the police. I went back with him to the scene.

"Will Orpet's tracks led from the body to within sixty feet of the mud road along the line of the electric railway. Then he circled back to the body. His footprints were thick about it. Then they led straight south. I followed them till they entered a path beaten in the snow by laborers taking a short cut across the woods. They turned west in this path and were lost. He doubtless passed out of the woods into the mud road and, as he afterward admitted, walked to Fort Sheridan station, a mile and a half away, where he took a train for Chicago."

No Insanity Taint.

Frank Lambert denied a published report that there was any taint of insanity in his ancestral line. It was reported the defense was attempting to show this to prove the Lambert girl may have been a victim of suicidal mania.

Mr. Lambert and Mrs. Lambert have been called as witnesses by the defense. Mr. Lambert said he knew of nothing he could say that possibly would help Orpet's case. It is believed Mrs. Lambert was called to prove Marion knew two weeks before she died she was not in a condition of motherhood.

HONOR SHAKESPEARE

Seven Hundred School Children Hold Pageant on North Shore.

Helen Baltz Emily Slaymaker

Seven hundred pupils of the Deerfield Township High school and other schools of Highland Park appeared in costume yesterday in a Shakespearean pageant which transformed Sheehan's woods for the time into a modern counterpart of an enchanted forest. Miss Helen Baltz and Miss Emily Slaymaker were among those who enacted leading rôles.

Stream Passes Into Orpet Jury Box Only to Pass Out Again.

A STREAM of veniremen passed in at one end of the jury box and out at the other during the day in the Orpet trial before Judge Donnelly at Waukegan. The net result of the day's work was one juror tentatively passed by both sides. He is E. J. Boch of Highland Park. J. J. Brand, also of Highland Park, had been passed by both sides the day before. This makes two men tentatively accepted on the second panel of four.

The millionaire venire—the sixth of 100 men each summoned since the beginning of the trial—was under examination. Julius Biddinger, former mayor of Waukegan, narrowly escaped being dismissed for failure to pass the educational test. After he had admitted his inability to define certain words, State's Attorney Dady challenged him for cause, but was overruled by the court. Mr. Biddinger then was excused peremptorily.

Theodore Durst, millionaire president of the Securities bank of Waukegan, was challenged because he had a fixed opinion regarding the guilt or innocence of the accused.

Lawyers in the case expressed the opinion the jury box would not be filled before the end of next week.

Empty Schiller Building for a Time by Blast Threat in Effort to "Go Fishin'."

On Monday a number of little girl pupils of the Schiller school, largely attended by Sicilian children, found notes on their desks. Their pigtails stood on end. The notes read:

"Bweair, this schule will be blone up to the sky with plenty of dynamite, techers and all. The Black Hand."

There was a feverish raising of little hands that afternoon. Little Marie wanted to go out to get a drink. She didn't come back.

By nightfall mothers had visions of their offspring going skyward on a dynamite blast. By Wednesday the school was nearly depopulated.

Mrs. Belle Murphy, principal of the school, cornered six or seven enterprising boy pupils and wrung from them the admission that they wrote the notes, hoping to close the school, so they could go fishin'.

Now the desks are mostly occupied again.

DR. A. W. HARRIS TO QUIT.

Northwestern University President Slated for Methodist Educational Board Secretaryship.

It was reported in Chicago yesterday that President Abram W. Harris of Northwestern university had definitely decided to relinquish his post at Evanston to accept the general secretaryship of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church. The election of Dr. Harris is scheduled to take place today at the general conference of the Methodist church now in session at Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Dr. Harris is attending the conference.

It is said Dr. Harris will leave Northwestern at the close of the present college year and will go to New York to assume his new duties.

BUSINESS MEN HEAR WOMEN

Feminine Speakers Before Association of Commerce Conference Urge Equal Rights.

Two women addressed the membership conference of the Association of Commerce last night at a dinner at the Bismarck hotel. It was "Ladies' Night." Miss Grace Reed declared that business organizations are using only one-half the people, the men, in programs of preparedness. Miss Florence King contended that the Association of Commerce and other bodies should extend women the right hand of fellowship as they do the men, because the women have entered the business world. Suffrage was dealt with at length by both speakers.

STRANGLES GIRL WHO JILTED HIM; YOUTH ADMITS

ALL THE MYSTERY IS LIFTED.

Aurora, Ill., May 25.—[Special.]—A boy and girl romance which in some respects parallels the Orpet case ended yesterday in the murder of 15 year old Gwendolyne Holden by her 19 year old sweetheart, Paul Verholye.

The murder was committed at 2 o'clock yesterday in the boarding house conducted by the girl's mother, Mrs. Anna Collins, at 124 Main street, but body was not found until 11 o'clock last night. It was not until this morning that Verholye confessed.

Young Verholye was formerly an inmate of the St. Charles school for boys, where he was sent for petty stealing and participation in a burglary. His parents say "he has not been right for three years."

Mother Takes Trail.

Verholye went to the boarding house in the afternoon when he knew the girl would be alone in the house.

When Mrs. Collins returned she missed her daughter. She suspected Verhoye had eloped with the girl. She went in search of him and found him in front of a garage about a block and a half from the boarding house. She led him to the station, where he was questioned, but denied having seen the girl. The police then sent for his parents.

"Why, yes, Paul said he saw Gwendolyne dead," said David Verholye, the father.

Young Verholye then said he and the girl had entered into a suicide pact, but he had lost his nerve. He said she had hanged herself.

The Motive Comes Out.

The storeroom was found locked, but the key was in the door. The girl's body lay beneath a sheet. Near it stood a cup of chloroform. Verholye stuck to his story of the suicide pact during a grilling which lasted all night, but this morning he suddenly asked to see the body. He was taken to the undertaking room and the sheet drawn back. He put his hand up over his eyes and agreed to tell all.

He said Gwendolyne had failed to keep a date with him on Saturday and had gone out with another boy. He upbraided her, he said, and begged her to break another date which she had with the same boy. She laughed at him.

Angered, he leaped at her and choked her until the smile left her face. Her head swayed from side to side as he shook her, he said, and her feet beat a tattoo on the floor. When she fell limp, but still breathing, he dragged her into the storeroom. He went back several times to find her still breathing. The last time, he said, she lay still.

Then Loses His Nerve.

Then he went out and obtained the chloroform to end his own life. He sweetened it with sugar and took a sip. He lost his nerve and set it down.

He locked the door and went to the river to watch some boys fishing. Then he went home to supper, told his parents the girl was dead, and went down to the garage.

MOVE UP CLOCK HANDS? COMMERCE HEADS TO SAY.

Views of National Association May Be Made Known in Chicago Within the Next Few Days.

Views of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States with regard to the plan of moving up the hands of the clock one hour, thus making going to work and quitting time an hour earlier, are expected at the offices of the Chicago Association of Commerce within the next few days, it was said yesterday by an official of the association.

"The association referred the plan to the national organization some time ago," he said. "It has been so busy with the preparedness and other movements, however, that it has not as yet had an opportunity sufficient to give the plan the consideration it deserves.

"It became necessary to bring the plan before the national organization in order to interest other cities. If Chicago were the only city to put the idea into effect confusion would result."

Denial was made concerning reports that the movement "had been allowed to lapse."

MAY MOVE UP U. S. CLOCKS.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Senator Newlands of Nevada and Congressman Madden of Illinois have introduced resolutions in the senate and house calling for an inquiry on the feasibility of readjusting standards of time in the United States along the lines of the "daylight saving" plan adopted in Europe.

New York May Change Time.

New York, May 25.—If New York merchants agree to the plan proposed today by the borough of Manhattan president here, clocks may be turned ahead one hour in this city.

THE FINN FIRST TO WIRE IN THE METROPOLITAN

Stromboli Is Beaten Less than Length at Belmont Park as 25,000 Cheer.

New York, May 25.—[Special.]—With the cheers of 25,000 persons accelerating his final strides, H. C. Hallenbeck's great 4 year old, The Finn, struggled home in a gallant victory in the Metropolitan handicap, putting August Belmont's Stromboli, last year's winner, in second place by the narrow margin of three-quarters of a length.

Victor and vanquished, as well as nearly all of the field of a dozen starting in the big race, all deserved a measure of praise, but the main subject for congratulation was the positive proof that racing has been reëstablished as a great sport with power to attract a multitude whenever important events are decided.

Betting but No Open Gambling.

There was betting of course, as there always will be when men of red blood meet with preferences for one or the other of the contestants in a big race, but no open gambling or bookmaking as construed by the courts.

For the Metropolitan Stromboli was the favorite. The Finn was second choice, while the Butler pair, Spur and High Noon were at 8 and 10, respectively. Slumber II. had many supporters at 8 to 1, which also ruled against imported Short Grass. The only other one seriously considered was W. R. Coe's Hauberk, at 7 to 1.

The start was good. When the barrier went up Butwell got his mount off in front. It was only for a flash that the topweight held the lead. The speedy High Noon found his foot at once and headed the Belmont hope in a few strides. Hauberk was also away well and when they settled down was following Stromboli closely, with The Finn and Slumber II. next.

High Noon Loses Lead.

High Noon's lead of two lengths dwindled as the leaders approached the end of the backstretch and at the turn Butwell rushed Stromboli up until he was laps on the flying leader. In the run around the turn Hauberk fell back and The Finn took his place in the wake of High Noon and Stromboli.

As they swept into the stretch Stromboli was on even terms with the leader. As they straightened out The Finn, a length behind, loomed up as a formidable contender. High Noon was done for.

There were shouts for Stromboli, bu these were drowned by the frantic yells for The Finn as the black wonder responded with gameness to the urging of Schuttinger. A head advantage, then a neck, fell to The Finn. Then Stromboli made his supreme effort and for a brief second it looked as if he was again to be victor. The weight and the early pace told its tale and though Stromboli struggled on gamely to the end he was forced to give way before The Finn, who gained the verdict by three-quarters of a length. Three lengths back came Spur.

WHITE PUTS OVER K. O. ON MILBURN SAYLOR; BOUT LASTS MINUTE

"TRIBUNE" DECISIONS

At Philadelphia—Johnny Cashill beat Joe O'Neill (6); Tommy Livingstone beat Johnny McLoughlin (6); Johnny Adams beat Young Augatis (6); Pete Howell stopped Andy Rivers (2); Johnny Kelly beat Frankie Howell on foul (3).

Cincinnati, O., May 25.—[Special.]—Charley White of Chicago knocked out Milburn Saylor of Indianapolis tonight in the first minute of fighting in what was to have been a ten round bout. The supposed fight was staged before more than 5,000 fight fans at Redland field, the home of the Cincinnati National league team.

Saylor clearly showed that he has not recovered from the effects of his recent attack of pneumonia. He appeared very weak as he started to the center of the ring to shake hands.

Saylor No Match for White.

Both men started cautiously, but White soon demonstrated his superiority by landing his left time and time again. It was easily apparent that the Indianapolis boxer was in no condition to last. One White rush sent Saylor to the floor for the count of five after the bout had gone only a few seconds.

Saylor vainly tried to reach his opponent after he regained his feet, but again was sent to the floor by White's terrific left, this time for the count of nine. Hardly able to stand on his feet, Milburn got up trying to at least last out the round.

CHURCH FOLKS MAY STOP GO

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—[Special.]—A solar plexus punch was handed the prospects of the Gunboat Smith-Jack Dillon mill slated for Monday night at the ball grounds as a special treat for the visiting Speedway fans. Following a communication from Gov. Ralston, Marion County Prosecutor Rucker brought first blood by appearing in Superior court today and securing a temporary restraining order against the promoters and fighters. On Monday morning the defendants are to appear in court to show cause why the order should be dissolved. The Church federation is back of the prosecution.

BOBBY ROTH TO GET WATCH

The Chicago Junior Baseball league is set for big doings at White Sox park tomorrow in honor of Bobby Roth of the Cleveland Indians. The leading prize will be donated by Bob Schweitzer and second prize by Frank Ragen, county commissioner, to be presented to the best dressed team and to the youngest team. The clubs will encircle the grounds once, following which the league officials will present Roth with a gold watch and floral token. The junior officials extend an invitation to all academies, high schools, and parochial schools to participate in the parade. Clubs will meet at Armour Square park, Thirty-third and Shields avenue, at 1:30 p. m.

RACING? YES! BETTING? NO!

Racing will be permitted at the Hawthorne racetrack, but no gambling will be allowed, according to Sheriff John E. Traeger, who says that he will have enough deputies to police the racetrack during the meet of the Illinois Jockey club July 15 to 29.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Leonard [41] gave Shea [50] his first defeat in the three cushion tournament at Mussey's, 41 to 45.

In the three cushion tournament at Tom Foley's Hoppe [24] defeated De Lorme [26], 24 to 7. Kearney and Harrison tonight.

Playing in a practice game at Forrest's room, Tuohy made a run of 9 and in the same inning Davis made 10.

WISCONSIN FISH LAWS.

THE Wisconsin fishing season opens next Monday and tonight the exodus of anglers from Illinois and other states begins northward. This article is written for the benefit of those who haven't taken the trouble to inform themselves on the laws governing fishing in Wisconsin.

OPEN SEASONS—Large and small mouth black bass, May 29 to March 1, with the following exceptions: Big Green lake, July 1 to March 1; Devil's lake, Mirror lake, and Dell Creek, Sauk county, June 15 to Dec. 15.

Strawberry bass, calico bass, silver bass, crappie, white bass, rock bass, pickerel, muskellunge, pike, catfish, May 29 to March 1, with some exceptions in certain parts of the state.

Trout, April 15 to Aug. 31, with some exceptions. None of the exceptions on any fish, other than those stated above on black bass affect fishing at this time of the year.

LEGAL MAXIMUM QUANTITY PER DAY—Black bass, 15; trout, 45; other fishes, none.

LEGAL MINIMUM LENGTH OR WEIGHT—Black bass, 10 inches; trout and the various pan fishes, 7 inches; pike, any variety, 13 inches; pickerel, 16 inches; muskellunge, 5 pounds round, 4 pounds, dressed; catfish, 2 pounds round, 1½ pounds dressed. Exception, in Mississippi river and Lakes Pepin and St. Croix, catfish, 15 inches round; 12 inches with head off.

LICENSES—Nonresident males are required to have a license. Cost, $1. Nonresident females may fish without license, but must obtain one if they ship fish; Wisconsin licenses can be obtained at various tackle stores in Chicago, and it is a good plan to get one before you leave.

SHIPPING—"One shipment only, of not more than one package, and containing not more than twenty pounds of fish, or containing in lieu thereof not more than two fish of any weight, may be transported in each period of seven days to any point within or without state." Exceptions: "Trout of any variety except lake trout, may be transported to any point within or without the state when accompanied by the consignor." Twenty pounds of lake trout may be shipped every seven days when accompanied by shipper.

Set lines and spearing prohibited. Unlawful to catch crabs or crawfish until June 10.

ANGLERS EXCHANGE

THE No. 6 Heddon rod was won by C. R. Mitchell, Desplaines, Ill., with the contribution on Bangs lake appearing below. For the best similar article on fishing waters, within 150 miles from Chicago preferred, this week we offer a collection of the famous South Bend Bucktail baits, comprising twenty-seven separate pieces — different bucktail hooks with and without spinners. Some prize. This assortment includes many famous fish getters and the lucky winner will have a supply that will last for many moons and catch fish, too.

BANGS LAKE, ILL.

[Contributed by C. R. Mitchell.]

This lake is thirty-seven miles from Chicago via the Chicago and Northwestern to Palatine, and then by branch road to Wauconda, a pretty village on the shore of the lake. Fare, $1.64 round trip.

The lake is about a mile and a quarter long and three-quarters of a mile wide. Weeds and rushes line the shore, extending out probably fifty feet. All good casting ground. One should work the west shore carefully clear around to the bay. This bay is a natural feeding ground. There is more than an acre of lily pads so thick that the lure seldom touches the water, and some big bass are caught in this spot. Just outside of the breakoff in open water, large strings of bullheads are caught after dark—as many as fifty pounds in an evening. From this bay one passes over good pickerel ground to the extreme northwest side of the lake, where acres of bass spawning beds are protected by brushes so thick that a long cast sometimes returns dry. A cast that finds the water usually gets a strike. In the northeast corner is another lily bay, and lots of bass and pickerel are taken here. Cast up to the edge of the weeds. Good ground from here around the east side to the boathouse, some saying it is the best on the lake on account of the rocky bottom, shallow water, and absence of thick weeds. Off the east shore, near the middle of the lake, north and south, there is a submerged island—good on clear, hot days, when the bass seek deeper water. Our favorite lure here is a pork strip drawn through the weeds about three feet deep. Plenty of blue gills, silver bass, and perch can be caught at this island, as well as other places in the lake. There is a deep channel through the center of the lake, and when the weather is hot and the water smooth, a frog fished deep usually produces results. This is a good place to troll.

Considering its nearness to Chicago, this lake is an exceptional one for bass and pickerel, and a nice place for week-enders and automobilists, as the hotel accommodations are good and the expenses reasonable.

"BIG NINE" TENNIS

SINGLES.

Preliminary round—Becker, Illinois, defeated Sapp, Kenyon, 6—2, 6—4; Clark, Chicago, defeated Pan, Minnesota, 6—1, 6—4; Zuck, Ohio, defeated Brorby, Wisconsin, 6—8, 6—0, 6—2; Lindauer, Chicago, defeated Shafer, Kenyon, 6—1, 6—2.

First round—Neilson, Wisconsin, defeated Curran, Ohio, 6—3, 6—4; Becker, Illinois, defeated Clark, Chicago, 4—6, 6—4, 6—8; Widen, Minnesota, defeated Felmey, Illinois, 11—13, 6—1, 6—0; Lindauer, Chicago, defeated Zuck, Ohio, 6—4, 6—3.

DOUBLES.

Lindauer and Clark, Chicago, defeated Pan and Widen, Minnesota, 6—3, 6—1, 6—3; Zuck and Curran, Ohio, defeated Felmey and Becker, Illinois, 6—0, 6—1, 6—4.

HAMMER VS. DUNDEE FEATURE FOR JULY 4

BY RAY C. PEARSON.

Can it be true that Chicago boxing fans are going to have their boxing appetites satisfied on the afternoon of July 4? It would look so from an announcement made yesterday by Kid Howard, who just at present occupies the spotlight through bringing out Ever Hammer as a possible lightweight champion.

Howard announced Hammer had been matched to box Johnny Dundee, the sensational New York Italian, at East Chicago the afternoon of Independence day. The bout will take place under the auspices of the East Chicago lodge of the B. P. O. E. The match was clinched when J. R. Graham, R. P. Hale, Julius Friedman, Clarence Beach, and Joe Hartley Jr., representing the Elks, met Hammer's manager and closed details.

Fighters to Make 135 Pounds.

The weight agreed upon is 135 pounds at 10 o'clock in the morning. To guarantee they will go through with the match the managers of both Hammer and Dundee will post forfeits of $500 for appearance with the president of the First National bank of East Chicago. The lodge also will post a forfeit as assurance that it will stage the show as scheduled.

It is the plan of the Elks to hold the contest in the ball park, which will hold 10,000 fans. According to the agreement made with Dundee, the Italian must be on the ground one week before the bout.

Ritchie to Visit South America.

Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion, departed last night for San Francisco after having practically completed arrangements to fight Ted Lewis in Buenos Aires. Billy Gibson, American representative of the South American syndicate which is to stage a boxing carnival, talked with Ritchie over the long distance phone yesterday and agreed to meet the demands of the Californian. It is understood Ritchie demands a guarantee of $10,000 to make the trip.

Doc Krone added another to his army of boxers yesterday when he took Spike Kelly under his managerial wing. Spike is out to meet any of the welters.

Freddie Enck of Aurora and Danny Goodman, the local lightweight, have been matched to box ten rounds to a decision before Jack Sager's new open air arena near Aurora, Ill., next Monday night. Cyclone Johnny Thompson will referee.

DE PALMA TO TACKLE WORLD HOUR RECORD ON LOCAL SPEEDWAY

BY J. C. BURTON.

As the feature de luxe of practice for the motor derby of June 10 Ralph De Palma will go after the world's hour record with his Mercedes on the Chicago speedway. The date of the trial has been tentatively fixed as Saturday, June 3, but this may be changed upon the arrival of De Palma from Detroit today. The Italian was scheduled to check in yesterday but was delayed in shipping his car.

The world's hour record now stands at 107 miles 1,672 yards, made at the Brooklands track on Oct. 10, 1913, by Jean Chassagne, driving the twelve cylinder Sunbeam now owned by the Packard Motor Car company.

Comparison of Track Records.

Distance, miles.	Chicago, M.P.H.	Brooklands, M.P.H.
100	101.86	107.93
200	98.10	95.92
300	98.20	95.87
400	98.00	95.14
500	97.58	94.75

It should be borne in mind that the Chicago records were made in competition with a large number of cars on the track, while the Brooklands marks were established in time trials in which the driver had a clear course.

Yesterday's mail brought in the entry of the Burman Special for the Chicago motor derby. This car is the Peugeot, in which Wild Bob rode to his death at Corona last month, and is being campaigned this season for the benefit of his widow, who will receive a share of any prize money won. No driver has been named as yet by L. C. Erbes of St. Paul, the owner.

Trains for Indianapolis Race.

As there will be no special trains for the Indianapolis races this year, the Big Four railroad announces it will be prepared to take care of the crowds on its regular trains, which leave Chicago at 12:55 p. m. and 11:55 p. m. Monday and arrive at Indianapolis at 9 o'clock Monday night and 5 a. m. Tuesday morning, respectively. For the return trip there will be trains leaving Indianapolis at 12:30 and 2:45 o'clock Tuesday morning, arriving here at 7:10 and 7:47.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL BOYS IN TRACK GAMES TODAY.

Central Chicago grammar school athletes, numbering 475, representing fourteen schools, will compete this afternoon at Chicago Hebrew institute in the first of three meets. Other meets for southern athletes at Ogden park and for northern boys at Seward park will be held Memorial day. Entries by schools follow:

Penn	17	Crerar	19
McLaren	15	Gladstone	70
Cregier	10	Brown	16
Lawson	31	Brainard	48
Grant	11	Erickson	3
Jefferson	12	Howland	47
Hertzel	77	Marquette	114

Every boy is required to compete in the eight pound shot, 75 yard dash, 440 yard, and broad jump. The relay race will complete the program.

YALE SPORTS YIELD TOTAL OF $190,203

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 25.—Revenues of the Yale University Athletic association for the year ending Aug. 31 last, totalled $190,203, according to the anual report made public today. The balance of the reserve fund is $90,257. The greatest revenue came from football, $106,765, with baseball next with $40,514. The expense of the crew was nearly $25,000 and the receipts only $5,500. The expenses of the track team exceeded the revenues.

PERFECT SCORE FOR CHICAGOAN IN SHOOT

La Salle, Ill., May 25.—[Special.]—With a perfect score of 100, C. G. Burmeister of the Lincoln Park Gun club, Chicago, won the interstate championship event at the fortieth annual tourney of the Illinois State Sportsmen's association, which closed a three days' shoot at the local gun club.

This honor entitles Burmeister to enter the national amateur championship at the grand American handicap at St. Louis in August. Following closely behind Burmeister's record were L. B. Clarke of the same club, and Chan Powers of Decatur, with 99. In the shootoff for runnerup, Powers won the honor. Tom Hall was third.

Mrs. Almert Leads Women.

Mrs. Harold Almert of the Lincoln Park Gun club won the women's state championship by breaking ninety-four in the 100 bird race. She also won the trophy for the highest score on the 400 targets during the three day shoot. Her average for the entire three days was 368, a general average of ninety-two. This is the highest general average ever made in a women's championship match.

Arie High Amateur for Meet.

In the general summary of the entire match Mark Arie of Thomasboro was high amateur with a score of 396. C. G. Burmeister, Chicago, at 392, and Frank Graper of Jewell, Ia., and Johnny Jahn of Davenport, 391 each.

In the professional class, Art Killam was high with 395, J. C. Graham and Homer Clark tied for second with 393; Fred Bills followed with 392 and Ed Graham and Tom Marshall got 389 each.

PICK PURPLE SPORT BOARD.

Checker Match Ends in Tie.

The Chicago Chess and Checker club and the Northwest Chess club played a tie match, each scoring four and a half points, at the former's rooms. Pomeroy furnished the surprise by defeating Bertram of the home club.

Amateur Mat Star Dead.

Harry Churan of Pilsen Sokol, who won amateur wrestling championships in A. A. U., A. A. F., and I. G. U. tournaments, died on Tuesday. The funeral will be held today from 1713 N. Kimball avenue.

WOMAN GOLFER SUGGESTS MEN PLAY IN SKIRTS

Critics of Fair Sex Should Give Game Trial Under Feminine Conditions.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Chicago has so many women golfers of ability that they are given recognition by a majority of the clubs, and with the possible exception of the women players of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia, they have more events than those of any other section. The formation of women's organizations in St. Louis, Omaha, and other cities proves the game is advancing, but there are other sections in which the members of the fair sex are "tolerated" rather than welcomed.

A Louisville player of ability makes the suggestion that the men golfers might be made to respect the caliber of golf the the members of the fair sex put up if they endeavored to shoot par golf in costumes that included a nice wide skirt with which the wind takes liberties and a lot of long hair to tuck up under their headgear. She suggests the desirability of a men's handicap event governed by such handicap conditions.

Six Schools in Tourney.

Six schools will compete in the second round of the Suburban High School golf championship at the Hinsdale Golf club tomorrow morning. La Grange is leading with 452 points, University High having 471, and New Trier, last year's champion, 484. Oak Park has 543, Bloom township 568, and Evanston High [illegible]. The final match will be played at Flossmoor June 3.

Members of the new Bob O'Link club will inspect the grounds at Highland Park this afternoon. Donald Ross, the course architect, will accompany the party and explain his plans.

Palmer Victor in Play-Off.

J. G. Palmer of THE TRIBUNE defeated O. G. Lundberg of THE TRIBUNE in the playoff of their tie for the Non-[illegible] trophy which occurred in the Press Golf club tournament at Wheaton. Palmer had a net of 91, his opponent getting [illegible]

James Foulis Jr., professional at the Windsor Golf club, has installed several new trap and cop bunkers of novel construction. The Windsor greens are exceptionally good this spring, but rains have kept the course on the slow side.

Although the fairways on the nine hole course at Lincoln park has been greatly improved by the installation of the drainage system the players find the grass around the cups too long. This is due to a shortage of labor and the rapid growth of grass since warm weather arrived.

PURPLE BEATS MAROONS IN GOLF CONTESTS, 8 TO 5.

Northwestern university golfers defeated the Maroon quintet, 8 points to 5, in their match at the Westmoreland Country club. SOX AND GRIFFS FIGHT FOURTEEN ROUND DRAW

Senators Tie Score in Ninth, Then Johnson and Mel Wolfgang Battle Till Darkness Ends 3-3 Combat.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Chicago's White Sox ended their eastern trip today with a desperate battle against Washington, the combat being called on account of darkness at the end of the fourteenth round with the score a tie, 3 to 3. It was the most exciting fight the Sox have had since leaving home and it held the fans howling long past suppertime.

The seventh round was a hummer. Up to that time neither side had scored. The Sox made their three runs in that inning largely because the Washington defense blew up. Washington came back with two in its half, and in the last of the ninth tied the score.

Manager Rowland used three pitchers, Benz starting but being removed after the seventh in favor of Russell. The latter was present when the count was tied, but gave way to a pinch hitter in the tenth, after which Wolfgang held the enemy safe till darkness came.

Griffith started Harper, but yanked him after the seventh and put in Boehling. When the Sox threatened in the tenth, Walter Johnson was summoned to stop the fuss. He stopped it by fanning the first two men who faced him, and looked as if he could have stopped the Sox for the next seven or eight hours, so it's just as well darkness arrived.

A stalling exhibition, staged by Griffith's men in the tenth inning, was about the best Griffith ever has put on and would almost have warranted the umpires forfeiting the game to Chicago. As soon as Schalk opened with a single, Walter was rushed to the warming corner. Then there was a sacrifice which put Schalk on second and the Washington players held a conference.

Morgan Kills Some Time.

After the conference Ray Morgan discovered there was a rock or something in his shoes, so he sat down on the grass and took off his shoe and hunted for whatever he thought he could find. All this time Walter was warming up for all get out. After Morgan found the rock and got his shoe back on the players held another conference, then Boehling took a chance on pitching one ball because the umpires insisted. Ness pulled it viciously into the left pavilion.

The umpire then tossed out a new ball and Boehling spent a minute or more rubbing dirt on it, after which the umpire demanded it and tossed out another. By this time Walter was warmed up and Griffith called him into the battle.

Rowlands Helpless at Start.

In six innings the Sox were helpless before Harper's curves, only one blow being registered. That was in the fourth, when Eddie Collins dragged a bunt past the pitcher and beat Morgan's throw to first base. Even then Eddie got the good end of a close decision.

The big break of the game came when Eddie Collins opened the seventh with a triple to the left wall. Fournier walked. Then Jackson lifted a high one back of short. Shanks tore in after it, but couldn't get there in time. It went for a base hit and the bags were filled.

Wild Throw Starts Scoring.

In this pinch Felsch bounced to Foster and Collins was forced out at home, but Henry shot to first trying for a double play and the ball hit Felsch in the back and caromed off to right field. Fournier scored, Jackson went to third, and Felsch reached second on the mishap.

Schalk then worked the squeeze play with Jackson. His bunt went to Harper, who scooped it and fired to the plate, but the ball hit Jackson as he slid in and both Joe and Felsch also counted and Schalk made second, for the ball rolled to the stand. With McMullin at bat Schalk stole third, but was left there when McMullin bounced out to McBride and Benz fanned.

Two Runs for Senators.

In the last of the seventh the Nationals came within six inches of tying the score. With one out Judge singled. Shanks popped out, then Henry singled, Judge taking third. McBride was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Williams batted for Harper and singled to right, scoring Judge and Henry. McBride went to third and when Murphy pegged to the plate Williams dashed for second. Schalk pegged to second and McBride made a dash for home. Weaver returned the shot to the plate and nailed McBride by a half a foot.

In the last of the ninth, with one out, Judge tripled to left center and Shanks doubled to right center, tying the count. Shanks was nailed at third trying to make a triple of his blow and Henry's popup ended it.

In the tenth Schalk opened with a single and McMullin sacrificed. Ness then went up to hit for Russell and that brought Johnson to the slab. He fanned Ness and J. Collins also. From then on there was only one base hit on each side. Score:

Notes

Washington, D. C., May 25.—[Special.]—Chicago is the next stop.

Eddie Cicotte watched today's fray from the press stand because he was ailing. A muscle in his back was out of place and will have to be massaged a few days before he can work.

Benz started to take himself out of the game in the seventh after filling the bases, but his mates called him back. After the inning was over the manager did take him out.

There was real Washington weather on tap for the final game here. It felt like 90 in the shade, and nobody felt like carryin gan overcoat, but many of the Sox party were compelled to, as they went direct from the grounds to the train.

Jim Scott, who hasn't done much work on this trip because of illness, is all right again and may open against Cleveland on Saturday. He pitched to the batters in practice today and quit only after perspiring through his shirt.

Because of the long game the Sox missed the fast train to Chicago, but caught one about an hour later. It was a slow train, however, so, instead of being home tomorrow at 2 p. m., they will arrive about 9 o'clock in the evening.

An old man, at least 80 years of age, limped into the hotel this morning where the Sox are quartered. He wanted to see Capt. Comiskey, and was disappointed because the captain wasn't with us. It developed he was Fred Rice, gate man at the St. Louis Browns' park in '86, when Commy was winning world's championships.

PSYCHOLOGY?

SINCE the publication of the rumor that there would be a shakeup in the team and the possible deposition of Manager Rowland unless there was an improvement the White Sox have won and played a fourteen inning tie game against Washington, one of the present contenders for first place, and have themselves advanced from the coal hole to fifth place.

SOX MERELY OUT OF LUCK, DECLARES BAN JOHNSON.

Returning from an eastern trip yesterday President Johnson of the American league expressed the opinion that the White Sox were outlucked in their games that he saw, but that they did not play bad baseball, at least not bad enough for them to find a place at the bottom of the second division.

"In one of the games particularly, all the runs scored against the Sox were the result of unfortunate breaks," said President Johnson. "The material is there and I expect the team to improve its standing materially after its arrival home."

DUBUQUE COLLEGIAN TO SOX

Dubuque, Ia., May 25.—[Special.]—Clarence Parker, star outfielder of Dubuque German college, has accepted terms with the Chicago White Sox and will report within the next two weeks. He played with the St. Louis Browns late last season.

Minor League Plays Help Reds to Beat Cubs, 8-4

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Cincinnati, O., May 25.—[Special.]—Cincinnati trimmed Chicago today in the worst game ever seen outside the tall grass. Both Reds and Cubs played minor league baseball, but the Herzog outfit looked like class D, while the Tinkers belonged in class F. The score was 8 to 4.

Mordecai Peter Centennial Brown was picked to make his 1916 bow because the hot weather which the Cubs encountered here was thought to be just his kind. It was, but the things that happened to Brownie in the very first inning were enough to lose not only a ball game but a whole schedule full of them.

Heine Zim Balled Up.

Heine Zim balled up two plays in a way that was so bad it was laughable. Fischer missed an open and shut out at the plate and the outcome was four runs on one base hit and a little bunt by Hal Chase which ought not to have been good even for a sacrifice, but which did result in a scratch single.

Brown contributed a bit to his own downfall by passing Groh, first up in the fatal first. Neale pasted a fast one back at Brown, who got a piece of it with his mitt, but deflected the ball out of McCarthy's reach.

Brown deliberately handed up a slow ball right where Chase could bunt it toward third base, and Hal fell into the trap. Before the ball was tapped Brown was on his way to field it, but so was Zimmerman. They mixed and lost even the chance to get Chase.

"Trick" Play by Heine.

That filled the bags with nobody out. Wingo lined a drive to Mann, scoring Groh and letting Neale and Chase move up a base apiece. McCarthy cut off Griffith's bounder and headed Neale at the plate. The runner doubled back and Fischer chased him to third, where Chase was already standing, then tossed the ball to Zimmerman. Heine caught it, but made no move to tag either Neale or Chase, so Neale started back for the plate with Zim after him. Neale won the race and scored.

Mollwitz then flied to Williams, whose throw home beat Chase by two steps, but it shot past Fischer to the stand and Griffith also scored. Herzog followed with a real triple, but Louden grounded the side out, and Brown gave way to McConnell in the next round.

Mac's Support Little Better.

What the Cubs did to McConnell wasn't as bad as the support they did not give Brown, but it was bad enough in spots. The Reds touched George for six hits and five bases on balls during the seven innings he worked and these were good for four runs in bunches of one.

The Cubs managed to make just enough runs to offset the first inning fiasco. They rapped Mitchell's left handed curves hard, but in hard luck. Tinker's men grabbed as many safeties as the Reds made, but were not aided by as many blunders.

Louden's muff and McCarthy's first hit were good for a tally in the second. Saier's single and McCarthy's double counted another in the sixth. Mann's triple and an infield out were good for the third Cub tally and Mann's Texas league double, followed by two outs, let the final tally around in the ninth.

Two spectacular stops by Mollwitz kept the Cubs from increasing their count. He robbed McConnell and Zimmerman of stinging drives over first base in different rounds where it hurt.

St. Philips vs. St. Joseph Today.

St. Philip's High school will play the nine from St. Joseph's college of Rensselaer, Ind., at the St. Philip field tomorrow. A return [illegible]

Notes

Cincinnati, O., May 25.—[Special.]—Cubs and Reds again tomorrow.

McCarthy did the best slugging for the Tinkers, with two singles, a double, and a pass in four trips to the plate. That gave him an average of 1,000.

Owing to the incapacitation of Killifer, Manager Herzog shifted his defense today, putting Chase in left field and Mollwitz on first. The change apparently did not weaken the team any.

The Cubs encountered the hottest weather they have seen since Tampa, and directly after breakfast there was a rush for the nearest hat dispensaries to obtain summer headgear in place of the winter stuff they have been wearing.

With Mollwitz on third and Louden on second in the sixth McConnell let go a wild pitch. Mollwitz scored and Louden tried to. Fischer fired the ball back to McConnell in time to tag the runner, but McConnell dropped it. Louden, however, slid around the plate and when he tried to reach back and touch it McConnell got him.

Luck broke against the Cubs in the fourth, when Mitchell wabbled and passed Saier and McCarthy with none out. Fischer bunted, but Wingo got it in time to force Saier at third. Mulligan popped out, but McConnell smashed a fast one close to first base. Mollwitz blocked it and recovered in time to throw to Mitchell, retiring McConnell. McCarthy tried to go home from second on the play, but was doubled up by a hair.

SHORT STORIES.

[Dict. JAL—RWL.]

THIS is a new story that you never heard before. Once upon a time there was a farmer who lived and and his name was Uncle Abe. And he had pigs and chickens and horses and chickens. And he. And there was Duke and Med and I don't know what was the chickens' names and I don't know what was the pigs' names.

And we saw Mamie and Uncle Frank and Aunt Fan, and, let me see, and Uncle Bill and Aunt Han and Uncle Abe.

That's the end of that story.

I'll tell you a story about Lake Michigan.

Once upon a time it started from Lake Michigan in this story. It started from Lake Michigan and it just came from Milwaukee.

And then it stopped to get a baby and a grandfather and a grandmother and a little mother.

And pretty soon until they got to Michigan City, the boat turned over and went to the St. Joe river we saw going to Goshen. It got up and went.

Let's have about going on a train to Goshen. This is a long story.

It was a long time ago when it was winter and it was very cold because it snowed all the time.

So they ate their lunch and went to Goshen. I mean last winter, don't you know? Not the last time.

They ate their lunch and went to Goshen.

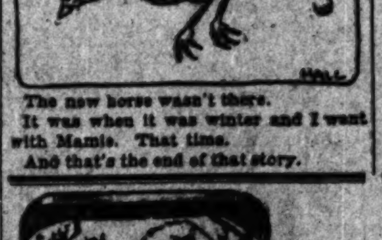
And they saw Duke. That was when the new horse wasn't there. They was bringing it home the day he went.

And pretty soon it ends up.

And pretty soon the chickens and that was when they didn't have the pigs.

The chickens was going to get killed. It flew up to where the corn was because it didn't want to get killed. Something that looked like a tower, don't you know? Where the chicken flew up.

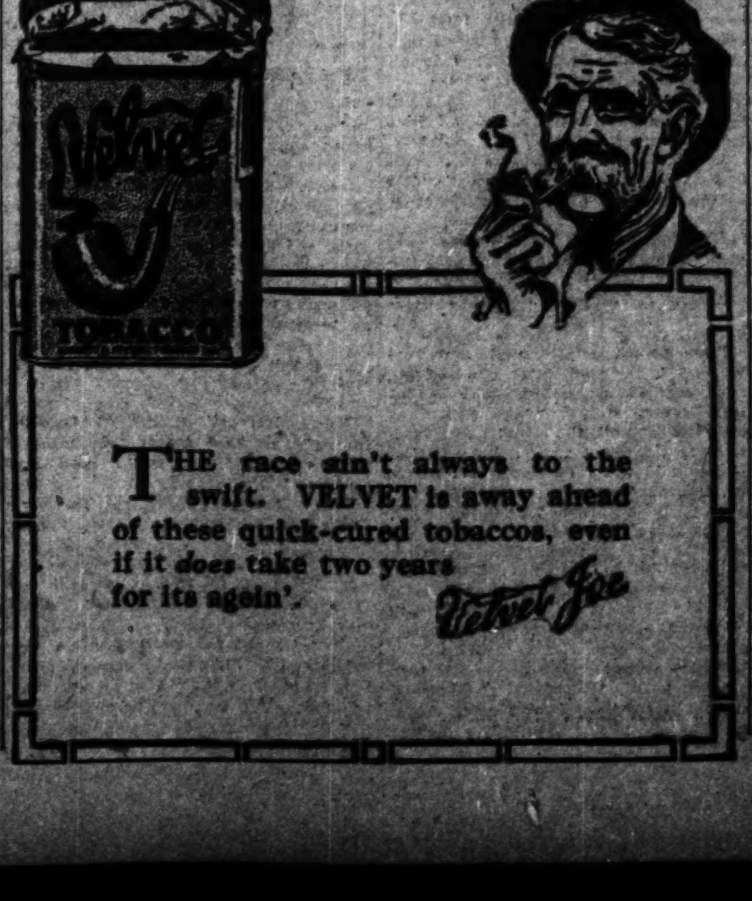
Pretty soon they let it out and it flew to the ground as fast as it could. It didn't want to get killed.



The new horse wasn't there.

It was when it was winter and I went with Mamie. That time.

And that's the end of that story.



THE race ain't always to the swift. VELVET is away ahead of these quick-cured tobaccos, even if it does take two years for its agein'.

LA GRANGE POUNDS PROVISO NINE, 19-4; PLAYOFF NECESSARY

La Grange will battle Evanston for the Suburban High School league championship as the result of its victory over Proviso, 19 to 4, at La Grange. The title contenders finished their schedule with a record of six victories and one defeat each. The battle tomorrow at La Grange will be a post-season affair. Yesterday's game was the replay of a protested contest which La Grange had won earlier in the season. Score:

BY OTTO A. ENGEL.

Schurz High made a bid for the Chicago High School league championship yesterday, qualifying as the northern sectional title holder by its victory over Senn, 3 to 2, at Independence park. Although Croon held the losers to four hits, Senn put up such a fierce struggle that Schurz was forced to cut two players down at the plate. Bissell nailed one on a great throw from right, and a rebound off Croon's mitt went to the catcher, who got Farrow coming in from third. Applegate singled in the fourth, went to third on Chojnacki's bingle, and scored the winning counter on Ritterspoon's squeeze play. Score:

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

A Frock, a Hat, and a Parasol.

BY ELIZABETH LORD.

IN this season in which the combining of different materials and much elaborate trimming is the rule, one is occasionally relieved by the appearance of a chic "trotteur" resting solely on the merits of its own fabric and the interest of its lines for distinction and requiring for trimming only buttons to effect a neat closing, with occasionally a collar, flaring or corollalike, of white or tinted or striped organdie or linen.

Such a gown is illustrated. Made entirely of sand color gabardine, the front panel is cut in one piece, including the cavalier collar of exaggerated proportions which is cut on particularly good lines. The straight little bodice at each side of the front panel joins the skirt at a high waistline with a double peplum which flares sufficiently to acknowledge the new mode of distinctly broadening hips, but so discreetly that the simplicity of the silhouette is not lost.

The hat accompanying the gown is a little poke shape, set rather squarely on the head and not following the popular mode of an uptilted back line. Its entire, ample sized crown is covered with shirred rows of sand colored grosgrain ribbons with a small rose tucked in the knot for becomingness sake, and to match a similar rose that blooms from the crown.

A change in the mode of gowns requires also that the accessories be different, else inharmony results. And so, because skirts are wide and short, the newest umbrellas and parasols have short, flat handles, often an inch in diameter. A characteristic of these necessary and effective accessories is that the points match the handles, for instance an ivory handled parasol has an ivory point or an ebony handle and ebony point. Fortunately for those of us who must economise in the season of extravagant modes, a slender umbrella is less absurd with the wide, short skirts than a turn about of the modes. Fancy the cubilise, short umbrella with the slim silhouette of three years ago!

This season's mode will suit the woman who travels, for at last she can pack her parasols in her trunk—provided her crinolines have sufficient space.

Although collars are becoming bigger than ever and many of the separate coats have hugh, capelike collars, shrouding the wearer from cheek to shoulder, and many of the corollalike modes in the transparencies encircle the face like the petals of a flower, in two or three more months we may expect a decided lowering of the neck line and a provision for the turning back of collars from the throat; for of necessity there must be some change to meet the difference between the winter and summer temperature.

Some of the new serge and gabardine tailored suits have separate collars with a tiny suggestion of vest and are of white linen with a stripe in color and possibly a touch of the linen is repeated somewhere at the wrist with little resemblance to the regulation cuff and detracting but little from the prominence of the collar.

Porch and Veranda Boxes.

THE porch and veranda of ordinary size will admit the use of larger boxes than can be used at the average window, and in them larger plants can be grown. If boxes have to be made to fit individual needs, I would suggest having them fitted to the railing in such a manner that there is a continuous row of them, thus making it possible to frame in the porch or veranda completely with them. The effect will be far more pleasing than when short boxes are used, with wide vacant spaces between them.

Of course, these boxes, being larger in every way than the ordinary window box, will have to be correspondingly stout, as they will have to retain a large amount of soil.

Large plants can be used in them. Here cannas, palms, dracenas, dieffenbachias, and others of a similar class will be found extremely effective, and plants of a lower growth can be used between them—flowering plants like heliotrope, verbena, petunia, geranium, and nasturtium. At the edge such plants as Mme. Salleroi geranium, with its green and white foliage, will be effective, alternating with scarlet coleus or "golden feather" pyrethrum.

To droop and hide the box there should be liberal use made of such plants as lysimachia, tradescantia, moneywort, othonna, myrtle, and glechoma.

I know of several women who have quite large collections of house plants who set them in their veranda boxes in summer. They do not turn them out of their pots, but sink them into the soil, where they have the appearance of growing directly from it, and other plants are used to fill in between them.

In this way their house plants are made to do decorative duty in summer, and are helped out by outdoor conditions. Large ferns will be found useful in this connection. Fuchsias are admirable for the purpose, as the summer is their special flowering season.

Tuberous begonias can be used effectively as "fillers" for the places between the pots. A large porch or veranda framed in with boxes filled with healthy plants and vines will be found an excellent substitute for a garden, and afford quite as much pleasure as the box at the window does.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

by JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

Some people who want to eat many sweet things imagine they have the sanction of science, and do not understand how they are constantly manufacturing sugars from starches in their own laboratories.

Cherry Dips.

CHERRIES or grapes dipped in fondant stand much better or longer than do strawberries so dipped, although the latter are highly popular today, both at home and in the candy shops, and then the cherries have such a nice handle. The little paper cup for each makes it a fine and decorative thing. If strawberries are used they should be washed, drained, and dried thoroughly. I do not accept those professionally made, because the essence of a delicate thing is that it should be clean, and if I have reason to think it is not, it is no dainty.

A fondant for dipping must be smooth and soft as silk. Glucose must for this reason be used, even if the maker is quite expert. A shallow double boiler is best for melting the fondant. Cold glucose pours more slowly than cold molasses, but when warmed up, by setting container in hot water it pours readily.

The Fondant.

Two cups of fine granulated sugar, one-half cup hot or cold water, one-half cup of glucose. Prepare the glucose so that it will pour. Stir the water and sugar over the fire until the latter is dissolved, but not a moment after it boils [safest to use cold water or dissolve off stove in boiling], then pour in the half cup glucose, watch fire so that it just boils, put in thermometer and cook to 238 degrees or fudge stage. Cool and then whip till white and creamy. Cover with damp cloth and let it ripen for at least an hour or for twenty-four, or it will keep for days. Melt over hot water, and if too dense add a tablespoon of boiling water or hot sirup and stir with wooden paddle till smooth and flowing, flavor to taste or omit flavor. Have cherries clean and dry before dipping them.

FLICKERINGS from FILM LAND

"Salvation Joan" at Orchestra Hall.

BY KITTY KELLY.

"SALVATION JOAN" shines this week from Orchestra hall screen with the radiance of a gracious presence in Miss Edna May, former musical comedy star, eliminated from histrionic horizons by matrimony, who returned "just this once" to the new art for purposes of Red Cross consideration—$100,000 so it is said—her stipend, which she donated outright to the fund.

Miss May is much better than her vehicle, written specially for her by Marguerite Bertsche, and abounding in illogicalities which are, however, common to all romances, whether of fiction or film.

In spite of these illogical things, however, there is a well developed dramatic situation, rather obvious, but striking. It has to do with the well known "papers," safe robbing, and the sudden shifting of the crook into the secret service man. He is the hero, of course, and he resorts to the rather crual method of gagging the lady, but she loves him still, and all is well. One of the nicest things about the picture is the way Miss May administers the betrothal osculation.

Dorothy Kelly, Bobby Connelly, and Harry Morey and Donald Hall of "The Law Decides" cast assist Miss May, and do so very ably as their followers feel confident they would. Miss Kelly has a distinctive type of beauty, much developed in the last two years, and she wears her rôles as well as her clothes.

Donald Hall is always likeable, especially in profile. Harry Morey is always a specially satisfying player, because he doesn't look like an actor, and he plays, whether hero or villain, with a finish that stamps him as more human than histrionic.

And, of course, Miss May is a factor to be considered, for this will be a lasting record of her as a person of the drama. She plays gracefully and unself-consciously before the camera. She has the kind of personality that nullifies the writing of time.

The picture is richly caprisioned and interestingly handled. The Salvation army mission seems rather forceless, without any spiritual significance, and throughout there is too much close-up, standing at attention and posing, but in the main the story serves its purpose.

Protest at Factory Scenes.

The National Association of Garment Manufacturers now in session at the Hotel La Salle yesterday adopted resolutions protesting against the making and exhibiting of films "assuming to show life in American factories, which pictures are untruthful and unaesthetic and do not in any way represent conditions as they are in real life."

"These pictures are made by a lot of actors who never saw the inside of a factory," said an incensed official. "They seem to think that to satisfy the picture public they must make of every factory scene a piece of brutality. The girls are knocked around and discharged and treated in a way no American working girl would stand."

Copies of the resolutions will be sent to all important producers.

Miss Jackie Saunders

MISS JACKIE SAUNDERS, the Balboa scintillator, is a daughter of Philadelphia and convent bred. She came to the films via the model's way, having posed for Fisher, Underwood, and Christy. And now, so pleasing are her films that Pathé Freres send many of them abroad for coloring, which is a treat conferred on none but the most pleasing productions, for hand coloring happens to be an expensive consideration.

More Feeble Film Footage.

Here is another sample of a good name harnessed to a lot of feeble film footage. These Robert Service poems have been made the excuse for another one of those tales where the girl marries the other man, while the man finds gold in the snowy wilds, comes back and beats up the other man aforesaid, who has been plunging in Wall street. There is a certain amount of beautiful scenery, but there is a deal more melodrama, with the Service idea dragged in by the heels mostly.

Calling at the home of an acquaintance one day I met for the first time her two little daughters. The older was an attractive child, and the younger plain. Beauty Hints

by Antoinette Donnelly

If you missed the Antoinette Donnelly series telling how she reduced Mrs. Lane thirty-six pounds in six weeks send her stamped, addressed envelope and she will mail you complete exercise and diet instructions. Any other questions on obesity will be gladly answered by Miss Donnelly.

GRACE: POOR BLOOD OR INDIGESTION may cause the rash. Exercise to stimulate the circulation and be careful of your diet. Eliminate particularly oily meats and sweets. Do not eat any fried food. Drink lots of water and guard against constipation. Deep breathing is a wonderful help to health, strength, and beauty. I shall be glad to send you my instructions for deep breathing if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

ANXIOUS: "WATTLES" UNDER the chin can be removed by massage. You should have massaged your face and chin for a few minutes after each set of exercises, rubbing in a good cold cream. If you have allowed the "wattles" to form you will have to be persistent now with the massage and do not forget the special massage at night, ending with a rubbing over of the face and chin with either camphorated ice or plain ice. This is important, as you have learned.

ADA T.: THOSE SCALY ERUPTIONS on the arms are invariably due to poor circulation. The best remedy for this is cold baths in the morning. If you cannot stand the morning plunge you would do a lot toward remedying the roughness of your arms by letting cold water run over the arms for a minute or two after the warm bath, then rub vigorously with a Turkish towel. Daily use of a bath brush is recommended as one of the quickest remedies. The bristles stimulate the circulation and at the same time prevent an accumulation of dead skin. Sometimes a couple of weeks of daily use of the brush will make the arms smooth and soft.

FRANCES: GLYCERINE DOES NOT agree with all skins. Discontinue the use of glycerine and use only the cold cream or a good skin food and I am sure you will find a great deal of difference in the condition of your skin. A chalky powder will have the effect of making your face look pasty. Use a good grade of rice powder. First rub your face with a good cream before applying the powder.

MADELINE: LARGE KNUCKLES cannot be reduced. By building up the rest of the hand the joints will be made to appear smaller. Massaging with a good skin food is especially helpful in treating enlarged joints. I shall be glad to send you my formula for skin food if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

Real Love Stories

The Way of a Woman.

BILLY and I were roommates, and had known each other for several years, and nobody knows or can tell this story better than me unless it's the girl—and she won't. Say, you've seen the sun peeping through the clouds just after it rained? Well, that was Billy. He just naturally radiated good humor and sunshine. You couldn't be grouchy in his presence.

He met the girl while he was up north on a business trip, and when he came back he told me all about her; how good she was, how pretty, how she walked. Say, it used to make me sick to listen to the mush he used to hand me about her. I could see he was serious, because he began to develop moods; at the breakfast table you could tell by the look on his face whether it was a letter from her and by the grin on his face, as he would look up and catch my eye, you could see it was pleasant. And write! He used to get up sometimes in the middle of the night and write her; said he couldn't sleep unless he did.

She was about five hundred miles away, and yet on the slightest pretense he used to run up and see her for a week. He'd be sitting around, when all of a sudden he would get a brain storm, pack his grip, and run for the train. This got to be a common occurrence. He would come back so chock full of enthusiasm and ginger and pep, you couldn't resist him. He sure could get the business after one of those trips.

Things ran along like that for over a year; he just living for her; his moods depending on her letters. Say, them ancient heathens never worshiped their gods more devoutly than he worshiped and adored this girl. The room was full of her pictures, but I was afraid for him.

She didn't look like the kind of girl he ought to have. She was pretty, you bet, and she had a physical attraction that no man could resist, but she carried nothing on her mind but her hair.

Well, pretty soon Bill was figuring light, and rent, and heat, and how much coal and groceries would be a month, and when I found him looking over the flats for rent column in the newspapers, I knew I was going to lose him. Finally they fixed the day. She was to come south to visit a friend, although most everybody, including her folks, knew what she was coming for, and he was to meet her there and bring the license with him, and have a sort of elopement with everybody's consent.

He was packing up. He was to meet her the next day; we were singing and joshing each other, me not showing how bad I felt at him leaving, and he happy in the thought that tomorrow he would see her, when the door bell rang, and he brought in a special delivery letter. As I watched him read it I knew something was wrong. Did you ever see a man fight with himself for self-control? It isn't a pretty sight, especially if he is your friend and you can't help him.

At last he straightened up, and with a weak smile said that he guessed he would stay a while longer with me. Afterwards I found out what it contained. She had written him to say that she had just been married and would he forgive her. He's still rooming with me, but the spring has all gone out of his system. He don't laugh or talk much any more, just sits around and thinks. Lots of times I come in and catch him with her picture in his hand.

I don't know what to do with him. He has an idea in his head that some how, some way she will come back to him. He insists that she will come back, and, watching the lines on his face and the look in his eyes when he looks at her picture, I'm praying that his hunch comes true.

H. A. LAWSON.

By All Means, Speak.

"Dear Miss Blake: This is the first time I have come to you for advice. There is a young man here and we were great friends until he stopped going with me. Now we do not speak when we meet each other. We want to, but neither likes to speak first. Each one is waiting for the other to begin it. Now do you think it is my place to speak first or his? "M. A. A."

I think it is too bad that so many friendships are broken up completely because of the refusal of one or the other to take the first step at making up. Certainly, speak to him the next time you see him. You don't need to be effusive at all. He probably will become that himself.

Don't Bother, Doubtful.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 16 and would like help from you. I know a nice young man whom I love. Another girl goes with him now. Will you tell me how I could get him back? "D."

My dear Doubtful, why in the world do you want to waste your affections on a man who goes with another girl? I wouldn't try to get him back at all. You have loads of time ahead of you, you know, so that you don't need to be alarmed at being an old maid. Have a good time with the other boys you know, and don't forget that the love affairs of 16 rarely [illegible] end in matrimony.

HIGH SCHOOL THESPIAN

Miss Cummings Will Play One of the Leading Roles in "Monsieur Beaucaire" This Evening in Maywood.

Miss Magdeline Cummings

MISS MAGDELENE CUMMINGS will play the rôle of Lucy Rellerton in the presentation of "Monsieur Beaucaire" at Maywood this evening by the senior class of Proviso Township High school. Thirty-four students will take part in the production, which is under the direction of Miss Lulu Beckington and Miss Lillian Fitch.

CLUBS

ON Decoration day, the Prairie club will hold its annual spring festival at the dunes. Sixty-five members of the club will take part in an exhibition of folk dancing, which will be given on a large green canvas spread in a picturesque hollow near the trail to the Beach house at Tremont, Ind. The Prairie club's chorus will sing. Earl H. Reed, the artist, will speak on "The Dunes." Trains will leave the Randolph street station of the Illinois Central at 7:15 and 8:15 a. m.

The regular hike tomorrow will be in the woods adjacent to Palos park. The party will leave the Dearborn street station at 1:25 p. m.

Mrs. Bernise Oberwinder will be the guest of the Chicago College club at its tea this afternoon. The hostesses will be Mrs. Harry L. Clapp and Miss Katherine Wells. Those presiding at the tea tables will be Miss Grace Jackson and Mrs. Henry K. Urion.

There will be a meeting this afternoon of the Wilmette division of the New Trier organization for the suffrage parade.

Miss Mary McDowell will speak today on settlement work at the meeting of the Woman's club of Berwyn.

The Irving Literary society of the William McKinley High school, which claims to be the oldest society of its kind in Chicago, will hold its fifty-ninth annual historical day this afternoon at the McKinley High school. The society was founded in 1857 at the old Chicago High school, was transferred to the West Division High school, and now continues at the McKinley.

Juan Antonio Meana and Bernardo Meana will take the leading parts tonight in the play, "Literatura Modernista," which will be given at the City club by the Sociedad Hispano Americana. Both are graduates of the University of Madrid. There will also be a production of the Spanish opera, "Goyescas," by the Van Grove Opera company.

An informal dancing party will be held tonight at the Kenwood club.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

By MARION HARLAND

Saves the Curtains.

"I AM a country woman, and should like to tell how to save thousands of dollar's worth of curtains during the spring house cleaning. After they are laundered just slip your thimble over the rods. The curtain rods can then slip through the curtains without tearing and bruising the threads. A. E. J."

The simple expedient you describe, although not new to the readers of our Corner, is good enough to justify another repetition. We thank you for recalling it to our minds now that we are putting up summer curtains. The thimble must be perfectly clean, and silver or gold is preferable to brass for this purpose. Brass sometimes leaves a greenish stain upon a damp fabric.

Crackers.

"Here are the crackers a correspondent requested: Sixteen cups of flour [before sifting], one and one-half cups of lard, two spoons of baking powder, two spoons of salt, water enough to make a stiff dough. Pound with a mallet or rolling pin for fifteen minutes. Roll thin, cut out, and prick with a fork. Bake in a quick oven until a light brown. Graham crackers: One quart graham flour, one pint of white flour, one teaspoon of salt, half cup shortening, water to work stiff. Roll out and cut. Prick with a fork. Finely chopped raisins or dates may be added. I have seen the corn portières made as directed by our Cornerite, and glass beads of all colors and sizes strung with the natural colored corn. They are beautiful. "MRS. I. H."

The recipes for home made crackers are most acceptable. Try the directions given by our indefatigable member, Mrs. I. H and tell us of the results.

Drawn Butter Sauce.

"I shall be glad if you will tell me how to make a drawn butter dressing that will stay melted, as I have had it served me in restaurants. E. D."

Try this recipe. It has been in use in my household for years and is, I think, what you want. It is the foundation for sundry sauces, such as sauce tartare, Hollandaise, Bechamel, etc. Heat two tablespoons of butter in a saucepan. When it bubbles put in all at once two tablespoons of flour and stir from the sides toward the center of the pan until the ingredients are well mixed. Have ready heated a cup of milk, add to this the "roux" gradually and beat to a smooth cream. Season with white pepper and salt and, if you like, a little onion juice.

Words of a Song.

"Could any of your readers send me the words of this song:

Once in a manger lowly
Hundreds of years ago,
A little babe so holy
Came to this world below.
Near him was a crowded city,
Bethlehem, cold and dark,
No one was there to pity,
Chill was the night and cold.

H. B. A."

Your "hymn of the nativity" should be found in our collections of church music, but it is not familiar to me. Readers will undoubtedly identify it, and supply you with a copy. Your address and wish are registered.

"Peerless Quality" is the meaning of this name and crest.

SAVOY BRAND

Savoy Ceylon & India
Orange Pekoe Tea

EVERY leaf entering into Savoy Ceylon & India Orange Pekoe tea comes from the most famous gardens located on the high mountain slopes producing teas of exceptional quality.

Not only has this tea an unusually delightful flavor, but it has the strength that refreshes, satisfies and sustains. Its use is real economy. From a half pound canister may be brewed more than one hundred fragrant cups.

When the BEST tea can be procured for less than one-third of a cent per cup, it is actually wasteful to use any brand other than Savoy.

There are 200 Savoy Products and each one is not only the best of its kind, but also reasonably priced. And we guarantee every Savoy Product absolutely.

Miss McCormick Has Needlework Exhibit.

Miss Elizabeth McCormick is having an exhibit and sale of old fashioned needlework today at her residence, 660 Rush street. The embroideries have been made by Miss McCormick and women who have worked under her direction.

A horse show ball will follow the equestrian pageant at the South Shore Country club on Saturday evening, June 24. The guests will appear in riding costume, members of the committee wearing bright red coats, white waistcoats, and black breeches.

The Chicago Smith College club will hold its annual outdoor meeting and field day at Millers, Ind., on Saturday, May 27. The Smith alumnæ are calling this affair a "Bacon bat," their college name for these excursions, but the affair will be in the dunes along Lake Michigan, instead of "on the Connecticut."

A transplanted colony of Chicagoans and the lure of names like Bretton Woods, Sugar Hill, Flume House, and The Balsams, are attracting a great number of western people to the White mountains. John Sumner Runnells has a magnificent estate at Chororua, within a few miles of Madison, where he was born. At the other end of the mountains is the home of J. G. Giessner, who has been going to the White mountains for over thirty years.

Among the others who always leave Chicago in June for the eastern resorts are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Blair, and Miss Anita Blair. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Skinner Willing, who are now at White Sulphur Springs, will spend their summer at Jefferson, N. H.

The South Shore Country club will give a dinner and dance tomorrow evening. The club announces a concert on Sunday afternoon.

Invitations to the dinner which was to be given tomorrow evening by Mrs. William O. Duntley of 4753 Grand boulevard for Miss Helen Conover and Edward Morris have been recalled because of the illness of Mrs. Duntley. Miss Conover and Mr. Morris are to be married next Wednesday at St. James' Methodist Episcopal church. The service will be followed by a wedding supper in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel.

There will be a fancy dress party this evening in the Root-Holabird studio. Mrs. John Root will assist Mr. Root and John Holabird in receiving.

To follow all set rules and wear red badges or to break away from restraining convention and flaunt the suffrage yellow ribbons to show their servitude as members of the floor committee is the momentous question of the men who will assist at the convention ball and garden party on June 6 at the Harold McCormick house.

Whatever the outcome, Mr. J. Allen Haines, the chairman of the committee, has gathered together an imposing body of men interested in the cause. Each day brings additional names to the committee, the latest acquisitions being Bruce Borland, James C. Hutchins Jr., Robert J. Thorne, John A. Stevenson, and Hugh McBirney Johnston.

Weddings.

The marriage is announced of Miss Adele Lochner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henry Lochner, and Joseph Pierrepont Gould. The ceremony took place at the Hotel La Salle.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Johnson yesterday issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Helen Louise, to Edgar Allmann of New York. The wedding will take place on the evening of Wednesday, June 7, at the residence of the bride's parents, 1402 Elinor place, Evanston.

Following an extended wedding trip they will make their home in San Francisco, Cal.

Miss Mildred Blanchard, daughter of Charles A. Blanchard, president of Wheaton college, was married on Wednesday night to Glen Ogden, a graduate of that college, class 1909. They met while attending college at Wheaton. Their honeymoon will be spent in India, where the couple are to live.

Bankers Take Spanish Honors.

Richard Wagner of 4511 Drake avenue, of the Continental and Commercial National bank, was awarded a gold medal last night in the Northwestern University building for being the best Spanish student in the first Spanish class in Chicago under the auspices of the Spanish American consuls and of the Chicago Bankers' association.

First honorable mention was awarded V. A. Librette of 3220 Arthington street, of the Pioneer State Savings bank, and second honorable mention to J. Detolve of 1025 West Congress street, of the Corn Exchange National bank.

The test was a thirty-minute reading, speaking, translating, and writing examination. Six weeks ago none of the class of 150 knew anything of the Spanish language. The Spanish Club of Chicago was organized.

The judges of the contest were Dr. J. Gardiner V. Navarro, consul for Panama, and Professor Severino Ojea, the instructor. A. Floreen of the Central Trust company of Illinois, president of the Chicago chapter of the Illinois Bankers' association, presided, and Bertholde Singer, consul for Spain in Chicago, bestowed the prizes.

Kent Alumni to Hold Banquet.

Final arrangements have been made for the twenty-ninth annual banquet and reunion of classes of the Chicago Kent College of Law, to be held at the Auditorium hotel on Thursday, June 1, at 6 p. m.

Harry G. Keats, assistant judge of the Probate court, chairman of the committee on speakers and entertainment, announces that Leslie M. Shaw, former governor of Iowa and ex-secretary of the Treasury, will be the speaker of the evening.

Miss Ruth Manierre

The announcement Wednesday of the engagement of Henry Brewster Freeman to Miss Ruth Manierre caused quite a stir on the University of Chicago campus. Miss Manierre, who graduates this year, is one of the most popular of the university young women. She was secretary of her class in her sophomore year and will read the class poem at the class day exercises next week.

Mr. Freeman is the son of former Judge Henry V. Freeman. Miss Manierre is the daughter of Mrs. Charles E. Manierre of 5719 Kimbark avenue.

Now It's Shooting Classes for Women.

BY CINDERELLA.

Sometimes the Boston women are a little more advanced in thought than we of the Mississippi valley. Here we are first aiding and marching for preparedness, but one hears that the latest from the Boston north shore is shooting classes for women. If that isn't something practical and up to the minute for preparedness!

True to their Bunker Hill ancestry, the Boston women this spring at every country club are learning trap shooting, target shooting, and how to be handy with a revolver. Rifle shooting, however, is the particular thing they go in for, and feminine rifle practice is the excitement of the hour.

Chicagoans due to summer on the Boston north shore would better say their prayers and select their life insurance early.

Miss Rosa Garibaldi and her fiancé, Count Bolognesi, are having many parties given for them by both their Italian and their American friends. Miss Garibaldi has long since been admired by north side society. She is a really beautiful brunette, very sweet, and with a lovely voice.

The Italian consul, Count Bolognesi, has a delightful sense of hospitality, a fondness for bridge, and very little for society per se.

When he came here Count Bolognesi was supposed to find the company of women insupportable and boring, but he has disproved this by his approaching marriage June 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strobel had a large luncheon for Miss Garibaldi Sunday a week ago at the Saddle and Cycle, and Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor had twenty guests to meet Count Bolognesi and his bride to be at luncheon last Sunday.

Count Bolognesi has maintained an apartment in East Cedar street where subtle aromas of Italian cookery have ofttimes interested the neighbors.

Visitors are coming daily to Chicago. Yesterday arrived in town Mrs. Phillips Brooke Robinson of New York to stay with her sister, Miss Marian Sheen. Mrs. Robinson, as Miss Gertrude Sheen, has often been the guest of Mrs. Ogden Armour at Mellody Farm, Lake Forest, meeting tout Chicago.

New York Society Happenings.

New York, May 25.—Miss Maude Coster will be married tomorrow to Count Otto Salm-Hoogstraeten of Reichenau, Austria, in the residence of her mother, Mrs. Charles Henry Coster, at 37 East Thirty-seventh street. She will have no attendants. George T. Aranyi will be best man. Only relatives and intimate friends will be present.

Miss Margaret Carnegie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, is to be graduated tomorrow from Miss Spence's school. Miss Carnegie will be a debutante next winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont came from their home in Washington, D. C., to attend the opening of the racing season at Belmont park today.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Rogers of this city have sent out cards for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen N. Rogers, to Herbert B. Wright. The ceremony will take place on June 14 at the Hotel Gotham, the Rev. William J. Sinnott officiating.

OBITUARY.

ROBERT KENNY, 83 years old, who died yesterday at 114 Oak street, was in the '60s chief of detectives under John Turtle, chief of police. He was born in Ireland in 1833 and came to Chicago more than sixty years ago. For twenty years Mr. Kenny lived a retired life. FLATS AND HOME SALES FEATURE REALTY MARKET

North Side Residence, Evanston Hotel, and South Side Apartments Lead Trading.

Residence, business, and flat property, together with a noteworthy transaction in Evanston hotel property, were the most important developments yesterday in a real estate market way. The leading residence deal was the purchase by Otto Schulz, president of the M. Schulz company, manufacturers of pianos and piano players, from H. F. Perkins of the property at the northwest corner of Kenmore and Glenlake avenues for an indicated consideration of $40,000 cash. The lot is 100x150 feet and is improved with an attractive three story dwelling containing twelve rooms.

A noteworthy deal in south side flat property made a matter of record was the sale by Mrs. Marie C. Bloom of the property at the southeast corner of Fifty-second street and Ingleside avenue for an indicated consideration of $73,000, subject to an incumbrance of $43,000. The building, an eighteen apartment of five and six rooms, occupies a lot 110x105 feet.

Halsted Corner in Trade.

The property at the northwest corner of Buckingham place and Halsted street, lot 65x125 feet, improved with a building containing fourteen flats and two stores, has been sold by Henry Hogans of Oak Park to George P. Engelhardt for a reported consideration of $50,000, subject to $20,000.

In exchange the purchaser conveyed 190x200 feet in Sycamore place, between the lake and ravine, Highland Park, valued at $15,000, and the vacant 160x200 feet at Asbury and Wilder streets, Evanston, also valued at $15,000. It is planned to improve the Highland Park vacant with an attractive residence in the colonial style of architecture. George H. Nelson of Williams & Nelson and T. P. Elliott were the brokers in the transaction.

Avenue House, Evanston, Sold.

The property at the northeast corner of Davis street and Chicago avenue, Evanston, with a frontage of 170 feet on Davis street and 264 feet on Chicago avenue, improved with a hotel building, has been purchased by B. Edward Powers from William D. Murdock, of Murdock, James & Co., for a reported consideration of $125,000, subject to an incumbrance of $55,000.

The building, which contains about 100 rooms, is known as the Avenue house. A large dwelling is also on the lot. It is stated the purchaser plans extensive improvements in the hotel. W. W. Wilson, of Murdock, James & Co., was the broker.

Tract Brings $2,000 an Acre.

Record was made of the purchase by Francis S. Baker from the estate of Elizabeth Roberts of a tract of twenty acres at the northwest corner of Montrose and Central avenues, the latter formerly Fifty-sixth avenue, for an indicated consideration of $40,000, subject to an incumbrance of $26,000, the sale being at the rate of $2,000 an acre.

Another small acre sale was reported in Highland Park. It comprises a tract of 7.41 acres, east front in Sheridan road, 660 feet south of Roger Williams avenue, which has been purchased by Charles A. Smith from the estate of William Jones, the sale being, it is said, on the basis of a little over $2,500 an acre. The sale was negotiated by Broomell Bros. and Henry K. Coale.

Los Angeles Woman Sells.

Mary A. Healy of Los Angeles, Cal., has sold to John Warwick the property at 5228 Kenwood avenue, lot 25x205 feet, with a 20 foot alley on the south and an 18 foot alley in the rear, with a frame dwelling, for a reported consideration of $5,500. It is stated the purchaser will tear down the dwelling and improve the lot with a high grade three apartment building to cost about $30,000. This will break in on a row of old and attractive frame dwellings on the west side of the street. T. D. O'Hern of C. W. Hoff & Co. was the broker.

The apartment house property in Kenmore avenue, 143 feet south of Montrose boulevard, lot 50x125 feet, east front, has been sold by T. F. O'Donnell to Alma Johnson for an indicated consideration of $21,000, subject to an incumbrance of $13,500.

Bachelor Building Planned.

The old Knutson homestead at 714 North Dearborn avenue is to be torn down to make room for a high grade bachelor apartment building to cost $75,000. The property, which has been in the possession of Mrs. Martha Johnson, formerly Mrs. Knutson, since 1850, has been sold by her to Charles E. Williams. The proposed apartment building will be four stories high. Mrs. Johnson took in exchange the residence belonging to Mr. Williams at 824 Sheridan road. I. S. Lurie of H. O. Stone & Co. was the broker.

The property at the southwest corner of Fullerton and Tripp avenues, lot 42x125 feet, with residence improvements, has been conveyed by C. F. Lauk to Francis A. Bilz for an indicated consideration of $18,000, subject to an incumbrance of $9,000.

SPECIALTIES IN FAVOR.

New York, May 25.—Transfer of speculative interest from investments to specialties assumed well defined proportions today, leading rails extending their declines, while munitions, shipping shares, and miscellaneous stocks made variable gains, only a few of which were retained at the irregular close. Trading was moderately active, but lacked the feverish movements of the early week.

Reading continued to be the target of the short interest, declining to 102⅜ at the opening, rallying to 105½, falling back to 101⅞, and closing at 102⅛, an overnight loss of 1⅝ points. It was again the largest contributor to the day's operations, with an overturn of 116,000 shares. Other rails were relatively dull or heavy, closing with a fair average of quotations under final prices of the previous day.

Bethlehem Is Active.

Bethlehem Steel led the "war brides" in extent of gain, showing more than its usual activity on its advance of 17½ points to 456½. United States Steel gave promise at midday of resuming its former leadership, rising 1½ points to 86½ on numerous individual transactions ranging from 1,000 to more than 5,000 shares.

Crucible and Lackawanna Steels were materially higher at their best, together with some of the minor industrials and locomotives supplemented yesterday's best prices before the reaction of the last hour. Automobile and Can issues were outstanding features during the midsession, General Motors gaining 5 points with 2¼ points for Chandler Motors, which made a new maximum of 105⅞, while Continental Can rose briskly to 104½ on its gain of 6¼ points.

Mercantile Marines Gain.

Mercantile Marines regained some of their recent prominence, the preferred rising 3 points, and United Fruit kept pace with the rise in these issues. United States Industrial Alcohol featured its particular class with a temporary gain of 3½ points, and such stocks as Sears-Roebuck and Woolworth had their momentary periods of strength and activity.

Bonds were steady on a fairly large distribution of trading. United States and Panama bonds were ¼@½ per cent lower on call.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, May 25.—There was a renewal of active liquidation in the market for coffee futures here today. Except for slightly heavier Brazilian receipts, there was no feature in the reports from primary markets that seemed to attract much attention around the ring, and the selling was most generally attributed to realizing by either foreign or domestic longs, on the nearer approach of the new crop movement or a less favorable view of immediate peace prospects. The bulk of the selling came early in the day, however, and after opening at a decline of 10@11 points, with September selling at 8.60c and December at 8.72c, prices steadied on covering. Trading was less active on the rally to 8.64c for September and 8.78c for December, the market closing at a net advance of 2 points on May and June, but generally 7 points net lower. Sales, 54,240 bags. May, 8.40c; June, 8.45c; July, 8.50c; August, 8.56c; September, 8.63c; October, 8.69c; November, 8.73c; December, 8.78c; January, 8.83c; February, 8.88c; March, 8.92c; April, 8.96c. Spot coffee quiet; Rio 7s, 9⅝c; Santos 4s, 10⅝c. No change was reported in the cost and freight situation. The official cables reported a decline of 75 reis at Rio and of 1-16d in the rate of Rio exchange, while the Santos market was unchanged. Brazilian port receipts, 14,000 bags; Jundiahy, 8,000 bags. SUGAR—Raw: Closed firm, with Cubas cost and freight quoted 5¼c, equal to 6.27c for centrifugal and 5.50c for molasses. Refined prices remained unchanged at 7.65@7.75c for fine granulated. Futures: July, 5.25@5.21c, closing 5.25c; September, 5.29@5.24c, closing 5.28c; December, 4.91@4.87c, closing 4.89c.

CHICAGO, May 24. — SUGAR — Following prices were quoted by wholesale dealers per 100 lbs: Cut loaf, H. E., $9.18; powdered, standard, $8.28; standard cane granulated, $7.95; beet granulated, $7.85; extra C, $7.75; canary, $7.35.

Hall Estate Near $160,000.

The estate of the late James T. Hall, valued at approximately $160,000, was filed for probate yesterday. Mr. Hall, a manufacturer of railway supplies, died at his home, 4825 Lake Park avenue, May 18, leaving no will, and the estate was filed by Mrs. Nina Hall Hately of 2649 Lake View avenue, a daughter. The only other relative is another daughter, Mrs. Jessie Hall Boyer of Watertown, N. Y.

BOSTON STOCK QUOTATIONS.

BOSTON, Mass., May 25.—[Special.]—Prices were generally firm on the local board until the last hour today, when failure of Calumet and Hecla directors to increase the quarterly dividend from $15 to $20 broke the price of that issue 20 points. The effect was unsettling on other shares. Old Dominion and Tamarack each ran off a point, but elsewhere declines were confined to fractions. The drive in New York in the last few minutes of trading broke United States Smelting 3⅞ to 73⅜. United Fruit, Nipe Bay, the West Indies issues were strong, the two former gaining a point each, while the latter lost ¾ of its rapid advance of yesterday. Call money ruled at 3 per cent; time loans, short dates, 3@3½ per cent; time loans, six months, 3¼@3½ per cent; time loans, year, 4@4¼ per cent.

People's Life.

C. W. K.—The People's Life Insurance company of Illinois has been in business nearly seven years. It has shown a steady gain in the amount of insurance in force, but is not yet on a paying basis. During 1915 it sold $101,000 of stock and its surplus increased from $1,722 to $124,793. The stock, of $10 par value, is said to have been sold at $30 a share. Evidently the increase in surplus is less than the amount paid to surplus by purchasers of the new stock. Premium receipts were $155,764 in 1915, a gain of about $50,000 over 1914. Total payments to policyholders last year were $49,782 and management expenses were $100,150. Total disbursements were $3,000 less than premium receipts, but the reserve account increased by $57,713, and much of this evidently came from surplus.

Gaston Williams & Wigmore.

J. O. F.—Gaston Williams and Wigmore was organized two years ago to do an international business in trading and transportation. In the year ended Feb. 1 last the company did a gross business of $47,000,000 and made a net profit of $4,848,316. It has outstanding $5,000,000 of 6 per cent notes and 300,000 shares of stock of no par value. Evidently a purchase of shares is a participation in a large commercial venture; not a conservative investment. This stock was brought out last month at $70 a share. the public bought 83,000 shares of the 150,000 delivered to the underwriting syndicate, leaving 67,000 shares on the hands of the underwriters. Some of them evidently threw their stock on the market and it is now selling at $50.

United States Smelting.

E. H. B.—The United States Smelting Refining and Mining company is making phenomenal earnings because of the high prices of copper, lead, silver, and zinc, all of which it produces. The common stock has just been placed on a $4 dividend basis. An official statement issued recently says that earnings in the first three months of this year were $[illegible] a share on the common stock, or at the rate of $23.68 a year. Of course a decline in the price of metals will bring a decrease of earnings. The company has $24,[illegible] of 7 per cent preferred stock and $[illegible]837 of common, the shares being of [illegible] par.

Acme Harvesting Machine.

C. M., Glencoe, Ill.—The Acme Harvesting Machine company has usually earned and paid the 6 per cent dividend on its $500,000 of preferred stock. There is no market for the common at present, shares having been offered for sale in Chicago in the last few months and no buyers found at any price. No complete report has been issued for two years. It is reported unofficially, however, that dividends on the preferred are to be postponed for a time.

Brief Answers.

C. M., Glencoe, Ill.—The American Car and Foundry company's fiscal year ends on April 30. The annual report has not yet appeared. The company has been receiving many orders for cars in the last few months and no doubt the report will make a better showing than that of a year ago, when the 2 per cent dividend on the common stock was not fully earned.

C. K., Milwaukee, Wis.: The Detroit Life Insurance company has been in business since 1910. Its organization expenses were heavy and it has not quite got on a paying basis. It has $[illegible] of capital and on Dec. 31 last the surplus was $23,728, compared with $27,72[illegible] the year before. The death rate has been low. There was $7,199,218 of insurance in force on Dec. 31, being an increase of $1,736,000 during the year.

J. J. W., Anna, Ill.—The interests of preferred stockholders of the American Real Estate company are evidently not identical with those of bondholders. The stockholders should have a separate committee and the two committees should work together as far as possible.

W. R. H.—The Mount Zirkle and the Grand Republic Copper mines have been idle ten years. They are listed as dead.

J. E. W., Madison, O.—The Texas Coast Development company refuses to give official information.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, May 25.—The last news from Verdun and profit taking shaded values generally on the stock exchange today. The tone was still confident, however, and several good features were noticeable. City Service [illegible] points to 263 on rumors of American buying. Argentine rails were strong and shipping shares active and firm, but copper stocks declined with the metal. American securities opened lower, changed hands moderately, and closed dull but steady. Money was in increased demand for investment in exchequer bonds and treasury bills. BUSINESS

The THOMAS AEROPLANE CORPORATION is to be formed to take over (either directly or by ownership of all the issued and outstanding capital stock) the entire business and property of the Thomas Bros. Aeroplane Company, Inc., and the Thomas Aeromotor Company, Inc.

CAPITALIZATION

The capitalization of the Company is to be

	Authorized	Issued
7% Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock, par value $100	$1,000,000	$500,000
Shares Common Stock, without par value	30,000	30,000 shares

We summarize from a letter by William T. Thomas, President of the Thomas Companies:

Preferred stock is to participate share for share with the common stock in any dividends paid in any one year after $10 per share shall have been paid upon the common stock in such year. [illegible] of net earnings after payment of preferred dividends will be set aside annually as a sinking fund to retire the preferred stock at $110 a share.

PRODUCT

The plants of the Thomas Companies are located at Ithaca, New York, and are well situated for testing machines both on land and water. The product of the Thomas Companies comprises all types of aeroplanes, including flying boats and seaplanes. Their standard type Thomas D-2 Military Tractor biplane is equipped with Thomas 135 h.p. Motor which is considered by well-known engineers to be the most compact, efficient and reliable motor of its type made in America. This machine has attained a speed of nearly 100 miles an hour. A large number of these machines have been purchased by one of the foreign governments and they have given satisfactory service. Thomas aeroplanes have also been sold to the United States Government and to the National Guard of various states. These Companies are now engaged upon an order from the United States Government and are negotiating for large orders from foreign governments.

EARNINGS

It is estimated that on the basis of an annual production of 100 Aeroplanes and 200 Motors there will be a balance (amounting to more than $12 a share on common stock) applicable to dividends upon common stock with participation as stated for preferred stock.

MANAGEMENT

The new Company will obtain the services of Mr. B. D. Thomas, who as chief designer of aeroplanes for Mr. Curtiss designed the America Type of machine and the so-called J. N. Military Tractor, many of which have been sold to foreign governments, and the services of Messrs. G. H. [illegible] and H. N. Bliss, the designers of the Sturtevant motor and the present Thomas motor.

Copies of letters from the greatest authorities on aeroplanes in the United States endorsing the Thomas Aeroplane and Motor may be seen at our office.

We offer this preferred stock if, as and when issued, subject to prior sale, at

ATCHISON MAKES LARGE GAINS IN APRIL EARNINGS

Statement for Month Is Better than Ten Months' Average; Leads Western Roads.

The Atchison statement for April was better than the average for the ten months of the fiscal year. The gain in gross of $1,414,080 was 14.6 per cent ahead of April last year, while the increase in net was 19½ per cent. The operating income after taxes made a relatively better exhibit, with a gain of 20.1 per cent. The April operating charge was 65.82 per cent. This was slightly higher than the ten months' average, which was 64.52 per cent.

For ten months the gain in gross was over $11,748,000, or 11.9 per cent. Net in the same period increased 17.6 per cent, and operating income increased 18.1 per cent. In a way, Atchison has led the western roads in consistent improvement. Net earnings for the fiscal year to end June 30 are expected to be around 18 per cent on the common stock.

English Selling Slows Up.

In New York the improvement in the bond market in the last two weeks is credited to the decline in the supply of bonds to this market from abroad. It is held that practically all of the large blocks of railroad bonds placed in England already have come back here under the British government's mobilization plan. The bonds so distributed have been largely absorbed by American investors.

It is thought that what will come back from now on will be principally in small lots, and these are not easily gathered up from investors' boxes. The large British financial institutions and the insurance companies turned over on request American holdings to the government, but individuals have not been so easily reached.

It is thought the total bonds now in the hands of the Bank of England and the bank's fiscal agent in this country, available to maintain the parity of exchange, is not far from $200,000,000. The total of $30,000,000 recently listed as being in this country and still unsold was part of the total mentioned. There is reason to believe that absorption is now going on faster than the bonds are being accumulated by the Bank of England.

June Maturities Expand.

Bond and note issues of the leading railroad and industrial corporations maturing in June, according to the New York Journal of Commerce, aggregate $85,374,000. This is the largest amount maturing in any month this year. Railroad bonds contribute $22,329,000; railroad notes, $45,133,000; industrial bonds, $475,000, and industrial notes, $17,437,000. In May, 1915, the maturities were $71,816,000, and in June, 1915, they amounted to $107,439,100.

United Fuel Gas Earnings.

The United Fuel Gas company is making a good exhibit in the matter of earnings. The gain in gross for January was 12 per cent; February, 40.9 per cent; March, 31.6 per cent, and April, 44.7 per cent. The net earnings in April increased 83 per cent.

Like some other companies having gasoline earnings, the Fuel company is enjoying large gains therefrom. Its production of gasoline is at the rate of two gallons for every 10,000 cubic feet of natural gas. A comparison of the results for the four months' period, Jan. 1 to April 30, follows:

Gross earnings	$1,660,401	$1,287,099	29.0
Oper. expenses, tax.	555,983	559,522	*0.6
Net earnings	1,104,418	727,577	51.7
Interest charges	143,054	145,997	*2.0
Surplus	961,373	581,580	65.3

*Decrease.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe.

Earnings of the United States Cast Iron Pipe company are said to be running at a rate three times as great as in 1915. Cast iron pipe is around $33 a ton, compared with $18 a year ago.

A good many municipalities and gas and water companies have been withholding their purchases because of the prevailing high prices, but the cast iron pipe interests are of the opinion that these purchases cannot be delayed much longer.

Earnings of Electric Railways.

Generally considered, operating revenues and net earnings on electric railways for January and February show substantial increases as compared with the same months in 1915, except in the states west of the Mississippi river. Compilations have been made by the American Electric Railway association.

Returns for January, "representing 7,328 miles of line in all sections of the country, made an increase in operating revenue of 5.57 per cent; in operating expenses, 4.09 per cent, and in net operating revenue 8.10 per cent. Returns representing 5,495 miles indicate an increase in taxes of 1.65 per cent, and in operating income of 12 per cent.

"Similar returns for February," the report continues "representing 4,710 miles of line, show an increase in operating revenue of 9.07 per cent, in operating expenses of 7.55 per cent, and in net operating revenue of 11.44 per cent. Returns for some 69 per cent of this mileage indicate an apparent decrease in taxes of 1.28 per cent and an increase in operating income of 12.31 per cent. It must be borne in mind in this connection that data from the western district does not indicate any participation even in this slight measure of prosperity.

Statistics for Three Groups.

"Of three groups, the western, represented by 1,588 miles of line, shows a decrease of 2.35 per cent in operating revenues, an increase of 2.29 in operating expenses, and a 10.50 per cent decrease in net operating revenue. Data for 1,424 miles of line in this group show a 12.20 per cent decrease in operating income—this in spite of an apparent decrease in taxes paid of 2.43 per cent.

"The southern group, represented by 82 miles of line, indicates a continued reduction in operating expenses and, though taxes went up some 3 per cent, a gain in operating income of 15 per cent.

"The eastern group, represented by 4,016 miles of line, has gained 7.85 per cent in operating revenues, 5.04 per cent in operating expenses, and 12.57 per cent in net operating revenue.

"All of the districts except the western show a decrease in the operating ratio, the United States as a whole indicating a decrease from 62.97 in January, 1915, to 62.08 in January, 1916. The operating ratio in the western district has increased from 63.75 in 1915 to 66.78 in 1916."

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

On the basis of ten months' earnings, it is estimated that the Southern Pacific will show a surplus of about 11 per cent on the stock in the fiscal year to end June 30. This will compare with 7.2 per cent in 1915 and 7.5 per cent in 1914. Gross earnings for the ten months ended April 30 were $126,246,215, a gain of $18,986,436 over the corresponding period last year. Net earnings for the ten months were $9,836,106 greater than the previous year.

Wall street reports the steel market dull with buyers less eager to cover their requirements. In view of the fact that the country is now turning out about 40,000,000 tons of steel annually, or 10,000,000 tons above the rate in previous years, many consumers are inclined to the belief that there will be sufficient steel to meet their demands.

The strength of Bethlehem Steel common is attributed to the discounting of new war business. A short time ago the corporation secured a shell order amounting to $25,000,000. Recently it sold $8,000,000 of raw steel for shipment abroad. Net earnings for the five months to end May 31 are estimated at $25,000,000.

The New York office of the Empire Gas and Oil company, the Oklahoma and Kansas oil and natural gas subsidiary of the Cities Service company, has been advised that well No. 6 on the Varner lease at Augusta, Kan., came in Wednesday with an estimated production of between 20,000 and 30,000 barrels daily.

Aside from a slightly better foreign demand, chiefly from France and Italy, the aspect of the copper market is reported unchanged. Business is quiet, although producers report a fair volume of sales booked from day to day. Strength of the market is declared unimpaired and prices firmly maintained.

Some eastern observers of the market thought there was a good distribution of stocks yesterday. They noted a great deal of Reading and Union Pacific being sold and thought United States Steel common was bid up to help the selling movement.

Europe is reported to be in the market for about 500,000 large shells, ranging from 6 to 12 inches. The Bethlehem Steel corporation and the Midvale Steel corporation are the two concerns having facilities for making large shells.

It is estimated that the monthly statement of the unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation for May will show an increase of about 200,000 tons, compared with 500,000 in April, and 650,000 tons in March.

Stockholders of the Standard Oil company of Ohio authorized a $3,500,000, or 100 per cent, stock dividend. Action was also taken to increase the capitalization of the company from $3,500,000 to $7,000,000.

The Erie railroad has petitioned the public service commission of New York for authority to issue $2,380,000 general lien bonds under its first consolidated mortgage deed, dated Dec. 10, 1895.

The Utah Securities company reports to the New York stock exchange for the year ended March 31 net earnings of $1,894,333 and a balance after interest and discount of $864,380.

Shipments of cars by the Saxon Motor company for the first four months of the calendar year were 9,706, compared with 4,829 cars in the corresponding period last year.

The Baltimore Gas and Electric company reports April gross revenues of $622,430, an increase of $82,661. The net revenue was $296,884, an increase of $59,785.

At the annual meeting of the Standard Oil company of New York the retiring directors were reëlected.

The price of gasoline has been reduced 2c a gallon in Oklahoma, to 23c, tank wagon basis.

Two Freed of Auto Deaths.

Two men who were driving automobiles that killed two children were freed by coroner's juries yesterday. They were Calvin Brown of 1526 West Madison street, whose car killed Paul Pegram of 524 East Forty-fourth street, and J. D. Thompson of 5605 Greenwood avenue, who was driving a car that killed Robert Kiesling of 5838 Emerald avenue.

HOW WILL YOUR ESTATE BE MANAGED?

YOU are, it is assumed, a conservative man. You manage your financial affairs carefully; investigate values, take no undue risks. If you should pass away this year or next, or in ten years from now, would your heirs manage as well? Would they have the investing experience? Would any individual trustee whom you could name?

You could never be sure of it. But you can be sure of competent, responsible, unfailing service for your estate by naming this company executor and trustee.

Consultation with our officers is cordially invited, personally or through your attorney.

HUPP MOTOR STOCK
$10,000 Grows to $1,600,000

This company within seven years, by reason of stock dividends, increased their capital to $1,000,000, and during same time paid cash dividends amounting to $1,159,375, and their business is still growing at the rate of 50% per year. 1916 will be between $16,000,000 and $18,000,000, while at present market the entire common stock issue represents only a value of $4,750,000.

We Offer Hupp Motor Common
Price Per Share $10 Net. (Par Value $10)

Earnings this year should be about 25% on present selling price.

It is expected these shares will soon be listed on New York Curb.

We believe buyers will make large and quick profits by advance in prices.

Clients who have followed our advice on MOTOR SHARES have made tremendous profits.

Our previous recommendations:—Two years ago Saxon, at $150, since sold at $1,800. Eight months ago Chalmers at $90, now $160. Two months ago Grant Preferred and Common (subscription) at $105, now $125.

Investing With an Eye On the Melon Patch

Many corporations have adopted the policy of quietly allowing surplus profits to accumulate, or else put them back into the business, to the enhancement of investment values. Thus a melon patch is cultivated for the enjoyment of stockholders.

From time to time the accumulated profits are distributed in the shape of extra dividends. Or the added values are capitalized in new stock, which is divided among the shareholders in proportion to their holdings.

Right now there are several big corporations which will shortly distribute stock dividends of from 50% to 300% to their stockholders.

A pamphlet on the subject of stock bonuses and subscription rights will be sent free to those requesting it, together with circular naming the corporations that are about to pay stock dividends. Ask for 17-CT, including booklet explaining

"The Twenty Payment Plan."

WHEAT RECEDES FROM TOP MARK; CLOSE IS HIGHER

Corn Is Under Much Pressure and Shows Sharp Loss for the Day—Oats Quiet.

Wheat displayed a firm undertone yesterday and, while best prices for the day were not maintained, closing figures showed advances of ⅝c over previous resting spots. Continued bullish crop advices from the southwest formed the basis for a strong market, and there was local buying of an influential sort.

Reports from Oklahoma and from those portions of Kansas where hot and dry weather is burning up the wheat were more alarming. The local experts investigating conditions there say estimates on production will have to be materially reduced. Free selling by longs was a late feature and this carried prices off about a cent from the high points.

Sales of 1,000,000 bu durum wheat were reported made to the Greek government, while export sales in addition to this were 250,000 bu. Cash wheat here was rather unsettled, although firm for the choice grades of both winter and spring wheat. Shipping sales here were 15,000 bu. Local millers were taking a little more wheat, but report no improvement in flour trade. Sales of 50,000 bu were made to go to store.

Liverpool Spot Prices Weaker.

Liverpool spot wheat was unchanged to 1d lower, weakness being in the No. 1 Manitoba, which is pressed for sale. Broomhall says there is no apprehension in Liverpool over the fact that the continent is absorbing Argentine wheat freely at firm prices, as that demand is being satisfied and it leaves the Canadian grain for the United Kingdom. Shipments from Argentina this week are estimated at 2,000,000 bu, against 4,015,000 bu a year ago.

Crop advices from the spring wheat territory were favorable, weather conditions being ideal. Country offerings are still liberal, and primary markets received 853,000 bu, against 750,000 bu a year ago. Northwest receipts were 235 cars, against 273 a year ago, while Winnipeg had 1,299 cars for two days, against 345 last year. Kansas City, St. Louis, and Omaha together received 237 cars, with 140 a year ago. Local cars were 98. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour were 1,038,000 bu. Wheat stocks at Minneapolis increased 90,000 bu for five days.

Corn Shows Sharp Decline.

Pronounced weakness prevailed in the corn market and losses of 1⅛@2⅜c were shown. May delivery was weaker, selling of the current month being influenced by action of the directors to provide additional storage room in public houses, the move indicating heavier deliveries on contracts. Weather conditions were fine, although there were some complaints from sections where the corn has not yet been fully seeded. Local bears pounded the market and much long corn was dislodged.

Argentine shipments this week are estimated at 1,125,000 bushels, against 1,735,000 bushels exported a year ago. Liverpool spot corn was ½d higher. Cash corn here was ½@2c lower, with shipping sales 105,000 bushels. Receipts were 131 cars. Primary markets received 444,000 bushels, against 381,000 bushels a year ago.

Late Reaction in Oats.

Oats showed early firmness, but reacted and closed ⅛c lower for May and ⅛c lower to a fraction higher for the deferred months. Alarming reports from Oklahoma, some claiming a total crop failure as a result of dry weather and insects, encouraged some commission house buying, but advices from the more important oats territory were favorable. Cash oats were ½@1c lower, with shipping sales 180,000 bushels.

Winnipeg reported a good cash and eastern demand, and May oats there were up 1⅛c. Seaboard clearances were 460,000 bushels. Exports of American oats are going chiefly to France and Italy. Primary receipts were 1,029,000 bushels, against 371,000 bushels a year ago. Local cars were 371.

Hog Product Is Lower.

Hog product closed lower, affected by the decline in prices at the yards and considerable pressure from packers, who are active in their campaign to lower hog prices. Short buying furnished the principal support. Prices for lard at Liverpool were again lower, and it appears that the big stocks have been transferred from here to there. A big part of recent shipments abroad have been in the way of consigning.

Local meat shipments yesterday were 2,427,000 lbs, compared with 2,135,000 lbs a year ago, while lard shipments were 844,000 lbs, against 770,000 lbs last year. Hog receipts at western markets totaled 78,600 head against 79,900 a year ago.

Rye Market Steady.

Rye was steady. No. 2 was 98c bid and sample grade sold 87c. Receipts were 2 cars.

Barley ruled steady. Malting was quoted 70@79c and sold over the same range; feed was quotable 57½@68c, with sales at 57½@63c; mixing was quoted 66@70c, and screenings, 45@58c, latter selling at 48@58c. Receipts, 33 cars.

Timothy seed held steady with September quoted, $8.00, and cash lots $5.50@8.50. Cloverseed was unchanged; cash lots, $8.00@14.00.

Duluth flaxseed closed ½@1⅜c higher. Cash on track, $1.87½; May and July, $1.88½, and September, $1.85. Receipts, 1 car; Minneapolis was 1½c higher, with cash on track, $1.86¼@1.90½; receipts were 12 cars. Winnipeg closed 2@2⅜c higher. May, $1.63⅝; July, $1.65½, and October, $1.60. Receipts, 29 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE

George M. Le Cout wired from Cherokee, Okla.: "Oklahoma wheat has been greatly reduced since I was here last, drought and green bugs principal cause. Grant, Garfield, Kay, and Noble counties are the worst. They have a large acreage and there won't be over half a crop if rains come at once. There is no moisture in the soil and some of the wheat is now a total failure and a large part of the acreage is thin, spindly, and short. Yield will be light even with rain at once. This alfalfa country is a heavy wheat territory and is somewhat better than farther east, but yield will be light if rain is delayed much longer. There has been no good rain here this spring, but still there is much wheat here that will make 12 bu per acre without more rain. The wheat is good. I think that 2,000,000 acres of Oklahoma wheat still standing will make 8 bu per acre if we don't get hot winds. Weather terribly hot and unfavorable. Pastures are drying up and most wheat fields are fired around the edge and fired spots show up in many fields. Green bugs have completely ruined the oats."

Six hundred thousand bushels of grain in private elevator Calumet C were made regular for delivery on contracts by the board of trade directors yesterday. Today the directors will meet at 10 o'clock and make regular for delivery 400,000 bu of grain in the Rialto elevator and 600,000 bu in the Keystone. This will add 1,500,000 bu of grain to local contract stocks. It had been the intention to declare all of this grain regular yesterday, but certain formalities required by the public utilities commission delayed action on the Rialto and Keystone elevators. No action was taken in regard to grain in cars on track for the reason that there is already a rule on the books which provides that grain in cars within the switching district is deliverable on contracts. All that is necessary is for the owner to secure a bill of consignment to a public elevator. This bill of lading is as good as an elevator receipt and serves the same purpose.

Cash wheat premiums here were slightly higher, but the demand showed no improvement. Sales were reported at only 15,000 bu. The seaboard reported sales of 1,250,000 bu macaroni, or durum, wheat sold to the Greek government. Galveston reported bidding for gulf wheat stronger and for larger quantities. Minneapolis said there was a fair demand for good milling wheat, while low grades were dull. Prices there were unchanged. The corn trade here was slow, with prices closing ½@2c a bushel lower. Sales were 105,000 bu. Baltimore wired the market there was a full of consigned corn and that the foreign demand had flattened out. Oats were ½@1c a bushel lower, with sales of 180,000 bu.

The French official crop report said: "Winter wheat excellent and indications point to a yield above the average." An Australian cable said: "Weather continues dry and this causes firmness among holders." Broomhall reported United Kingdom wheat and flour stocks were 17,664,000 bu, against 12,776,000 bu a year ago. Argentine cables summarized: "Weather fine. Freights strong and tonnage limited. Latter mostly for continent."

The flour output of Minneapolis mills decreased 51,375 brls last week to a total of 278,760 brls, against 328,079 a year ago. Not much change in output is expected this week. The trade is dull with Minneapolis and northwestern mills. A decline of 25@30c a barrel proved only a slight inducement to buyers. Some small lots of first and second clear flours have been sold for export, but it is impossible to work patents.

No. 2 yellow corn sold in the sample market here at 71@73¾c, as compared with 74@75¼c Wednesday, a drop of 1¾@3c a bushel. Corn for May delivery closed 2¾c lower for the day. The action of the directors in furnishing additional "regular" storage room for grain to be delivered on May contracts was an influential factor in causing this decline.

B. W. Snow said: "My advices from the northwest indicate that the spring wheat crop is starting in good shape. The abundance of moisture, coupled with present satisfactory temperatures, is likely to give a high June 1 average for spring wheat condition, as the data for the government report are now being gathered."

The Illinois corn crop is said to be progressing splendidly. Decatur said local rains and warm weather had placed the crop in excellent condition. Oats in that vicinity are said to have the best prospects in years. A Danville, Ill., man said he planted corn Monday and that it was already showing so that he could see the rows.

It was rumored that the additional storage space furnished through the action of the directorate would be used for Kansas City wheat and corn, which is coming here to be delivered on May contracts.

Receipts inspected today: Wheat, 98 cars; corn, 131 cars; oats, 371 cars; rye, 2 cars; barley, 33 cars. Hogs estimated for today, 15,000 head.

Deliveries on May contracts were: Wheat, 161,000 bu; corn, 86,000 bu; oats, 60,000 bu; pork, 1,250 brls, and lard 2,650,000 lbs.

Hog receipts at Chicago yesterday were only 16,000 head, against 21,000 expected, but there were 11,400 head left over from Wednesday and market opened on a weak basis. Most of the sales were at a decline of 10@15c from Wednesday's level, with the bulk at $9.75@9.95. A few lots of prime hogs sold up to $10.05@10.10, but they were outside prices. Shipping demand continued sluggish and 9,000 hogs were again carried over unsold.

Cattle trade was quiet, but firm. There were a few loads of desirable steers included in general receipts of 4,000 head, and they were sold on a steady basis. Distillery fed steers made a new high record at $10.65. Cows and heifers were dull and slightly lower, while sales of calves were made at a decline of 25@50c.

Sheep and lambs were unchanged to strong on receipts of 9,000 head. Trade was quiet, but there was sufficient demand to take care of the offerings. Shorn ewes sold at $8.25 and shorn western lambs at $11.00.

U.S. EXPORT TRADE FOR YEAR MAY REACH $5,000,000,000.

Washington, D. C., May 25.—The export trade of the United States promises to reach nearly $5,000,000,000 by the end of the fiscal year, June 30. Statistics announced today by the department of commerce place exports for the ten months ending with April at $2,401,000,000. That is $1,175,000,000 more than sent abroad in the same period last year.

The trade balance in favor of the United States may reach $2,000,000,000 by the end of the year, the balance for the ten months being $1,679,000,000, or almost double what it was last year.

The Pacific Mines Corporation has acquired the former holdings of the Bagdad Chase Gold Mining Co. and the Roosevelt Mining Co., which are located about nine miles south of Ludlow Station on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad in San Bernardino County, California.

Transportation to Ludlow is furnished by the Ludlow & Southern Railroad Co., A line built and owned by the Pacific Mines Corporation.

The properties, from which over $3,000,000 has been produced to date, consist of 15 patented mining claims and several fractions, and other claims under location, comprising more than 300 acres of patented land besides the unpatented locations.

The property is completely equipped with hoists, compressors and all necessary equipment for mining.

The directors of the company, all of whom represent a large stock ownership, are most of them men of large experience in the management of successful mining companies.

The directorate is made up as follows:

HON. DAVID I. WALSH, ex-Gov. Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor, City of Boston.
COL. SIR HENRY MILL PELLATT, C. V. O., Pellatt & Pellatt, Bankers, Toronto;
President of the Toronto Electric Light Co.;
Director of the Toronto St. Ry. Co.;
Vice Pres., Dominion Iron and Steel Co.
DONALD C. MACDONALD, Publisher Boston Financial News.
J. N. BECKLEY, Rochester, N. Y., Vice Pres., Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo R. R. Co.
JOSIAH ANSTICE, Rochester, N. Y., Asst. Secy. and Treas.
JOHN H. HOBBS, 120 Broadway, N. Y., Secy. and Treas., Mining Operator.

The ores, which are highly siliceous and contain values in gold, silver and copper, are much in demand for fluxing purposes in the smelters of the Southwest.

Shipments which are made under contract to the United Verde Smelter at Clarkdale, Arizona, show net smelter returns covering a four-year period of $6.86 per ton, after deducting freight and treatment charges. Cost of mining and general expense has been $2.37 per ton, leaving a net profit of $4.49 per ton.

The property is developed with three shafts and connected workings opening the vein for a length of 1500 feet and to a depth of 300 feet vertically.

This development has blocked out more than 100,000 tons of ore, with values running in excess of $10 per ton; while the lower grades of ore to the amount of more than 200,000 tons have been exposed. These lower grades, with an indicated value of $5 and upward per ton, will be treated in a mill soon to be built, thus adding largely to the company's earnings.

Shipments at present amount to 100 tons a day under contract, but upon the completion of a new unit of the smelter, which will shortly be finished, shipments will be increased to 200 tons a day with a corresponding increase in earnings.

On the present output the company is earning 25 per cent., and has done so during the past two years of operations.

THE NEXT DIVIDEND WILL BE PAID DURING THE MONTH OF JULY

Mr. Frank W. Royer, mining engineer, who is well known for his connection with many large enterprises in Mexico and the United States and for his professional association with Mr. John Hays Hammond, has examined and reported on the property, and will have active charge of its operation.

IMPORTANT NOTE

After a thorough investigation of this company, its properties and its management, we unqualifiedly recommend the purchase of the shares as an absolutely safe mining investment. It is an opportunity for association with able and experienced mining interests in an operating and dividend-paying company with exceptional speculative possibilities.

BEAR IN MIND—THE PRESENT SHOWING IS BEING MADE ON DEVELOPMENT TO A DEPTH OF BUT 300 FEET—ITS GREATEST VALUES MUST BE BELOW THIS LEVEL.

Complete Prospectus Furnished on Application.

WE will pay 85 flat for the first mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the South Dakota Central Railway on or before May 29th, provided the holders of such bonds have not assented to the reorganization plan.

LEGAL NOTICES.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO CHANGE RATES.

To Patrons of Commonwealth Edison Company:

The Commonwealth Edison Company hereby gives notice to the public that it has filed with the State Public Utilities Commission of Illinois an application for permission to amend its Schedule of Rates for supplying electricity in the City of Chicago, Cook County, Illinois, in the following particulars:

(1) Under Rates "A" and "B," by reducing the primary rate for electricity used equivalent to or less than the first 30 hours use per month of the customer's maximum demand in any month from 11 cents, gross [10 cents, net], to 10 cents, gross [9 cents, net], per kilowatt-hour; and, under Rate "A," by providing that the monthly bill shall be less than 50 cents.

(2) Under Rate "C," Alternating Current, Low Tension, by reducing the demand charge [monthly basis] for the first 50 kilowatts of the customer's maximum demand in any month from $2.40 per kilowatt to $2.00 per kilowatt; by reducing the energy charge for the first 1,000 kilowatt-hours of the customer's consumption in any month from 5 cents per kilowatt-hour to 3 cents per kilowatt-hour, subject to the usual discount for prompt payment of bills; and by making the minimum demand charge [monthly basis] $50 per month [being $2.00 per kilowatt, reckoned upon 25 kilowatts].

(3) Under Rate "O," Direct Current, by reducing the demand charge [monthly basis] for the first 50 kilowatts of the customer's maximum demand in any month from $2.60 per kilowatt to $2.20 per kilowatt; by reducing the energy charge for the first 1,000 kilowatt-hours of the customer's consumption in any month from 5 cents per kilowatt-hour to 3 cents per kilowatt-hour, subject to the usual discount for prompt payment of bills; and by making the minimum demand charge [monthly basis] per month [being $2.20 per kilowatt, reckoned upon 25 kilowatts].

All parties interested in this proceeding may obtain information as to time and place of hearing upon this application by addressing the Secretary of the State Public Utilities Commission at Springfield, Illinois.
